Shriver selected for Demos' ticket

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George S. McGovern chose R. Sargent Shriver, the Kennedy in-law who served three Pres-

dents but never ran for office, to be his new running mate Saturday night for a "choice of the century" campaign against President Nixon. McGovern announced his surprise selection on nationwide radio and television from the Capitol several hours after Sen.

Later, Shriver was first director of the antipoverty Office of Equal Opportunity in the Johnson administration, and became U.S. ambassador to France for Nixon. He was years ago to help elect Democratic candidates for the House and has since conducted a private law practice.

He said the ensuing shock wave hit the earth's atmosphere "violently disrupting the planet's magnetic field."

The magnetic storms, began following the first major sun flare last Wednesday and additional flares Thursday. The huge flare Friday caused intensified storm intensities that reached earth at 11 a.m.

The storms were among the most intense ever observed by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA). Possible power losses

Paul Linger of the Denver Zoo, said the disruption of the earth's magnetic field by the storms would disorient pigeons who depend on the field for their sense of direction.

Ralph Segman, information officer for the NOAA, said the solar flare which erupted Friday and caused the magnetic storms was the result of an explosion of gases on the surface of the sun.

Segman said scientists theorized that pigeons "will get lost" during the duration of the magnetic storms, expected to end sometime Monday.

McGovern said Shriver, a brother-in-law of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, had led a public and private life "marked by a special dedication to the needs of the poor and to those who are victims of racial injustice."

Nixon's economic policy assailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic presidential candidate George S. McGovern charged Saturday that President Nixon's economic policies have thrown family. In what was billed as a campaign white paper, the South Dakota senator said:

"The Nixon record is one of giveaways to the big corporations and take-aways from the average taxpayer."

By the end of Nixon's term, the average family of four will have lost about $3,000 in potential income, thanks to the stagnant Nixon economy. Nixon has thrown almost 5 million Americans out of work and increased the tax burden on the average taxpayer family.

McGovern, who is expected to make the economy one of his major campaign issues, declared the President's policies have turned out to be "a calamity for every man and woman in America except those with special access to the White House."

The Democratic nominee sharply questioned administration antitrust policies including approval of a merger of two major drug firms, Warner-Lambert and Parke-Davis, by Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst.

Pocatello boy dies in Blaine

STANLEY — A 14-year-old Pocatello boy was killed Saturday afternoon when his motorcycle and one driven by a friend collided about 35 miles south of Stanley.

Name of the victim was being withheld by officials pending notification of the family.

A Blaine County deputy sheriff said the accident occurred about 12:40 p.m. on Tiger Tail Drive, a dirt road in the Smiley Creek subdivision.

The deputy said the victim was riding on a motorcycle west bound on the drive when he collided with a companion motorcycleist who was traveling east.

The victim was taken by private vehicle to the Stanley Medical Center where he was pronounced dead at 1:10 p.m.

Attending physicians listed head, neck and chest injuries as the cause of death.

The companion, a 16-year-old Pocatello youth, was not injured. Officials said the body would be taken to Pocatello for funeral arrangements.

Officers said no citations have been issued at this time. The victim's family was reportedly somewhere in California.

Idaho Demos endorse Shriver's selection

BOISE (UPI) — After what seemed to be a week-long game of musical running mates, Idaho's Democratic leaders Saturday pledged full support to Sen. George McGovern's reconstituted presidential ticket.

"I'm pleased that Sen. McGovern chose Sargent Shriver and that he chose a man who is known to the American public," Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said in Casaca.

Asked if he thought Idaho Democrats would support the new ticket, the governor said, "They'll look upon it as a great deal more favorably than the Nixon administration."

"I have felt for some time that Sargent Shriver would give the ticket the new dimension it needs," Democratic national committeeman James Donart said in Ketchikan.

Donart said he would have been "very pleased" if Sen. Frank Church had been chosen, "but it was his choice to remain in the United States Senate."

Donart and Democratic national committeewoman Carolyn Selander, Boise, will fly to Washington, D.C., Monday to attend meetings on the vice presidential matter with other national committee members.

Mrs. Selander said she was "upset" by the method of selection, but not with the choice itself.

State Democratic Chairman Joe McCarter, Corral, said he has always been impressed with Shriver and his "close connection" with the Kennedy family.

"And he's also done a great job with the Peace Corps," McCarter added.

"I preferred [Sen. Edmund] Muskie, but I guess Shriver will have to do. I think he will probably be as much help as any of the lesser known men," he said.

McCarter said perhaps Shriver should have been chosen first over Sen. Thomas Eagleton because of his widespread publicity, but added the present presidential ticket is "at least as attractive if not more so than the McGovern-Eagleton team."

War zone?

IT ONLY LOOKS like a war zone but it's really the intersection of Fourth Avenue and Shoshone Street in Twin Falls, midway in the four-block improvement project. Old paving has been piled to be hauled away as new grading is being cut for surfacing, curbs and sidewalks. The project extends from Second Avenue North to Sixth Avenue North and is one of several included in a $500,000 local improvement district.

5,000 sign TF books

TWIN FALLS — Employees of the Twin Falls county clerk's office were burning midnight oil Saturday.

They will do the same tonight. Clerk Harold Lancaster said nearly 5,000 persons had registered at his office since last Friday when registration records were transferred from precinct registrars to his office.

These must be transferred to card files and to the poll books before Monday so they can be delivered to the county's 48 precincts Monday for the start of voting Tuesday at 8 a.m.

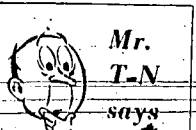

Lancaster said his crews worked until 9 p.m. Saturday accepting registrations as time provided by state law, and then began an all-night effort of posting the registrations to the pollbooks. This, he said, would probably continue through Sunday and most of Sunday night. Monday the poll books and other election material will be delivered to the 48 precincts in the county.

Friday night Lancaster conducted a training session for election workers to review voting machine operation and other matters.

Because of the changing election laws, he said, election officials will have numerous new procedures for the workers, including re-registering at the polls.

Lancaster said the present election law in Idaho is "ridiculous" and leaves the counties in a bind at election time because of the late registration deadline. It is also costly and in many counties forces the counties to overdraw election budgets planned before the law was passed.

Don't know which is longer — pro football season or the election campaign.

Huge turnout seen for Idaho primary election

By RICHARD CHARNOCK

BOISE (UPI) — Between 140,000 and 165,000 voters are expected to cast ballots in Idaho's 851 precincts Tuesday at a primary election where youth could make a big difference.

Deputy Secretary of State Dryden Hiller offered the lower prediction, saying he doubted more than 140,000 to 145,000 would vote — just under the 140,000 ballots cast in the gubernatorial primary two years ago.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, and State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon — both anticipating a heavy turnout by the state's newly-enfranchised 18,19 and 20-year-olds — predicted a record 165,000 ballots.

If Andrus and Miss Moon are correct in their forecast the turnout will be a record one. To date, the biggest primary election vote was cast in the hotly-contested gubernatorial races of 1960 when 157,718 trooped to the polls.

Traditionally, primaries in non-gubernatorial years such as this one attract fewer voters than those when the stakes include all elective offices in the statehouse. In 1968, only 130,187 cast ballots.

At stake Tuesday will be party nominations for one U.S. Senate seat, two seats in Congress, all 40 legislative seats and a number of county offices. Voters also will elect two supreme court justices.

Despite months of campaigning by large fields of candidates for the Senate and for one Congressional nomination, personalities rather than issues appeared to dominate the scene as the campaign closed.

Voters indicated they still prefer personal contact although candidates this year ran across a higher percentage of disgruntled electors ready to bad mouth any politician seeking their support.

Whereas they were likely to find one in 50 spurning their preferred hands with terse commentary in the past, many reported the number this year was close to one in 10.

Some said those rejecting their literature and handshakes offered such nasty comments as "You're all a bunch of crooks" or "you come around now but after election we never see you again." Legislative as well as senatorial and congressional candidates reported such reaction.

For the U.S. Senate nominations — there are four contenders in each major party. Republican hopefuls include Congressman James A. McClure, Payette; former Congressman George V. Hansen, Pocatello; former Gov. Robert E. Smylie, Boise, and Dr. Glen Wegner, Kendrick.

On the Democratic ticket are Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park, Boise; Dr. William E. (Bud) Davis, Pocatello; Byron Johnson, Boise, and Rose Bowman, Boise.

Three seek the GOP nomination for Congress from the First District: State Sen. Wayne Kidwell, Boise; Steve Symms, Synnyslope, and Robert Purcell, Lewiston. Ed Williams, Meridian, has no ballot opposition for the Democratic nomination.

Congressman Orval Hansen, Idaho Falls, is unopposed for the GOP nomination for a third term from the Second District. Willis Ludlow, Pocatello, is running alone on the ballot for the Democratic nomination.

Only one in three of the legislative races is contested. And incumbent supreme court Justice Henry McQuade and Joseph McFadden have no opponents for re-election on the non-partisan ballot.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Idaho senators come cheap, says Bowman

TWIN FALLS — Rose Bowman said Saturday recent campaign charges revolving around campaign funding prove "perhaps its cheaper to buy a senator in Idaho than in other places."

Bowman is a Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate. Two Republican candidates for the Senate, Dr. Glen Wagner and Rep. James A. McClure, have come under attack in recent days for being funded by "voted interests."

Bowman, who announced her candidacy last winter vowing not to accept contributions of more than $25 from any source, said in Twin Falls voters in the state were beginning to realize the importance of financial independence, and claimed a "victory for my campaign" on that score.

But, she said, if she won the nomination to run in November, she would be "realistic enough" to seek other campaign contributions. She suggested maintaining her own campaign as a source of fund, but would perhaps add money funneled through the state Democratic party to aid her in a general election bid.

"In the beginning, people were saying 'What is she saying with the money contributions,'" Bowman said, "but the ITT scandal was the first inkling that I had a tiger by the tail."

She also said the recent charges have brought a primary campaign issue before the public eye once again.

Bowman, whose candidacy was lightly regarded when she made her formal announcement, said she never considered withdrawing from the race in favor of another Democrat.

"From the beginning my supporters and I argued whether it should be an issue campaign or we should run to win. I don't feel like a martyr," she said.

But, she said, "I will support whoever the nominee is. I am a Democrat."

The candidate also attacked the present Social Security system, saying it did not care adequately for the elderly in the country.

"It's incredible to think we're going to cut off the ones who have worked so hard," she said.

"I think my plan for a guaranteed income would help the old as much as any other group."

But, she said, "I will support whoever the nominee is. I am a Democrat."

Smylie attacks medical plan

TWIN FALLS — Republican senatorial candidate Robert E. Smylie said in Twin Falls Saturday the federalized medical delivery programs proposed this far would "bankrupt us."

The former three-term governor, making a final campaign swing through the Magic Valley Friday also said none of the present proposals "concentrates on the area of greatest need."

"Most existing federal programs directed toward health services delivery return only about 33 cents of each dollar collected in taxes to the actual business of medical care," Smylie said. "The means that the cost of national medical delivery programs would be about three times the already sky-high costs of medical care on a private basis."

Fischer takes lead

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UPI) — Chessmasters attending the $250,000 world championship chess match between Bobby Fischer and Boris Spassky denied speculation Saturday that Spassky might come down with a "Russian illness" and return home early if he lost any more games.

Fischer took a commanding lead over Spassky Friday with a smashing 10th game victory on the 58th move. It was his fifth victory over the Russian, who has managed only one clear win and one forfeit point when Fischer failed to show up for the second game. Friday's win gave Fischer 6.5 points to Spassky's 3.5.

Fischer needs 12.5 points to win the championship while Spassky needs 12 to keep it, and the talk among the chessmasters here was that Spassky was all but finished.

Some chess fans were even speculating that Spassky might come down with a "Russian illness" and return to Moscow if he lost to the American again.

"Groundless speculation," said Grandmaster Nikolai Kro-glus, one of Spassky's four seconds. "The match is far from lost. There are previous examples of players losing three games only to come back and take the title."

Demos seat Daley

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Illinois delegation to the Democratic National Convention, including for the first time Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, Saturday elected six of its members as representatives to the party's national committee. The 170-member Illinois delegation gave Daley a standing ovation when the mayor entered the caucus room to take a seat which he had been denied at the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach.

Delegates to the national convention last month voted to seat the 60-year-old Chicago Challenger, led by alderman William Singer and the Rev. Jesse Jackson, instead of Daley and 58 fellow Chicagoans.

TF Jaycees consider bylaws

TWIN FALLS — A bylaws change lowering the minimum membership age to 19 will be considered Tuesday by the Twin Falls Jaycees.

The present minimum age is 21, but may be lowered by action of the chapter's membership, according to a spokesman for the organization.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the American Legion Hall.

Action delays start of Pentagon Papers trial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled Saturday that a wiretap issue must be settled before the Pentagon Papers trial of Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo can begin. The action delayed the start of the trial for at least three months — perhaps indefinitely — despite a claim by the Justice Department that the government might lose its right to prosecute the case.

The Court turned down a government request that it hold a special session to consider reversing an order issued one week earlier by Justice William O. Douglas. Douglas ruled that the trial — which had been scheduled to start last Monday — could not begin until lawyers for Ellsberg and Russo appealed the eavesdrop issue to the high court.

Ellsberg and Russo are charged with conspiracy, espionage and theft of government property in the disclosure of the once-secret Pentagon study of the origins of the Vietnam war. Their lawyers, however, claim their constitutional rights to counsel were infringed by the government's admission it had overheard a member or members of the defense team during the course of a foreign intelligence wiretap.

Douglas' order gave the defense lawyers until Aug. 28 to ask the Supreme Court to hold a hearing on the wiretap matter.

The Court, however, is in recess until October. That means it will be that month before it decides whether to hear the case — and later still before it acts on the substance of the matter, should it decide to consider the controversy.

The Court reached its decision Saturday through an informal polling of its members, with Douglas abstaining. Solicitor General Irwin N. Griswold — urging the court earlier in the week to overturn Douglas' order and let the trial proceed — argued that it was the first time a criminal trial had ever been stayed after a jury had been empaneled.

Big on Experience

By TIM WOODWARD

— Statesman Staff Writer

When an average-sized person meets George Hansen, he feels like David being introduced to Goliath or Jack discovering the beanstalk.

Hansen's campaign slogan is "a big man for a big job" — and it isn't hard to see why. He's 6 feet 6, weighs 235 pounds and looks more like Paul Bunyan in a suit and tie than he does an experienced politician.

But, as the cliché says, appearances can be deceiving. Hansen is a political pro. His experience, he says, is his greatest asset in the campaign battle he currently is fighting for a seat in the U.S. Senate.

"Big on experience" is another campaign slogan, and Hansen backs it up with two terms in the House of Representatives, service on the agriculture and interior committees, three years with the Department of Agriculture, and a term as deputy vice president of the Commodity Credit Corp.

If the ability to meet the public is important the experience has paid off. Hansen can flash a winning smile at the drop of a hat. His aggressive campaigning once caused a Democratic adversary to say, "Hansen would shake hands with the devil himself if he thought it would get a vote."

Campaigners often do seem interested only in sheer numbers of hands they can shake. But on at least one occasion, while campaigning this week at a downtown Boise bookstore, Hansen ignored hands of many older voters to discuss the issues with a single college student who seemed concerned about the national situation.

The confrontation looked like one guaranteed to test the mettle of any candidate — a Hansen's campaign has private, unrehearsed showdown between a politician and a youth. The student had straight questions and he expected straight answers — no political doubletalk.

"How do you feel about marijuana," the young man asked. "Would you vote to legalize it or not, and why?"

Come on now, no beating around the bush... People don't govern themselves anymore. They're governed by politicians. Would you try to change that? How?

I hear you guys get a lifetime pension after one term in the Senate. Is that what you're after?"

At times, Hansen answered at great length, and the student didn't seem to know what had been said once the politician finished saying it. For the most part, however, Hansen answered to the young man's satisfaction — whether or not the two agreed. The candidate wouldn't legalize pot, favors government from Idaho rather than Washington, and denied the lifetime pension idea.

Many congressional hopefuls are accompanied by hired campaign workers. Hansen's campaign party in Boise this week consisted of his two sons, Jim and Bill. With this less-than-massive organization by his side, Hansen said his campaign is going well and that he's "the man to beat" on Tuesday.

"I have coordinators in every county," he explained. "They've all done an excellent job. According to polls taken in East Idaho, I'm far ahead there. Now, it's a matter of spending the remainder of the time concentrating on Treasure Valley — where the population is. All in all, I'm doing well in this area, too."

Things are "looking good everywhere," Hansen's campaign has brought rumors that he attempted to gain unanimous support from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon). Asked if the rumors were true, he replied, "Absolutely not. Anyone who says that is crazy. Candidates don't get unanimous support from their church or anyone else."

Sen. George McGovern's approaches to economic and defense policies are anathema to Hansen, who describes them as being "national suicide."

He generally supports President Nixon's actions, although he feels decisions should have been made sooner. Hansen claims he had the idea of blockading Vietnam ports in 1968, and "I took this long for the President to get to it."

Platforms are what the public is interested in and Hansen's can be summed up, he says, in five points: Limit government spending to no more than annual government revenue; don't allow gun control; repeal the Occupational Safety and Health Act — at least the "objectionable parts"; work on agriculture and interior, committees, and take decisive action.

Speaking of the latter, Hansen talks fast and sounds angry. "We've had too much dilly-dallying around already," he says. "I won't do that. I'll make decisions when they're needed and I'll fight to enforce them — especially when it comes to maintaining the free enterprise system. We don't need guaranteed income and all this other crap selling the birthright of the United States."

Following Hansen around for an afternoon, an observer learns one thing very quickly. If George is elected, Sen. McGovern won't find a friend in the big man from Idaho.

Treasure Valley — where the population is. All in all, I'm doing well in this area, too. Things are "looking good everywhere."

The confrontation looked like one guaranteed to test the mettle of any candidate — a Hansen's campaign has Paid for by Former and Ranchers for George Hansen, Jerome County, Mrs. Jerry Cohen, Chairman.

Lawrence resigns high school post

TWIN FALLS — John A. Lawrence, principal of the Twin Falls High School for the past five years, announced his resignation Friday.

He will join the University of Idaho immediately as associate professor of agricultural education, college of agriculture, and will move to Moscow.

Lawrence returned Thursday from Moscow where he met with university officials concerning the position, and immediately notified School Supt. George Staudacher of his decision to accept.

Staudacher said Friday the board of trustees of the Twin Falls School District will meet in regular session Tuesday and will discuss the resignation and a possible replacement for Lawrence.

Staudacher said he regrets Lawrence's leaving the local system as he has done an outstanding job as principal and also in his previous teaching services here.

"He is an outstanding man and we regret losing him, but are happy for his opportunity to advance," Staudacher said.

Lawrence joined the Twin Falls High School in 1951 as the agricultural instructor and remained in that position until joining the U.S. Air Force from 1954 to 1956. On returning, he farmed for two years before rejoining the school system in 1958, again as instructor of vocational agriculture.

Born in Shelley, he attended the University of Idaho, receiving his B.S. degree in agriculture there in 1950. He returned to the university and received his master's degree in agriculture in 1956.

Lawrence married the former Nancy Sparks in 1951 and they have two daughters. Carolyn is a junior at the University of Idaho and Jan will be enrolling there as a freshman this fall.

Lawrence said he regrets leaving Twin Falls but feels it would be unwise to turn down the opportunity. Four years ago he declined to accept the university position as he had served only one year as high school principal here and felt it would be unfair and unwise to leave the position so soon.

Lawrence said he has enjoyed his association with school administrators, the teaching staff and students.

"These people have all been exceptionally cooperative and we will be leaving something of ourselves behind in Twin Falls," he said.

TF council will review fire bids

TWIN FALLS — City Council members will meet Monday night to review bids on petroleum and tire products for the city for the coming year.

The city agenda also calls for a review of bids opened Friday for grading at the city-county airport in connection with the new instrument landing system.

The council members are also expected to grant authority for accepting of the off-street parking lots in downtown Twin Falls. The lots have undergone resurfacing and other improvements under the current phase of the urban renewal and downtown improvement project.

Also on the agenda are requests from Keith Malone for alley encroachment and from Magic Valley Green Cross Hospital for deferment of curb construction in connection with its new building.

A proposed ordinance for vacating the alley north of DuBois Street and release of the Lynwood Shopping Center parking lot bond are also on the agenda. The council will discuss an appointment to fill a vacancy on the city highway and traffic safety advisory commission.

Judge rules against claim

TWIN FALLS — Judge James M. Cunningham has filed a memorandum opinion in the case of Edwin L. and Elizabeth McVey against Ace Realty, favoring the defendant.

Judge Cunningham ruled the plaintiffs were not entitled to any damages or additional revenue in their action to collect more than $4,528 from the defendant as a result of failure to complete a contract for a new home.

The plaintiffs had charged the defendant with failing to complete the construction to meet Veterans Administration standards necessary for their loan. Since they could not obtain the loan, Ace Realty returned their $350 down payment and sold the home to another buyer. He had agreed to build the home for $20,472 and it was sold to the other buyer at $22,000 and was listed as valued at $23,000 at the time of sale.

The McVeyes asked for the additional profit they would have made had they been able to sell the home for the increased price in addition to their living costs while the building was delayed.

Judge Cunningham said he could find no evidence of fraud and since the McVeyes accepted the return of the $350 they had lost no money.

Buhl man seeking damages in crash

TWIN FALLS — Damages totaling $17,359.81 are being asked by a Buhl man and his son as a result of a traffic accident Feb. 5, 1972.

Ralph and Richard Eggleston, Buhl, are asking damages from Martin LeRoy Arford, Buhl, as a result of a collision on a rural county road west of Buhl.

They charge the defendant drove into the path of the pickup truck driven by Richard Eggleston resulting in injuries and suffering by Ralph Eggleston, a passenger in the car.

The Buhl men are asking $1,500 in medical expenses, $10,000 in loss of future earning power, $5,000 general damages and personal suffering, and $859.81 damages to their vehicle.

Idaho schools get criticism at SV

SUN VALLEY (UPI) — Top school administrators from Idaho Friday heard an address highly critical of today's educational system as they closed a controversial two-day state conference.

Gerald C. Lubnow, San Francisco, Newsweek magazine bureau chief and an education specialist, told the school administrators and trustees that "modern society has outstripped the educational process."

One superintendent asked Lubnow what he thought was good about today's schools.

"Very little," he replied.

In his remarks, the newsmen said the highly rigid educational system is being challenged by "young, intelligent activists" seeking needed change.

"There is almost a total alienation of most young people from the learning process. They have come to realize that the subject matter they are expected to master has little to do with their own lives.

"The questions they are expected to answer are insignificant so far as they are concerned, and the conclusions they are expected to reach are meaningless in terms of their needs," he said.

Earlier, the Freedom Valley educator Award was presented to Idaho Superintendent of Public Instruction D.F. Engelking by Idaho Supreme Court Justice Allan Shippard.

During a morning panel discussion on student rights and responsibilities before the 300 school officials, Idaho Board of Education member Dr. J.P. Muhon, Sandpoint, charged that all Idaho secondary schools are guilty of depriving students of their constitutional civil rights.

Rock fete today

TWIN FALLS — The Hiroshima Bomb Drop Rock Concert and Political Enclave is set to detonate at noon today.

The combination rock concert and non-partisan political rally is set for noon at the Jaycee Park in Twin Falls, featuring five rock and roll bands and an unknown number of political candidates.

Lucas Hess, Twin Falls, organizer of the event, said invitations had been sent throughout the state to major political candidates running for the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives.

Hess said the festival is to commemorate the 28th anniversary of the detonation of the nuclear bomb over Hiroshima near the end of World War II.

4 youths injured in Kimberly crash

TWIN FALLS — Four young persons were taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries Friday following an accident two miles northwest of Kimberly.

Twin Falls County sheriff's deputies said a vehicle driven by Dixie Lynn Braswell, 15, Kimberly, and one driven by Eldon Arthur Wolters, 36, Kimberly, collided one mile north and one mile west of Kimberly on U.S. Highway 30.

Officers said Wolters was traveling east on Kimberly Road and pulled to the inside lane in preparing to turn, pulling into the path of the Braswell vehicle which struck his automobile in the rear.

Neither driver was injured. Damage to the Braswell vehicle was estimated at $600.

Treated for minor injuries were Thelma Murray, 11; Sharon Braswell, 13; Bonnie Ashbaker, 4, and Mary Ashbaker, 2, all of Kimberly.

Wegner charges opponents with 'deliberate smear'

BOISE — Claiming he is "about to pull a fantastic upset," Dr. Glen Wegner charged opponents with resorting to "deliberate smear tactics to discredit this campaign."

Wegner, Republican senatorial candidate, said from his recent service in Washington, D.C., and "to my knowledge he is not now nor has he ever been involved in misconduct of any sort."

Wegner said he knew Barkel, from his recent service in Washington, D.C., and "to my knowledge he is not now nor has he ever been involved in misconduct of any sort."

A story in the Statesman Friday reported Wegner had received money from a Kansas City, Mo., banker who allegedly was involved in soliciting funds to keep a defunct bank open.

"A story in the most recent 'Intermountain Observer' says, 'In brief, there a pattern of involvement that suggests the political organization of Robert Finch... is lending its financial and organizational support.' Finch is former secretary of Health, Education and Welfare and currently a White House special assistant.

Wegner said in a telephone interview Friday he did not solicit any funds from the Missouri banker, Alexander T. Barkel, cited in the statesman story. The candidate, a lawyer and doctor, said he called on his classmates from both law school and medical school for funds in his campaign making it clear he did not want any "vested interest dollars."

Wegner also cited a number of alleged "untruths" in both stories, including the statement in the "Observer" article that claimed he had worked 70 per cent of his time while in the White House to "rebuild Finch's political base" in California. The article cites an unnamed "acquaintance of Wegner" as the source of the information.

Wegner said the statements about Finch were a "whole fabrication." "I'm here at my own instigation (running for the Senate), Wegner said, "and not the President's and not Mr. Finch's. A lot of this stuff that's put together just doesn't make sense. I'm trying to run a wide open campaign." The Kendrick native said.

$460 stolen

TWIN FALLS — Approximately $460 was taken from a safe in the office of the Ace Hansen Chevrolet agency on Blue Lakes Boulevard North Friday night.

Capt. Tim Qualls, Twin Falls chief of detectives, said someone gained entry to the building and turned the safe on its side, then cut through the bottom of the safe to gain access to the money.

Citizens for Paul Corder

Official City and County Newspaper
Pursuant to Section 20-106 Idaho Code, Thursday is hereby designated as the day of the week for the publication of legal notices. Published daily and Sunday, except Saturday, at 132 Third Street West, Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301, by Magic Valley Newspapers, Inc. Entered as second class mail matter, April 8, 1918; at the post office in Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301, under the act of March 9, 1879.

The Full Circle

Political accusations have gone the full circle — from Eagleton on the national scene, to the campaign mounted by fellow-candidates against McClure on the state scene and now the campaign against Sheriff Corder and the county commissioners on the local level. It seems the desire to serve leaves you wide open to attack. There seems to be no defense against it. Invariably such accusations are made just before an election. The accusations of nepotism at the sheriff's level will have to be thoroughly proved to be believed. Actions in his office are no different than other sheriffs have been doing down the years.

Some of them will be changed, to be sure, and these changes were arranged for by the sheriff and the county commissioners long before the present charges were advanced.

The suggestion of malfeasance by the county commissioners is difficult to believe in any instance. The county has been fortunate down through the years in having dedicated and honest county commissioners and the present commissioners are no exception. Until legal evidence is produced — and proved — we can see no reason why the sheriff and the county commissioners should not receive the support of the citizens.

No Naming Calling

Republican strategists believe President Nixon has re-election victory in hand, provided he and Vice President Agnew maintain a tight discipline and keep off the low road of personalities and name-calling.

Discipline, indeed, is a key word in the Nixon camp these days. There is a determination not to be drawn into a free-swinging campaign. The judgment is that it is almost the only thing which could unite the torn Democrats and give some real hope to Sen. George McGovern.

The President himself is said to be so fully committed to a high-level, issue-oriented effort that he may engage in traditional campaigning only in the final two weeks before election this year.

And, according to present plan, Mr. Nixon may watch most of the Miami Beach Republican convention from his White House perch, staying above mundane politics until the time comes for his acceptance speech on Aug. 23.

It has already been reported that the President personally has admonished Spiro Agnew to refrain from direct personal assault on McGovern and his running mate.

The vice president clearly was reflecting this careful counsel when he said a few days ago in Anchorage, Alaska, that this time it should be "possible" for him to campaign strictly on the issues.

MR. SPECTATOR

Thoughts While Sitting

Here summer — for all intents and purposes — is just about over and yet:

There is the lawn furniture — on the upstairs balcony — which has yet to be enjoyed.

The balcony which is never used. A back patio that has never been used.

Two fishing outfits. Purchased two years ago one is still in the original carton and the other, although put together last year, has yet to be tried.

A self-contained travel trailer used 13 nights last year and never moved since then.

That beautiful country up north just sits there day in and out. We last saw it just a year ago.

Those new shoes — new six months ago but never worn to date because the old ones feel so good.

We find it hard to be enthusiastic when a friend tells of his salmon fishing trek into the Middle Fork of the Salmon country by air.

The sun coming up later and later with the result it is now dark when 6 a.m. rolls around and we must turn out of the sack.

We feel sort of sad to see the Van Engelen home being torn down. A town landmark for there ever was one. Blue Lakes North will never be the same — but then it hasn't been the same for several years now since commercialism moved in.

Those silly TV advertisements which tell of the new deodorant for the "whole body."

The swim suits worn by the gals becoming less and less.

A fine kettle of fish when a business place must post a sign telling those barefoot and-or without at least a T-shirt to stay outside.

We wonder what a big head of hair, a full beard and dirt is meant to prove.

Everyone now knowing for sure just who "Dick Who" is and most of them feeling sorry for him.

MORE THOUGHTS

We have to laugh at the people who for weeks and weeks were complaining about the holes in Shoshone Street North and East. The same ones are now complaining because the roadway is torn up while being repaired. We are most happy we are not the type reporter that Jack Anderson is — a guy who writes things before he is sure of his facts and then has to offer a public apology.

That thunder and lightning last Tuesday night about 11 p.m. really shook things up for awhile — and brought back memories of other storms which practically scared us to death.

A NOTE

Got a note from Wiley Dodds, the cyclone of the advertising department, who passed along this ironic bit:

An anonymous phone caller to McGovern's headquarters — in Miami — advised campaign strategists "Don't pick Eagleton... he's had a few psychiatric problems." Needless to say, the phone caller was curtly dismissed as being "some kind of nut."

GIVEAWAY DEPT.

We have two female puppies to give away. They are two months old and are part Brittany Spaniel. Telephone 324-5120 at Jerome.

Have four black Labrador puppies for free. Are about six weeks old and we must find homes for them. Call 536-2520 at Wendell.

Need homes for five lovely puppies about three months old. Will be small. That is two are about three months old and the other three are around that age. All are lovely dogs and are ready to go. You can see them at 221 South Washington (the Airport road in Twin Falls) or can call 734-2066.

REALLY LUCKY

Dear Mr. Spectator: Must say Mrs. Spectator was lucky to get that cat out from under the hood of her car. In 1948 I was not so lucky. I started the car and heard a blood-curdling screech! It was in November and the cat had climbed up under to sit on top of the motor. The newspaper (The Times-News) ran a story of my startling and tragic accident on Nov. 24 of that year.

Peking's Nixon Investment

WASHINGTON — Communist China is "privately" but very forcefully expressing alarm to official American visitors that any unilateral U.S. decision to withdraw troops from Europe or reduce nuclear arms could condemn the world to the domination of the Soviet Union.

With the subtle indirection that marks Chinese diplomacy, Peking is frantically sending out signals designed to safeguard its huge investment in the reelection of Richard M. Nixon.

Those signals are heard loudest in Western Europe. A senior Chinese diplomat in the Paris embassy has spent six months traveling to European capitals warning that the Russians cannot be trusted on disarmament or troop reductions in Europe.

The staggering cost of Peking's investment in Mr. Nixon has only recently become clear with published reports (based on conversations with Mao Tse-tung himself) that Mao's late heir-apparent, Lin Biao, organized a 1971 assassination conspiracy against Mao. Lin Biao's purpose was not only to impose military rule over the world's most populous country and end the schism between Peking and Moscow but also to stop Peking's friendly overtures to President Nixon.

Despite Lin Biao's death, however, high officials here believe that the ability of Mao and Prime Minister Chou En-lai to keep control partly depends on how well the new détente with the U.S. works out.

The first test of that highly tentative détente, as seen by Chou's government, will come not in Asia — not even in Vietnam — but in Western Europe.

To Peking, any withdrawal of American military power from Europe, as pledged by Sen. George McGovern, would immediately free the Soviet Union from its own military commitment in Europe. That would result in immediate reinforcement of Moscow's awesome military machine along the 4,150-mile border between China and Russia.

Accordingly, McGovern's pledge to withdraw up to 170,000 U.S. troops from NATO means, to Peking, a drastically unfavorable shift in the military balance along the Russian border. Even without a President McGovern, Chinese fears of future U.S. troop withdrawals from Europe under President Nixon are a subject for anxious indoctrination of official American visitors in Peking.

The Russians, according to the official Chinese line, can never be trusted to fulfill their part of any agreement with the Americans for a mutual troop pullout from Central Europe.

In short, the Nixon plan for "balanced" force reductions is also highly suspect. The real reason is not the one given — that the Soviet Union would fail to carry out such an agreement. In fact, the Chinese believe Moscow would carry it out, thus enabling it to reinforce the Chinese border.

The intensity of this Chinese line has amazed high level American visitors. Henry A. Kissinger, who with four trips under his belt has spent more time in the Chinese capital than any other U.S. official, refuses to talk about his conversations with Chinese officials. But Reps. Hale Boggs of Louisiana and Gerald Ford of Michigan, after their six-hour dinner with Chou En-lai in July, reported the Chinese view as follows:

1. Moscow would "never" live up to any future U.S. Soviet agreement to start scaling down nuclear arms — a future goal of the strategic arms limitation talks (SALT).

2. The U.S. must continue full-scale development and production of nuclear weapons or risk falling behind Moscow, making the Soviet Union the undisputed No. 1 world power.

3. The prospect of all-out Japanese rearmament, coupled with Soviet arms shipments to India, threatens China with "encirclement."

4. Finally, the Russians must not become the dominant power in Southeast Asia.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

So She Waits

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I hope you will not wait too long to answer this.

Both of my parents are diabetics. I intend to get a checkup when I get my vacation this summer. I think I am also diabetic.

What damage would be caused if I continue eating anything I want, because I am not sure yet if I am a diabetic? Would it injure my eyes? Would it cause heart trouble?

I do drink a lot of water and my mouth is dry most of the time. Is this one of the symptoms?

D.B.
You want me to answer in a hurry — so you can keep on procrastinating? I don't think I follow your logic.

However, with your history and your symptoms, you ought to cut out sweets (candy, cake, all other sugary foods) at once. (Of course you ought to get your checkup right away, too. Why wait for your vacation? One office visit to your doctor will probably give you a clear enough answer.)

When both parents are diabetic, your chances of being diabetic are about as high as they can get. And first is one of the early symptoms.

Diabetes (except in childhood) is a slow but steadily damaging disease. The longer you wait before starting treatment to control it, the greater the damage will be to your system in the long run.

If you continue to hide from the truth, you won't lose your eyesight overnight, nor develop heart trouble tomorrow — but you may have to pay for that delay in the long run. Eye and heart conditions occur with diabetes, and the longer the case remains uncontrolled, the worse the damage will be. In fact, circulation is impaired generally, so damage continues silently but inexorably throughout the body. Stop putting things off. People with diabetes can live essentially normal lives — if they start controlling it as soon as they detect it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it harmful to cross your eyes? I do it just as a joke, and my mother says it's a dangerous habit and they'll "stick" that way. — A.M.R.

No harm. It means you have control of certain eye muscles. Your eyes won't stick that way. (Frankly, though, I never thought a girl made herself look any prettier by crossing her eyes.)

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Recently I went to the dentist and had one injection of Novocain to have a tooth-filled. Next day I was covered from neck to buttocks with hives.

I have had many shots of Novocain over the years but never experienced this. Should I forget it and continue to use it when necessary, or is this warning of perhaps a more serious reaction next time? — Mrs. D.M.

Sounds as though you had finally become sensitized after having had a number of injections. That's the conclusion I would draw — unless you can think of anything else that might have caused the hives. My advice is to warn your dentist or doctor of this experience. The risk of a more severe reaction next time is not to be ignored. There are other diabetes-related medications that can be used for the same purpose.

Another Jaunt?

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has still another spectacular trip abroad in mind. Under serious consideration is a flying visit to the Olympic games in Munich — Aug. 26 to Sept. 10.

An avid sports fan, the President is ardently eager to attend this quadrennial world athletic event. He keenly followed the various elimination tests and trials of U.S. participants, which further whetted his desire for a first-hand look at the Olympic contests.

The President has told assistants he thinks there is an excellent chance the U.S. will establish a new record in winning top honors at these games.

It goes without saying the President's attendance at the Olympics would be helpful politically. With popular attention focused on the worldwide athletic competition, his personal interest would certainly be an electrifying plus.

The President's presence in Munich would involve no undue security problems. Firm assurances of that have come from both local and West German authorities — who very much want him to come, even for a stay of only a day.

If the President does decide to do so, it will be after the Republican national convention (Aug. 21-23) and his meeting with Japan's new Prime Minister, Kakuei Tanaka, in Hawaii at the end of this month.

When Republican platform framers finish their job, there will be many significant and striking differences between theirs and the Democrats' — and none more so than on the torrid issue of school busing.

In direct contrast to the Democrats, the GOP plank will be clearcut and categorical against busing to "achieve racial balance."

And Democrats, obviously trying to carry water on both shoulders, cursorily glossed over the volatile issue with two ambiguous statements: "Transportation of students is another tool to accomplish desegregation. It must continue to be available according to Supreme Court decisions to eliminate legally imposed segregation and to improve the quality of education for all children."

In other words, the Democrats are for racially-motivated school busing, but carefully and tactfully try to avoid saying so.

The Republican plank will emphatically leave no doubt of the party's flat opposition to such busing. No one will have any uncertainty about the plank as it is being written.

Now these are women who carry submachine guns when they parachute from airplanes, when they march alongside and for as far as men march.

Yet the Women's Corps of the Israeli Defense Forces remains undeniably feminine.

Their commander, a petite mother of two, Col. Dvora Tomar, just this spring sought and got cash allowances for her troops to wear frilly lingerie. A cosmetics firm is allowed to send beauticians to training camps to instruct in makeup.

What we used to call WACS and WAVES, the Israelis call "Chen." Technically it stands for "Army of Women." But in Hebrew the word also means "charm."

Every girl in Israel gets her draft papers when she's 18. About half of them — those not married or otherwise ineligible — do 20 months military service. After that they remain in the reserves.

Israeli women have not fought since the '48-'49 war. After several had been ravaged by their captors, then-Premier David Ben-Gurion ordered women to stay back from the front lines.

But today's training is geared for total combat capability. And yet, girls will be girls.

Reporter Lancashire asked one of the Chen, Ruth Lichtenstein, if she fixes her own flat tires. She said, "I'm trained to do."

BERRY'S WORLD

George is in his element, now, with this being the year of the politics of discontent!

JAMES BUCHANAN
Fifteenth President
(Administration: March 4, 1857-March 3, 1861)

When 59 per cent of the 4,053,967 males who voted in the election of 1856 chose Democrat James Buchanan over the first Republican candidate John C. Fremont and "Know-Nothing" nominee ex-President Millard Fillmore, for the second time in succession a despised "dough-face," a proslavery Northerner, had been elevated to the Presidency.

This continued a trend toward mediocre Presidents which prevailed between the administrations of Andrew Jackson and Abraham Lincoln, despite the fact that such outstanding men as Henry Clay, John C. Calhoun, Lewis Cass and Daniel Webster were readily available. Worsening the plight of a rapidly dividing nation was the fact that when the people needed their most clear-thinking and unemotional Presidents the four just prior to and including the Civil War period were excessively religious. Fillmore, Pierce and Buchanan were strict Sabbatarians and to a lesser degree Lincoln was a Bible-quoting, God-fearing man.

There were other striking similarities in the lives of Pierce and Buchanan: both were favorites of their mothers, both were inclined to waywardness as youths, both were highly successful lawyers, both served as officers in the Mexican War, both were lifelong, unquestioning Democrats and both served in both houses of Congress.

Buchanan had also served as secretary of state under Polk, minister to Russia under Jackson and minister to Great Britain under Pierce. In quieter times or earlier years, Buchanan might have used this wealth of political experience — equaled only by Presidents James Monroe and John Quincy Adams — to become a good or excellent Chief Executive, but hate-driven currents of social unrest were surging against the dike of reason, and James Buchanan, at 65, had come too late to the post he had wanted so long.

Privately, Buchanan admitted candidly that the honor was personally an empty one. "All the friends I loved and wanted to reward are dead," he said, despairingly, "and all the enemies I hated and had marked for punishment are turned my friends."

The urbane Pennsylvanian followed this ignoble confession with one of the most evasive and unrealistic inaugural addresses on record. Like Pierce before him, the nation's only bachelor President declared that the issue of slavery must be decided by "popular sovereignty," because "all are agreed that under the Constitution slavery in the states is beyond the reach of any human power except that of the respective states themselves wherein it exists."

After expressing the hope that "kind Providence" would make the United States an example of "the extension of civil and religious liberty," Buchanan admitted to being "embarrassed from too large a surplus in the Treasury," and boasted that "whilst other nations have extended their dominions by the sword we have never acquired any territory except by fair purchase."

Buchanan's embarrassment over national wealth soon turned from positive to negative when the tidy surplus he inherited from Pierce became a deficit of $27 million in the Pacific of 1857 and bankruptcies and joblessness plagued the country. He did try to further America's Manifest Destiny by offering to purchase Cuba and Alaska, but Spanish and Russian agents were in no mood to do business with one of the framers of the Ostend Manifesto.

Socially, Buchanan and his hostess-niece Harriet Lane were quite active. Officials of the newly-established Japanese Embassy were given a lavish reception, and the Prince of Wales was cordially entertained at the White House. This graciousness to her eldest son probably was a factor in Queen Victoria's refusal to support the Confederacy as some of her advisers favored for commercial reasons.

But it was the terrible and tenacious issue of slavery that dealt the death blow to Buchanan's Presidency and a grievous, still festering wound in America's social fabric. South Carolina had been in the vanguard of the secessionist movement since Andrew Jackson's first Administration, and late in 1860 that state's commissioners were at the White House demanding that federal troops be ordered out of Charleston's Fort Sumter.

Under this relentless, uncompromising attack, Buchanan's bland persona was completely engulfed in the quicksands of his wavering, frightened personality. "You don't give me time to say my prayers," the President protested. "I always say my prayers when required to act upon any great state affair." Nevertheless, with that obstinacy so characteristic of the weak, Buchanan refused to treat the Southerners as rebels or to order reinforcement of federal forces in Charleston Harbor.

The Buchanan Administration quickly collapsed when Secretary of State Lewis Cass, disgusted by the President's indecisiveness, angrily resigned. It was then that the addled Buchanan turned to the irascible but able jurist Edwin M. Stanton with the plea, "Mr. Stanton, for God's sake, come in and help me."

President Buchanan's acquiescence to Attorney General Stanton's vigorous opposition to the secessionists partially redeemed the last weeks of his Administration. Even so, he was little more than a caretaker during the interregnum, and it was a despairing and defeated President who said to incoming President Abraham Lincoln, "If you are as happy entering the White House as I am to leave it, this is certainly the happiest day of your life."

Search Is On For Hungry Old Folks

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Editor, Times-News

The search is on to find all the hungry old folks!

And quite a few of them live in Twin Falls and other Magic Valley counties. They are those who, after a lifetime of service to their communities, find themselves isolated from the mainstream of American life. This isolation, coupled with lower income, often leads to hunger and malnutrition.

So last week — it was Thursday to be exact — every individual recipient of social security or medicare received a brochure explaining how it is possible to qualify under the new Federal Food Assistance Program. They also received a franked post card permitting them to request personal assistance if required.

Nationwide there are 27 million men and women who received the notices. In Magic Valley the numbers were in the hundreds and it is expected that scores of these — not helped in the past — will now be able to receive food assistance.

In Twin Falls county such assistance would come through food stamps. In some counties it would come through commodity distribution. Right now, in Twin Falls county, there are between 750 and 800 individual cases where food stamps are being distributed. These, of course, include those of all age groups who are eligible and would number more than indicated because a family head, who might receive stamps for two or more family members, is still only counted as one.

When the Federal Food Assistance Program (FIND) takes hold, issuance of food stamps will increase. How much is not known.

Four government agencies and the American Red Cross — including the chapter in Twin Falls — are joining hands in this program, an outgrowth of the White House Conference on Aging.

The Department of Agriculture will administer the food assistance through the stamp and commodity programs; the Social Security Administration will communicate the objective of Project FIND to all Social Security and Medicare participants; the Office of Economic Opportunity, through a $1.4 million contract, will be the funding agency for the volunteer activity; ACTION, the government citizen service corps, will provide the project management and public information, and the Red Cross will enroll, train and supervise up to 50,000 volunteers in an effort to reach all the older Americans who are eligible.

Statewide, Idaho is involved in both the food stamp and commodity programs.

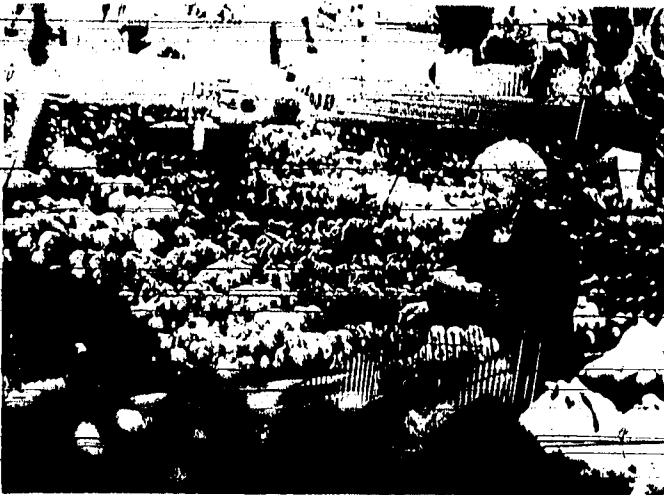

In Idaho there are 44 counties. Food distribution programs reach a total of 18,651 in these counties and food stamps reach another 14,037 for a total of 32,688 being helped with food subsidies. Some local officials expect this number will hit a culling of nearly 50,000 when the elderly who are now eligible but are not receiving anything apply for aid.

The whole idea is to be sure old folks do not go hungry and also to be sure what they eat is beneficial to their health.

It is pointed out in Twin Falls that the Red Cross is not receiving any money other than to reimburse for direct out-of-pocket expenses such as the salaries of field supervisors, travel cost and reimbursement to volunteers for their direct out-of-pocket travel costs.

Want to volunteer in this program? Then drop into the local office of Social Security as a starter. Your volunteer help is needed and the Social Security officials can put you on the right track as to where to go and what to do.

And you old folks who do not have enough money to buy nourishing food? Why don't you send that card back — or go in and ask questions? The program is for you. All you have to do is to take advantage of it.

Praise For McClure

Editor, Times-News:

Two or three articles have appeared in the press within the past few weeks that have taken some raps at Jim McClure's record as a Congressman. Since I had been in doubt myself about his record, I determined to find out the truth.

I am an average citizen, not politically inclined, but I had no difficulty in obtaining a copy of McClure's voting record in the Congress for the past five years. I discovered some amazing things about the man — and I think your readers should know some of the true facts.

Recently, a candidate who should know better accused McClure of having "a record that benefits the few at the expense of the many." If that candidate had taken the trouble to look at McClure's voting record — I carefully checked the entire five years — he would have seen these things:

McClure voted FOR PEOPLE WHO REALLY NEEDED HELP — not "just the few" — on at least ONE HUNDRED TWENTY-SEVEN important bills which I have recorded. McClure tried — no fewer than ONE HUNDRED TWENTY-ONE times — to cut the enormous spending in Washington. Again I enclose a list of those efforts and their dates.

McClure has voted strongly for CRIME CONTROL (but AGAINST sweeping Gun Control) — he has voted consistently for a strong defense for his country — and consistently AGAINST wasteful foreign giveaways.

On VIETNAM, he believes in and has consistently supported the President's efforts to end the war with honor to the United States.

And on ENVIRONMENT and ECOLOGY — McClure's VOTING RECORD proves that he believes, not in "radical wrap-up," but in sensible, enforceable, effective laws which get the job done, but do not outrage the rights of private property.

McClure has regularly opposed the bureaucracy and federal encroachment on the rights of the states.

McClure has voted, with courage and firmness, FOR America — and FOR Idaho — even when he had to oppose his own party. I have the proof of his record in my hands, and I will be glad to send or show it to anyone who really wants to know the truth. That record will clearly prove that Idaho and America need Jim McClure in the Senate as never before.

Prayer For Today

Dear God, why is it so much easier to notice other people's faults than our own? We smile at the Biblical account of the man who came to Jesus asking Him to set his brother straight. "Lord, speak to my brother," he said. But Jesus could see that he needed help more than his brother did and began to straighten him out. Let this be a lesson to us, God. Help us to let you take care of our brother's faults, while we ask of you, "Lord, speak to me."

Sen. Jordan

Editor, Times-News:

As a citizen of the United States and formerly a resident of Idaho, I wish to publicly express my gratitude to Senator Jordan for his kindness and concern for my welfare.

He has been most efficient in representing Idaho's citizens, a really active man in public life — whose dedicated concern has not been only lip service.

As one citizen, I am deeply appreciative of the quality of this man's representation of the State of Idaho in the United States Senate.

Those Candidates

Editor, Times-News:

While contemplating the accused transgressions attributed to Sen. Eagleton I have come across an article about us live in glass houses and some of our other presidential candidates.

Perhaps we see in the weakness of some of our candidates as did the same troubles we personally have, which only more than his share of campaign insults.

According to a list compiled by Harper's Weekly magazine Lincoln when seeking reelection in 1864 was called by various foes a teller of filthy stories, a scoundrel, perjurer, fiend, old scoundrel, perjuror, fiend, butcher and land pirate.

If you were now going to decide if you should vote for John Quincy Adams or Andrew Jackson you would have this to consider: Jackson in 1791 had made the mistake of marrying a woman who already had a husband. Jackson's foes branded him as an adulterer, bigamist, slave trader, drunkard, murderer, thief, liar and maniac.

Or perhaps if you had to make the decision of voting for Grover Cleveland.

Cleveland, while a bachelor had conducted a love affair with a widow who bore him a child. Cleveland declined to marry the woman, but did provide for her care and the adoption of their child. Of course Cleveland was depicted as a "betrayer of innocent girls."

One thing in common these men had: they were all elected president of the United States. I suppose this tells something about Americans.

It probably tells us that most of us live in glass houses and will not cast stones.

Perhaps we see in the weakness of some of our candidates as did the same troubles we personally have, which only more than his share of campaign insults.

For instance: Abraham Lincoln, generally regarded as one of America's great presidents, came in for much more than his share of campaign insults.

Backing Hansen

Editor, Times-News:

I've asked many people in the Magic Valley for months to support George Hansen in his candidacy for the U.S. Senate. As George's local coordinator I have had very close contact with him since last March. I have found him to be honest, truthful, and sincere in all our dealings, and a man with great integrity.

One of the candidates keeps asking for support because he thinks it's time for a new, different, kind of politics. The truth is that George had that new, honest, close regard for people, kind of politics the two terms he served in the congress (1964 to 1968). When he left Washington they knew he had been there!

People have asked his views on many issues and received honest, concise answers as to how he feels about them. I've felt that these issues concerned with this election are as fleeting as the wind and that during the next six years they will be replaced by new and different issues that whoever wins the office will be faced with. Because of this I look for other things in a candidate; rather I should like to know if he is his own man? Can he think for himself? Will he research and study the issues? Will he seek self-glory or will he work for the people he represents? George Hansen is all of these things and more. He is not just another "politician."

He is a hard worker who has received his money in small denominations from many people throughout the state. Thus he owes his allegiance to no one but the people of Idaho. I feel very strongly about sending an honest, sincere, outspoken, and dedicated Idahoan to represent us. I want everyone who doesn't know George personally as I do, to know that he is honest, he is the kind of man who works hard and is genuinely dedicated to working for all the people.

He Is Disturbed

Editor, Times-News:

In response to your news article (T.F. Deputies Ad Sparks Hassle) in the July 31 issue of the Times-News, I, as a Goodman supporter, am very upset that the editor of the Times-News has refused to put any letters to the editor in favor of Mr. Goodman in the public forum even though such letters are in public interest and not inflammatory.

We have not refused publication that we know of!

I don't see Mr. Jensen's reasoning in stating that the deputies don't want an outsider who is not qualified for sheriff.

If the public will read the publications your paper published of each candidate in the July 30 issue they will see Mr. Goodman's qualifications far outnumber Mr. Corder's, plus the fact Mr. Goodman was born and raised in Twin Falls county while Mr. Corder is actually an outsider who came here from Kansas.

Also, Mr. Goodman's statements in regards to the training of deputies must be hitting close to home. If not, why are some of the deputies getting so stirred up?

The statement Mr. Jensen made in regards federal money not being accepted by Mr. Corder is to keep government control away from the department is very unqualified statement as these monies can be received by any qualified department with no strings attached.

I have also worked with Mr. Goodman in the Twin Falls sheriff's office and feel he is very much qualified and the right man for our next sheriff.

His campaign platform is one of concern for the taxpayers of Twin Falls county and he does plan on using every available resource to take the burden off of the taxpayer locally. This can be done by using federal money.

Slinging Mud

Editor, Times-News:

As Chairman of the Republican Party in Twin Falls County, I have attempted in every way I know how to stay neutral in all primary races between Republicans. I believe as Chairman I should do this, but I can only remain neutral in a clean campaign. When a Republican candidate "slinging mud" at a good Republican office holder, neutrality must end.

I have, while Chairman of the Republican Party, publicly congratulated Democratic office holders in Twin Falls County who are doing a good job. I now publicly congratulate Paul Corder for doing a good job as our Sheriff. I also commend the Twin Falls County Commissioners for a good job.

Sheriff Corder's Republican opponents, and his supporters (one of which includes the Democratic candidate for Prosecutor) have engaged in tactics which are unbecoming of public office holders in Twin Falls County. I have checked out many of the rumors and find them untrue and without any foundation.

Accordingly, I urge Republicans to cast their vote for Paul Corder in Tuesday's primary election.

Handsome, Articulate

Editor, Times-News:

Dr. Glen Wegner came to Ketchum last Saturday. Can you believe that? A candidate for the U.S. Senate seat came to Ketchum and actually walked door-to-door talking to us during the hottest part of our most sultry July this summer. I understand Dr. Wegner has visited other small towns in the area. It's nice to know that there is someone who is thinking about us.

I found Glen to be handsome, articulate, energetic and practical as well as scholarly — and what's more — he's an individual running as an individual and he owes nothing to any one business or corporation. Some people in an attempt to detract from Dr. Wegner as a candidate, have cast aspersions at his finances and yet Wegner has listed every contribution and expenditure related to his campaign, all of which are open for public inspection at the office of the Secretary of State.

From talking with Glen, I know that he wishes to serve the people of Idaho in the most effective way he sees possible. After working in Washington, D. C., writing legislation and seeing the problems of Idaho from an all inclusive view point, he is certainly full of experience and desire.

Glen Wegner, with his Republican credentials, vitally intelligent philosophy, and dynamic personality is certainly worth considering. Tuesday, especially if you've ever complained about politics and want a new and honest solution to an old problem.

More autos recalled

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — General Motors' Pontiac division announced Friday it has recalled 45,000 of its 1972 Grand Prix models to repair a battery cable problem that has resulted in fires.

Pontiac said that under certain conditions the positive battery cable near the engine can be short-circuited, causing an electrical fire in the floor-mounted console area.

A Pontiac spokesman said the company has had reports of 26 fires in Grand Prix sedans. He said there have been no reports of bodily injury except in one case of "alleged smoke inhalation."

Land meet set

BUIE — Twin Falls County commissioners and officials of the Crystal Springs Ranches Inc. will meet Wednesday to discuss access to 17 acres of county land in Snake River Canyon. The county purchased the river frontage several months ago with the hope of eventually developing it for public recreation purposes. Crystal Springs Ranches Inc. owns other property in the area through which the county would require access. They are preparing for a fish hatchery and other development. Meeting with the county officials will be Otto Lynn, Hagerman; Leroy Byland, Buhl; and J.W. Helth, Elko, Nev., president of the development company.

Hansen introduces hiring measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho Rep. Otis Hansen has introduced a bill to prohibit discrimination in hiring, state and local government employees. The legislation extends the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967 to protect the rights of thousands of American workers, Hansen said. The Republican congressman said the Civil Rights Act of 1964 was recently extended to state and local government employees.

Recovers vision

Mind Your Money

Q— I recently bought a tour from a tourist agent. It was a tour to Israel with a stop off in Athens. The good hotels that were booked for us in Jerusalem and Athens were full and we had to go elsewhere to lesser hotels.

When I returned and complained to the travel agent, all I got was a sympathetic nod. No refund, no explanation, no nothing. — S.A., Silver Spring, Md.

A— Send a letter with all the details (names, addresses, amounts of money paid, dates) to American Society of Travel Agents, 360 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017. Attention — Grievance and Ethics Committee. Send a copy to your travel agent.

ASTA's committee will ask its local chapter to investigate and possibly intervene on your behalf. Sometimes they can even get you a refund.

In the future, ask your travel agent in advance about refund procedures in case something goes wrong along the vacation route. Paying everything in advance isn't always a good idea. Deposits are better. Unfortunately, some special tours demand prepayment for everything.

Q— I have a few old $1 and $2 bills which are creased and dirty. Do you know of any company that restores paper money? — J.J.S., Cambridge, Mass.

A— Don't clean the money. Experts say this could very well reduce its value. Unless the paper money is very rare, it won't have much value clean or dirty. It has to be in "like new" condition. If it is rare money, cleaning it will also erase its premium value.

It's also a mistake to clean coins or restore them in any way. Don't put valuable coins in jewelry unless they can be removed undamaged. Q— We are putting all our household goods in storage for two years while we're overseas. Will silver tires or spare tires deteriorate? — L.T., Arlington, Va.

A— No. Reduce the pressure to about 10 pounds and they'll withstand almost any climate condition. Don't put them near heat, of course, and don't store them near any heavy electrical equipment that might produce ozone gas. Ozone can ruin tires.

A— One of your readers mentioned a problem she had with a poodle urinating on the rug. You described a cleaner that would work. A simpler way is to use plain club soda water. Just squirt it on the spot and rub a little. It removes the stain. — Mrs. F.K., Loring AFB, Maine.

A— Professional cleaners say this might work on mild stains but not bad ones. The reason is the fact that most soda water is slightly acid and acts in the same way white vinegar acts (the cleaner I recommended).

'Jewelry' made from elk droppings

By GEORGE FRANK BOISE (UPI) — Senior citizens at the Lewis Clark creative workshop in Lewiston have found a way to supplement their incomes with a heretofore overlooked and untouched Idaho natural resource.

The oldsters are making cuff links, ear rings, tie tacks and necklaces out of elk droppings. The final product resembles an agate, garnet or several other gems found throughout the state. The non-profit group sponsored by the Community Action Agency, Inc., has made nearly 200 of the souvenirs, and reports they are popular "novelty" items among tourists. "It's hard to explain to people," says John Hough, Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' press secretary. "When you tell them, they usually come apart — the people, that is."

The elk "deposits" are covered with a black plastic-like substance, and sold in small jewelry boxes. Hough said he saw the items in Lewiston and "stocked up." On a recent trip to Washington, D.C., he was asked the inevitable — "what type of gem does your tie tack contain?"

"First they thought it was a garnet. They thought it was an agate. Finally, after several other gems were named, one."

Whittom charges politics

REP. W. F. (Bill) Whittom, seeking Democratic nomination for the Idaho Senate from today charged Republican legislators with "playing politics" and "underfunding" state agriculture programs.

Zeroing in on his opponent in the November election, Whittom said, "It is a bit late for Sen. John Peavey and the other Republican legislators to become concerned about the devastation of livestock feed and forage by the grasshopper infestation. Just recently Gov. Cecil Andrus has been asked to provide $65,000 from his emergency fund to help control the insects.

"As far as I am concerned," Whittom said, "the request should never have been needed. Sen. Peavey and the other Republican legislators have had an adequate opportunity to fund the Department of Agriculture insect control program during the past legislative session.

"Instead," he said, "they chose to play politics and underfund the Department of Agriculture. Thus they have nobody to blame but themselves. They were all told well ahead of time of the impending crisis but they chose to ignore the warning."

Nominees selected for council

JEROME — Selection of nominees for the Magic Valley Comprehensive Health Planning Council is now underway, by a special steering committee.

The steering committee, comprised of county commissioners and health experts from all Magic Valley Counties, will submit names of likely council members from their counties and letters will be sent to each, William L. Chancey, committee member, said.

Chancey, a county commissioner, and James Rosenbaum, assistant administrator of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, represent Twin Falls County on the steering committee.

Chancey said plans were made last week in Jerome by the steering committee and each member of the committee will make a personal contact with those invited to represent his or her county and when the selections have been confirmed a meeting of the council will be called.

Council members will elect officers and work to establish a comprehensive health plan for Magic Valley to eliminate duplication and fill gaps in health and medical services.

Bremer said guilty of murder try

UPPER MERIBORO, Md. (UPI) — A jury of six men and six women took only one hour and 35 minutes today to find Arthur Herman Bremer to be a sane man and guilty of attempting to murder Alabama Governor George C. Wallace. He was sentenced to a total of 63 years in prison.

Bremer smiled almost continually until Vincent M. Teli, 49, foreman of the jury, said "yes" to the question of sanity and repeated "guilty" nine times for the nine separate counts.

The 21-year-old former Milwaukee bobby had based his defense on a plea of insanity at the time Wallace was shot and partially paralyzed May 15 in Laurel, Md.

Bremer was found guilty on all nine counts of the charges, which included assault with intent to murder, use of a gun in a violent crime, and carrying an unregistered gun through the state of Maryland. He could be sentenced up to 125 years in prison.

Bremer reacted mildly to the sentence and sported his usual grin as the clerk of the court asked the jury for its verdict.

Both state and attorney Arthur A. Marshall Jr., and Bremer's lawyer, Benjamin Lipsitz, hammered hard at the sanity theme in their closing arguments at the Prince George's County Circuit Court.

Lipsitz, in his final plea, referred to his client at one point as a "creep" and a "nut" whose behavior had been adversely influenced by his mother.

"That mother could become the new secret weapon of the United States," he said. "She should be sent to Russia. She could infect the world. This mother is a frightening thing to contemplate. Every member of the family has been in juvenile court so often that they think they work there."

Nearing the end of his one hour and five minute summation, Lipsitz, his voice rising and his language blunt, told the jury:

"I spent a lot of time with him. That boy is a nut. The psychiatrists are going to love this guy. They will have a party with him for 100 years."

At one point, Lipsitz turned around, looked at Bremer at the defense table and commented: "That creep over there."

ARTHUR BREMER
... not insane

Lipsitz had been trying to undermine the credibility of the prosecution witnesses who presented evidence to show that Bremer was legally sane at the time that Wallace was shot.

Marshall scoffed at the defense claim that Bremer has been psychologically ill throughout his life and that he was insane when he fired the shots that semi-paralyzed Wallace at a Laurel, Md., political rally on May 15.

The Prince George's County prosecuting attorney described the defendant as a "second-rate type of assassin" who committed the crime for personal or financial reasons, "for fame — or infamy perhaps."

Stabbing his finger at Bremer, Marshall told the jury, "This is his moment of glory."

He cited a diary taken from Bremer after the Wallace shooting which showed the defendant had also considered assassinating President Nixon.

Dick Cavett remains

NEW YORK (UPI) — ABC-TV, ABC entertainment, announced which had threatened to drop in April that unless Cavett's Dick Cavett's late night talk ratings improved by July 28 his show — entirely because it trails show — would be canceled — in the ratings, bowed to viewer pressure and announced that he will appear every fourth week this year for the outstanding variety series, still trails both Paar and a variety of NBC's Johnny Carson show and entertainment programs.

Cavett will continue his 11:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. EDT five-nights-a-week show until the end of the year, the network said.

Burley chamber sets dedication

BURLEY — Chamber of commerce directors voted to sponsor a formal dedication at open house for the new National Guard Armory.

The new armory is located at the east edge of Burley near the airport.

The action was taken Thursday morning during a regular board meeting. The chamber has suggested Veterans' Day, Oct. 23, as a possible date for the dedication. Gen. James S. Brooks of the adjutant general's office, Boise, will be called Monday in regard to a definite date and program for the dedication.

Gen. Brooks was in Burley Tuesday and formally accepted the new armory from Mitchell Construction Co., Pocatello, the contractor.

The new armory will house the headquarters for Troop G, Second Squad, 116th Armored Cavalry. Capt. Ellis Lloyd, commanding officer, said the unit will move to the new headquarters immediately. Jay Schofield, president of the Burley Chamber, said he will name a committee to plan the dedication.

The directors voted to resume their regular weekly luncheon meetings Monday. They said this was necessary due to the Cassia County Fair being Aug. 16-19.

The sales clinic sponsored by the Lions Club will present the program at the Monday meeting.

On Aug. 14, the county fair queen candidates and fair board members will have the program.

Lex Kunau, chamber fair liaison officer, gave a brief report on the progress of the county fair. Mel Green is serving as parade chairman.

Grant Fillmore announced a new stage has been constructed by the Burley Exchange Club, sponsors of the Country Western Jamboree.

The jamboree is scheduled for 8 p.m. Aug. 16. Reserve seats are almost all sold out.

It was announced that the annual Farmer's Night speaker will be Burton Silcock, national director of the bureau of Land Management. Silcock is also a former Burley resident. The event is scheduled Nov. 16 at the Ponderosa Inn.

KURT DAW, Hansen, counselor at the Central Idaho 4-H Camp north of Ketchum, gives archery tips to Mitsuki Tanaka, 12, one of the Japanese teen-agers visiting Idaho and Washington.

Youths learn customs during 4-H camp week

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News Writer
KETCHUM — Campers whittling chopsticks out of twigs. A boy dressed in a kimono resting a hot dog. Those were familiar sights as 22 Japanese teen-agers joined Twin Falls County campers this week at the Central Idaho 4-H Camp, north of Ketchum.

The teen-agers were part of a group of 150 who are staying with Idaho and Washington families until Aug. 17, through arrangements made by the University of Idaho, Washington State University and the National 4-H Club. Next year, Idaho and Washington 4-Hers are scheduled to visit Japan.

Adjustments for the visitors were simple. Origami Japanese folding — was just added to the regular routine of first aid, archery, baseball and gun safety classes. Other camp activities included swimming, ice skating at Sun Valley, nature hikes and campfire singing.

Throughout the week, the question was "who was learning whose customs?" One girl, sitting on the camp porch, watched in amazement as a Japanese boy took a small square of paper and threw a quick series of folds and transformed it into a tight, neat airplane.

Another visitor took over the piano and professionally played a variety of American songs. The 4-Hers got a further taste of Japanese life as the visitors presented an hour-long show Wednesday night. Demonstrated was how to put on a kimono and then the group visitors sang a line of a song fanned out into the audience and on a cue of "please" from a small Japanese boy, the 4-Hers repeated the line, referring to a group sing during which the blackboard.

Rights group extension OK'd

By ROY McQUEE
WASHINGTON (UPI) — In less than a minute and without debate, the Senate voted Friday to extend the U.S. Civil Rights Commission for five years, give it jurisdiction over sex discrimination, and outlaw unwarranted government snooping against its employees.

The bill, which would provide $40.5 million for the agency's operations through June 30, 1978, now goes to the House, which had voted less money and made no mention of protection for government workers. A conference committee will negotiate differences between the two bills. The commission was established in 1957 solely to make studies and recommendations in instances of discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion and national origin. President Nixon's request, both the House and Senate have expanded its jurisdiction to include sex discrimination.

Rupert engineer talks to chamber about water

RUPERT — Ronald Klebe, Rupert City engineer, was the speaker during the Thursday meeting of commerce luncheon meeting.

"Waste Water Control" was the topic discussed by Klebe. "Records in 1918 show the same problems that Rupert has today," said Klebe. During that period of time three large septic tanks and a drain field system were built by the city where the Kraft Foods plant now stands. A lift station was installed at Ninth and G Street which is still in operation today, Klebe reported.

In 1936 the city started to upgrade them and installed a clarifier digester system which was sufficient for several years.

In 1960 some $300,000 was spent by the city of Rupert for a waste plant located at 200 South 50 West. At the time the plant was built planners estimated the plant would handle growth in the area for some 20 years. Klebe told the chamber members. The clarifier and digester system could handle some two million gallons per day. This plant is still operating.

"Now we have once again reached the point of needing to expand," Klebe said. "Plans are now for expanding the present plant and lines at a cost of about $1.5 million which will be financed by federal one half, state and city one-fourth each and is a three year project," Klebe reported.

Presently there are 27 miles of lines, 12 lift stations with two pumps at each station.

New state regulations have been written requiring reduced percentage of solids permitted to go into the river. Presently the plant is operating on a 80 per cent reduction of solids. The state regulations call for 95 per cent. There is five miles of line from the plant to the river. To obtain federal funds new rules or guidelines have been written. Industries using the most water are required to pay a fair share according to readings on meters. The federal rules also state how many employees shall be working as maintenance crews.

Also in the expansion program is a new trunk line on A street which will take pressure off the H Street areas. "If we just had people in our community and no industry we would still have to upgrade our waste water system," said Klebe.

Pete Ford, chamber president, announced a board of directors meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Monday at the chamber office.

Easiest season recorded

BOISE (UPI) — Despite a marked increase in the frequency of man and lightning-caused fires in Idaho this year, the State Department of Public Lands has termed it "one of our easiest seasons on record."

According to Forest Division Chief John Crumb, fire danger ratings for the first week in August are unusually low.

"Normally, we expect the ratings to be in the 'very high' or 'extreme' categories, but so far, we've stayed consistently at 'moderate' and 'high,'" he said. "Most of our luck this year has been due to the number of thunderstorms dropping enough rain to douse lightning-caused fires. Usually, we get more lightning and no rainfall," he added.

By the end of July last year, 88 blazes had been reported to the department, 61 caused by human carelessness and only 37 started by lightning. This year, 88 man-caused fires have been reported so far, supplemented by a mammoth total of 177 lightning fires.

Gem candidates file expenses

BOISE (UPI)—Five more candidates for the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives have filed campaign disclosure statements with the secretary of state's office.

Under a new law, all candidates for federal office are required to file a written statement of their expenses and contributions five days before an election.

Wayne Kidwell, Republican congressional hopeful, said income and contributions thus far in his campaign totaled $28,352 with expenses of $26,940. He showed a personal loan of $4,000.

In another statement, Willis Ludlow, a democratic candidate for congress, reported his total income during the campaign at $2,432. According to his statement, he has spent $2,350 for his campaign.

Bob Purcell, Republican aspirant for First District congress, reported $12,973 in expenses with $11,155 in income.

In the third pre-primary campaign statement, Democrat William E. Davis said he has spent $23,377 in his bid for the Senate. He reported income of $24,244.

Merry Pet

Linda Merry, DVM

Question: What do you think of shaving a dog with a very thick coat for the summer? Our dog is part pomeranian and he is so hot that he pants almost all the time from May to September.

Answer: Helping a dog out of his fur coat is a common practice and not a bad idea in many cases. I don't like to see a dog "shaved" clear to the skin, however, unless the coat is so matted there's no other choice. Any clip done with electric clippers will be short but different sized blades can be used to vary hair length from about one quarter inch long to leaving the dog in his BVD's.

Naturally, some consideration should then be given to letting the dog adjust to his new short-short state. One last word about clips, if once it's long you don't like it, there's no need for hysteria—it will grow back and sooner than you might think.

Question: Our dog ran away about a week ago. He was out on the town for two days. When he came back he had a very runny diarrhea and now we can see streaks of blood in the stool. I don't see any worms. Would you think it's just change of diet? He doesn't vomit or eat any grass.

Answer: A change of cuisine will often cause gastric upset but usually not for a week and to the extent of blood in the stool. I would suspect that Rover picked up some extra buddies named Coccidia on his spree. Coccidia are protozoan parasites far too small to see with the naked eye. They invade the intestinal mucosa, multiply and cause severe irritation, diarrhea, and sometimes frank bleeding into the stool.

They are diagnosed by seeing their eggs under the microscope in a fecal (stool) flotation. Coccidia don't just give up and go away after awhile. They stay happily in residence multiplying and doing their thing until they are rooted out by proper and persistent antibiotic therapy.

Rover's veterinarian can check to see if he's been invaded and then prescribe the correct treatment.

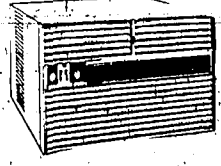

If you have a question about your pet, send it to The Merry Pet column, c/o the Times-News.

★ HERE IT IS... THE McCLURE VOTING RECORD ON MAJOR ISSUES. IT'S A GOOD ONE.

Check it yourself.

The McClure voting record reflects action on behalf of Idahoans and the nation. Why? Because Jim McClure has listened to Idahoans.

Just one example is the use of now famous McClure questionnaires to citizens covering issues of the day... some 130,000 per year... each year... 1967-1972.

Here's one instance when representation has been concerned about people and has reflected what they thought and felt.

With good reason, too... Jim McClure has "kept in touch."

The result - leadership that's responsive to the people.

9/14/67: FOR cutting $50 million from the non-highway part of the Appalachian Regional Development authorization.

9/14/67: AGAINST the authorization of $887 million for Appalachian Regional Development programs and $75 million for various other regional programs - development for poorer areas should be on a nationwide basis without singling out certain areas for special treatment at the taxpayer's expense.

9/19/67: AGAINST a two-year Food Stamp authorization - favored a one-year authorization only.

11/7/67: AGAINST a new foreign aid authorization of $2.675 billion.

6/26/68: FOR a $100 million cut in proposed appropriations for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

3/12/69: AGAINST requiring American tax payers to provide funds for 50 year foreign loans at a 4 percent service charge but no interest, and a ten year grace period before payments would start.

3/19/69: AGAINST increasing the national debt limit. McClure has consistently voted against debt limit increases because they make it easier to spend and spend.

5/21/69: FOR the bill which, while appropriating $3.8 billion in supplemental appropriations for fiscal 1969, imposed a spending ceiling of approximately $193 billion for fiscal 1970.

Heated TF sheriff race highlights Tuesday vote

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — The heated campaign for the Republican nomination for Twin Falls sheriff draws to a close Tuesday, along with unopposed races for party nominations for other county offices.

Paul Corder, sheriff since he was appointed to the job to fulfill an unexpired term in 1967, is seeking another four-year term in the job.

But Ron Goodman, a former deputy under Corder and a veteran of several years on the Las Vegas, Nev., police force, is challenging the incumbent in a race that has generated ill feeling on both sides of the fence.

There is no Democrat seeking the nomination to the office.

Present assistant county prosecuting attorney Robert Galley is seeking his party's nomination for the prosecuting attorney's job. He is without primary opposition in trying to replace Leon Smith, who is not seeking another term.

Golden Barnett, a Twin Falls attorney, is the lone Democrat on the ballot for the position to oppose Galley in the November election.

County Commissioner William Chancey, a two-term incumbent, is unopposed for the Republican nomination for another term, while Robert Geer, Twin Falls, is the Democrat who will oppose Chancey in November.

Merl Leonard, Republican County commissioner, is the only candidate of either party to seek the first district seat.

Assessor Ronald Taylor, Republican, is seeking re-election to another term. There is no Democrat seeking the position.

County Coroner Cloyce O. Edwards, Republican, is also seeking re-election with no opposition from either party.

Camas County has 3-way race for sheriff bid

By ROBERT DANIEL
Times-News Writer

FAIRFIELD — Camas County has a three-way race for Republican nomination of a candidate for sheriff. Incumbent Paul Cox is being challenged by Calvin McNeal and Paul Bracy. No one filed on the Democratic ticket.

Paul Bracy is a retired Navy man. He spent 20 years in the Navy and then 15 years as a test specialist at Mare Island in California, before moving to Fairfield a little over a year ago with his family. He has worked with the shore patrol and assisted with the highway patrol at Memphis, Tenn., while serving in the Navy. He feels that being retired would give him full time to devote to the job of county sheriff.

Calvin McNeal has resided in Fairfield for quite a few years and was appointed to the post of village marshal this past spring. He has been in the restaurant and construction business since moving to Fairfield with his family.

Incumbent Sheriff Paul Cox has served eight years as Camas County sheriff. He has served as civil defense director for 24 years. He holds an advanced certificate in law enforcement. He served as president of the Magic Valley Peace Officers Association in 1959.

Camas County has been moved from Gooding to Elmore County Legislative District No. 22 and Howard K. Fleming and Dr. John Kieffer, both Mountain Home, have filed for the Democratic nomination as state senator. J. Wilson Steen has filed on the Republican ticket. Glenns Ferry, Virgil L. Kraus, Mountain Home, has filed for the legislative and Charles Lee Barron, of R. Corral, is a late filer for the nomination.

Lone Demo running for TF area solon

TWIN FALLS — Six Republicans and a lone Democrat are running for nomination Tuesday to legislative seats in the two Twin Falls County legislative districts.

In district 24, which takes in the western portion of the county, Sen. John M. Barker, Buhl, head of the Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee, is unopposed for his party's nomination for another term.

Republican representatives running for re-election include William J. Lanting, Hollister, House speaker, and William Roberts, Buhl, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

The lone Democrat filed for the primary is Raymond E. Strickland Sr., Buhl, who will oppose Barker in the November election for a Senate seat.

In district 25, including the eastern half of the county, Sen. Richard S. High, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, is unopposed for re-nomination. Ray Lincoln, Twin Falls, will seek another term as state Representative, while a Republican newcomer, Ralph E. Olmstead, Twin Falls, is unopposed for the nomination for the Representative seat being vacated by the retiring Rep. Jack D. Chaborn.

No Democrats have filed for the party's nomination for any of the three district 25 seats.

Lincoln lists only 1 contest

By MELBA THORNE
Times-News Writer

SHOSHONE — There will be but one contest in the Lincoln County primary election.

This will be on the Republican ticket in the office of coroner, for which incumbent R. G. Neher, M.D., is being opposed by newcomer William A. Turska.

However, there will be another issue which is of keen interest to county citizens. The formation of a recreation district will be voted upon.

Those promoting the formation of such a district are doing so for the purpose of securing financing or maintenance of a possible swimming pool construction in Shoshone. There is no pool in the county at this time, and a number of citizens have been working toward such a structure for several months now. Passage of the issue would guarantee the means of supporting the pool once it is constructed.

Other candidates for the primary election on the Republican ticket are newcomer Ward A. Mills, seeking the post of county commissioner, district 1, vacated by Burrell Williams; incumbent C. F. Chatfield, for county commissioner district 2; Billy J. Anderson, present deputy sheriff, running for the office of sheriff. Thomas W. Conner, who has been sheriff for 20 years, declined to run again. On the Democratic ticket William Kerner is running for the post of county commissioner, first district and incumbent Howard E. Adkins is again seeking the post of prosecuting attorney.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Aug. 8. Polling places in the county include American Legion Hall, Shoshone, for precinct No. 1; Lincoln school, Shoshone, precinct 2; Wood River Grange Hall, north Shoshone, for precinct 3; Richfield Grange Hall, Richfield, for precinct 4; Dietrich Grange Hall, Dietrich, for precinct 5, and Joe Taylor residence, north of Paul, for precinct 6.

There will be four ballots to mark for Lincoln County residents, primary election, ballots for political office aspirants, judicial ballot for judges, the ballot on formation of a recreation district in the county and the regional airport ballot.

Now's the time to start your winter vacation

by changing to electric heat

How long have you been promising yourself and your family a vacation from winter heating problems? And what better time could you choose than during warm weather when the change can be made with a minimum of inconvenience?

Change now to the comfort and cleanliness of flameless electric heat, to freedom from drafts, individual thermostat control, quiet operation, dependable, space-saving convenience. Why waste your time fussing with an inadequate heating system when there are so many things you would rather be doing? Get all the facts and you'll get electric heat!

In this area, electric heating is an "off-peak" service from Idaho Power's system because our yearly peak occurs on a hot summer day, usually in July.

Electric heating does not require added generators — it uses generating capacity already in existence to meet summer demands for air conditioning and irrigation pumping.

For help in making your choice from the many practical and efficient electric heating systems now available, just call your local Idaho Power office.

Firm net earnings show mild decline

NEW YORK (UPI) — American Smelting and Refining Co. (ASARCO) has reported net earnings for the second quarter of $12 million or 46 cents per common share. That compares with $19.9 million or 75 cents per share in the 1971 period. Domestic copper earnings were adversely affected by production cutbacks necessary to maintain air quality standards at ASARCO's smelters and by a mechanical breakdown at the Hayden, Ariz., plant. In addition, there were declines in ASARCO's equity in the earnings of companies approximately 50 per cent owned, due to lower copper prices, and in dividends and interest from investments. A sharp increase in interest expense on borrowings to finance acquisitions and new plant construction also contributed to lower earnings.

Beef price boost seen by Gem aide

BOISE (UPI)—A spokesman for the Idaho Cattle Feeders Association says outlawing of DES in cattle feed means the consumer will pay more for beef or the rancher will make less money on his cattle.

Tom Hovenden, secretary manager of the association, referred to Tuesday's federal Food and Drug Administration decision that bans use of the estrogen-like substance from all but pellet injections.

"DES is not a synthetic hormone," Hovenden said. "The product has been added to oral feed for cattle for 17 years at the rate of 10 milligrams per animal per day."

"It increases their ability to regain nitrogen or store protein and increases the amount of production with a given amount of feed."

"The increase can range up to 16 per cent," he said. He said cattle feeders will have to report to other forms of stimulants capable of increasing gains up to 10 or 12 per cent and this will mean that more feed will be needed, thus increasing production costs.

"Either the consumer will pay more for the beef or the rancher will take less for his cattle," Hovenden said.

"There is no room in current cattle feeding, meat packing and retailing margins for this difference to be absorbed by any of the so-called 'middle men,'" Hovenden said.

DES ban bill vote pressed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Supporters of legislation to immediately ban use of DES, a livestock growth stimulant which has been shown to cause cancer, hope to bring the measure to Senate vote within the next two weeks.

The bill, approved by a Senate subcommittee Thursday, was sponsored by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who has been critical of a government decision to delay a total DES ban until January.

According to a spokesman for the subcommittee, Proxmire's bill would outlaw all form of DES (Diethylstilbestrol) with no phase-out period.

The Food and Drug Administration said Wednesday that the manufacture of DES would be banned immediately but current supplies could be used until Jan. 1. The FDA also said use of a low-level "implant" form of the synthetic hormone could continue pending results of further tests because this form has not yet been shown to result in residues in cattle and sheep livers.

Meat carcass data service expanding

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A government service which helps cattlemen improve their herds by reporting how much lean meat is produced from individual animals will be expanded to nationwide operation, the Agriculture Department said Friday.

The "Carcass Data" service had operated until now on a pilot basis in Iowa, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. Officials said it will be offered in the future through cooperating livestock groups in all parts of the country.

Producers using the service will pay the full cost through fees, spokesmen explained. In using the system, cattlemen buy special tags from cooperating associations. When the tagged cattle go to slaughter, government meat inspectors fill out forms reporting on the quality and meat yield of each animal, and return the data to livestock associations which report to the producers.

Q—Would you please explain the sentence in a recent column in which you said the Russians used vitamin C to induce abortions?—J.E.I., Lake Villa, Ill.

A—Several years ago, the Bulletin of Experimental Biology and Medicine (Moscow) reported an experiment in which two Russian believed they had been able to induce abortions in 16 out of 20 women by a daily use of massive doses (six grams) of vitamin C.

I mentioned the experiment to make the point that massive doses of vitamin C for anything, for that matter, might be harmful. The Russian experiment was not well documented, but it's another indication that massive doses of vitamins are experimental drugs, not food supplements. While some doctors who heard of this Russian experiment suspect that massive doses of vitamin C can make certain significant changes in the body chemistry, none of them felt enough was known about the "whys and hows" to advise anyone to use this procedure as an abortion method. Much more experimental work is needed.

A—I am thinking of trying "zoysia" grass plugs in my lawn. Where can I get some sound, neutral advice on this?—G.K., Arnold, Pa.

A—Zoysia is a hardy form of grass but it's not the "miracle lawn" that some advertisements make it out to be. It's only suitable for use in some climate areas and it's sensitive to grass "rust" and billbugs.

Hearing off

BOISE—A public hearing on proposed rules and regulations for environmental protection at livestock confinement facilities has been postponed.

Officials of the Idaho Department of Health said Friday the hearing—originally set for Thursday in Boise—was postponed after meetings conducted across the state showed a need for more evaluation of potential problem areas.

The delay will permit the board of environmental protection and health to be advised of the proposed regulations and of the findings of the series of meetings with cattlemen and dairy operators.

Farmer $ share 40 cents

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rising farm prices held the farmer's share of the consumer food dollar in the second quarter of 1972 at 40 cents, unchanged from the first quarter and 2 cents above a year earlier, the Agriculture Department reported today.

The report said the farm up only 8 per cent from 20 years earlier.

Department economists said in a report that second-quarter returns to farmers for food in a typical market basket were up 8.1 per cent from a year earlier, but retail food prices went up only 3.7 per cent. Part of the farm-price increase was absorbed before reaching consumers because processors and middlemen trimmed their margins, the report explained.

Unfit for hog feed

also claim McKinney ran them off with a shotgun when they tried to inspect his farm May 8, however.

Since the State Department of Agriculture and Markets decided this week that Charles McKinney of nearby Solvick was giving his pigs "unauthorized" garbage brought from two downtown Albany hotels.

Albany County Judge Martin Schenck issued a temporary restraining order barring McKinney from continuing the practice pending another hearing Aug. 18.

The department claims the untreated hotel garbage contains cans and silverware, and could cause the spread of cholera and trichinosis in both pigs and humans.

Player has PGA lead

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (UPI)—Gary Player, seldom using a driver and relying instead on accuracy and a hot putter, shot into the third-round lead of the PGA Championship on a three-under-par 67 Saturday, matching the best score of the tournament.

Player, the 1962 PGA champ and golf's fourth leading all-time money winner, was the only player in the field able to break par for 54 holes over Oakland Hills Country Club—a long and demanding test that demands straight drives and sharp putting.

His total of one-under 209 was one stroke better than former U.S. Open champion Billy Casper, who matched Player's 67 to slip into second place at even-par 210.

There was a three-way tie for third at 211 among Jerry Heard, the second round leader who fell back after arguing with a photographer and finished at 72 Saturday, and longshot Phil Rodgers and Gay Brewer, who had 68 and 79, respectively.

Larry Wise, a longshot club professional from Washington, D.C., who was the first to shoot a 67 Saturday, headed a group of 213. The others at that figure were Doug Sanders, Tommy Aaron and Jim Wiechers.

Jim Jamieson was alone at 214 and Ray Floyd, Charles Coody, Lanny Wadkins and Dan Sikes were at 214. Jack Nicklaus, the defending champion, had his best round of the week, a 68, and moved into contention at 216, six shots off.

Follmer sets track record

LEXINGTON, Ohio (UPI)—George Follmer of Arcadia, Calif., set a new track record of 1:24.01 in qualifying Saturday to take the pole position for Sunday's $83,000 Canadian-American Challenge Series race at Mid-Ohio Sports Car Course here.

Follmer, a veteran of sports car and Indianapolis 500 racing, drove his Rober Penske prepared Porsche 917-10 to an average speed of 102.85 miles per hour over the twisting 2.4 mile Mid-Ohio course to capture qualifying honors and a check for $5,000.

He broke the record set by Englishman Denis Hulme in 1969 of 1:25.0 and 100.58 m.p.h.

the lead. Lee Trevino also was at 214 and Arnold Palmer, still struggling with his putter and making a double-bogey at the feared 18th hole, was at 216.

Player said his round was one of the best he ever has played in this country. The little South African repeatedly has called Oakland Hills the best—and toughest—U.S. course he has seen.

"I wanted a 60 so bad, I could taste it," he said. "But I really did play well to shoot 67 with two bogeys on this course."

Relying heavily on three-woods or two-irons off the tee instead of using the normal driver, Player rarely was in trouble.

He one-putted seven times, sinking birdie putts of 25 feet or longer four times. His bogeys resulted from hitting into sand traps of the ninth green and off the 18th tee, but almost everyone makes bogeys on the 18th at Oakland Hills.

"I think it will be a very exciting day tomorrow (Sunday)," Player said with a little smile. "The tournament doesn't really start until the 10th hole tomorrow."

Player caught Heard midway through the round when Heard, irritated by a news photographer's clicking shutter, argued with the photographer at the ninth green and then made a bogey.

Player took the lead all alone by making a 30-foot birdie putt at the 173-yard, 13th hole, and Heard then fell another shot off the pace by three-putting for a bogey at the 14th hole.

Casper, a non-winner this year, missed only two greens, said he was "very encouraged with his game" and that "everything has come back into focus."

"I started striking the ball better," said Casper, who is just ahead of Player and behind Nicklaus and Palmer on the all-time money winning list. "I'm concentrating and not throwing shots away foolishly which is something I have been doing lately."

Heard, a 25-year-old Californian who has won more money at an earlier age than any golfer in history except Nicklaus, said he wasn't disappointed despite losing the lead.

"I played pretty well except for missing two three-foot putts," he said, referring to the third and 14th holes.

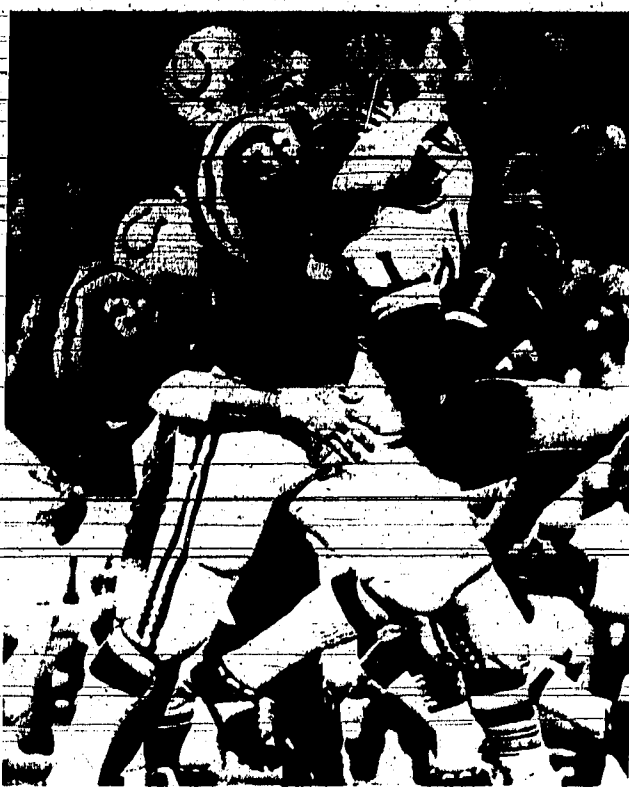

But Heard was not very happy about the incident with the photographer.

"I got up over my tee shot on the ninth hole and I was getting ready to hit it and all of a sudden, I heard three or four shots click off," he said.

"I should have backed up and not hit the ball but I went ahead and hit it, and I hit a bad shot."

"There's no excuse for something like that. The photographers can take all the pictures they want. But they shouldn't be shooting during a guy's swing."

Sharks attack most of their victims between the hours of 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. in two to three feet of water about 300 feet from shore, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Riggins' TD run in final 33 seconds lets Jets top 49ers

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Fullback John Riggins raced 26 yards for a touchdown with 33 seconds left Saturday night to give the New York Jets a 17-

10 victory over San Francisco in a pre-season National Football League contest.

The victory, however, was a costly one for the Jets, who lost the services of tight end Rich Caster for at least four weeks with an injured knee. Caster twisted his knee in the first half.

Riggins' run capped a 63-yard march which was kept alive by a clutch 20-yard third down pass from Bob Davis to Rocky Turner which put the ball on the San Francisco 43.

After a penalty moved the ball to the Forty Niners' 38, Riggins carried twice to the 26 before his touchdown gallop.

San Francisco scored its only touchdown in the second quarter when quarterback Steve Spurrier hit Jimmy Thomas with a 47-yard toss. The Forty Niners had opened the scoring in the first quarter on a 25-yard field goal by Bruce Gossett.

Davis, who took over for Joe Namath in the second quarter, directed a quick 52-yard scoring drive for the Jets, hitting Noel Eddie Bell twice for 22, and 30 yards. Bell out-maneuvered San Francisco defender Bruce Taylor for the touchdown on the second grab with 1:17 left in the half.

New York's Bobby Howfield kicked a 40-yard field goal to tie the game 10-10 in the third period.

Namath saw only limited action and completed four of seven passes for 49 yards.

Davis hit nine of 19 for 121 yards and Spurrier, filling in for John Brodie, connected on 21 of 36 for 268.

Namath said he had no problems with his knees which kept him sidelined most of last season. "I was throwing too early, feeling some pressure which wasn't there," he said.

"But I felt I had something on the ball."

Steelers stun NY on 2 quick scores

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Pittsburgh Steelers took command with a pair of explosive touchdowns in less than 90 seconds in the second period and went on to defeat the New York Giants, 28-10, in a National Football League pre-season game Saturday night.

The Steelers, in their opening pre-season game, accomplished a surge in two plays. After a New York punt pushed the Steelers back to their 20-yard line, wide receiver Frank Lewis hauled in a pass by Bob Leahy and sprinted 80 yards for a touchdown to give his team a 14-0 lead.

Tom Blanchard boomed a 56-yard punt for the Giants which outdistanced his coverage and Glen Edwards of the Steelers sped 77 yards up the middle for another score for Pittsburgh.

The Giants' first score came seconds before the end of the first half when Pete Gogolak booted a 45-yard field goal. The score was set up when a Steeler field goal attempt was blocked.

Terry Bradshaw accounted for the Steelers' opening score in the first period when he tossed an 11-yard pass to Ron Shanklin who was alone in the end zone. Later Bradshaw suffered a bruised knee and Leahy, who was on the taxi squad last season, took over the quarterbacking chore.

Freetex tops Riva Ridge

OCEANPORT, N.J. (UPI)—Freetex came from off the pace to run down odds-on Riva Ridge and front-runner King's Bishop for an upset victory in the $100,000 Monmouth Invitational Handicap Saturday.

Riva Ridge, making his first start since winning the Hollywood Derby on July 1, made a bid to go by King's Bishop leaving the backstretch and all through the last turn, then faltered to finish fourth. Cloudy Dawn came on to be third.

Mike Hole rode a measured race on Freetex, who is owned by the Middletown Stable of Joseph and William Stivola of nearby Middletown, N.J. Keeping him along the rail to save ground in fifth place most of the way, Hole took the son of Vortex to mid-track only at the head of the homestretch to pass Riva Ridge and King's Bishop.

Nicklaus appears confident going into final day of PGA

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus scores you drive but his iron second shot only seemed to be good. He goes out, shoots a 31 on the front nine, follows that with a "second round" of 37 on the back side of Oakland Hills, the rugged South Course, and then talks about improving on his 68.

In two cracks at the course where the Professional Golfers' Association Championship is being contested this year, no one scored lower than 68 and only one golfer, Jerry Heard, was below par of 140.

"I improved by seven shots today (Saturday)," he said, "another three or four tomorrow (Sunday) and we'll see what happens."

"I feel like I can play here now," the blond from Columbus, Ohio, said after his round, which included the lowest total of either nine shot by any one in the tournament.

Nicklaus improved with four birdies on the front nine but ran into trouble on the 567-yard, par-five 12th. He hit a good drive but his iron second shot the trap in front of the green. "I hit it but it fell back into my footprint—another good break—but then, just after I hit it, the wind hit me in the face and I knew I was in trouble," he said. "I buried it under the lip (of the trap) but it fell back into my footprint—another good break—and finally blasted out to 60 feet, where I two-putted."

Pack drubs Cincinnati

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—The Green Bay Packers scored three first half touchdowns and went on to beat the Cincinnati Bengals 24-14 in a National Football League exhibition game Saturday night.

Dave Hampton ran 19 yards up the middle on the Packers opening play, and then second year fullback John Brockington ended by scoring from the two-yard line with 8:45 left in the first quarter.

Virgil Carter missed on his first five passing attempts and the Bengals were held to minus three yards on the first six plays.

But with six minutes to go in the first quarter Cincinnati linebacker Bill Bergery recovered a Scott Hunter fumble on the Bengal 45. After driving as deep as the Packers five yard line, the Bengals settled for a 12-yard Horst Muhlmann field goal, narrowing the gap 7-3.

On the fourth goal play from the Bengal one yard line early in the second quarter, Hunter faked a hand off to Brockington and ran in untouched around the right end for another touchdown to make it 14-3.

After fielding a punt, the Packers then drove from their own 38 to the Bengal 40 midway in the second period. Hunter, who called signals, found Carroll Dale along on the right sideline and produced another score.

Following the Packers' first punt early in the third quarter, Cincinnati tried a 52-yard field goal but Muhlmann's attempt was short. It was after Ken Duncan punt minutes later that Casanova, a first year man from LSU took the kick on his own 48 and threaded his way past several Packers for the Bengals only touchdown.

A bad snap cost the Bengals an extra point, and the Packers led 21-9 with 10:27 in the third period.

Marcel, who brought the 66,000 fans to their feet in the first period by booming two kickoffs into the end zone, kicked a 25-yard field goal for a 24-9 Green Bay lead with 3:32 in the third quarter.

Early in the fourth period Muhlmann made a 25-yard field goal attempt to make the score 24-12.

Green Bay added two points to the Bengals total for a safety at 1:57 remaining in the game.

Valentino, LA tip Padres 1-0

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Bobby Valentino's two-out single in the eighth-inning scored Manny Mota from third base with the only run of the game Saturday night as the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the San Diego Padres, 1-0.

Mota started the eighth by walking on a full count. He was sacrificed to second by Willie Davis. Mota took third on Bill Buckner's fly out to center field and Wes Parker was walked intentionally.

Valentino's game-winning hit was only the fourth of the contest off loser Clay Kirby. Kirby had yielded only one run in his previous 25 innings.

Petrocelli has six RBIs

BOSTON (UPI)—Rico Petrocelli drove in all six runs with his third grand slam homer of the year and a two-run double Saturday as the Boston Red Sox whipped the Baltimore Orioles 6-3 for their fourth straight win.

Doug Griffin started the decisive third inning for the red Sox by bunting for a base hit and Carl Yastrzemski singled and Reggie Smith walked to load the bases.

Petrocelli chased Baltimore starter Dave McNally by lining a high shot into the left field screen for a 6-2 lead. It was the eighth grand slam home run of his career.

The Orioles took a 2-0 lead in the first inning as Don Baylor singled home Paul Blair and Bob Grich stole home on the front end of a double steal he worked with Baylor.

Eagles stay under wraps

READING, Pa. (UPI)—Coach Eddie Khayat says his Philadelphia Eagles won't take the wraps off their offense until Monday's pre-season opener with the New Orleans Saints.

Khayat ran his charges through a closed-door scrimmage Saturday at their Albright College training camp in preparation for the hometown opener. He said the team worked on several game plays which he wanted the Saints to be the first one-to-see.

Four men were cut from the squad after Friday's sessions, leaving the camp with 75 players in camp. Released were linebacker Steve Blebenberg of Oregon State, wide receiver Bill Haddock of Fairmount (W.Va.) State, linebacker Len Pettigrew of Ashland (Ohio) College and center Jim Haynes of Southern Mississippi.

While all-pro safety Bill Bradley and defensive tackle Ernie Calloway were back in camp following contract squabbles, wide receiver Ben Hawkins remained plagued by a dislocated toe.

Aussie runner leaves team

Farrington told stunned team officials at Sydney airport as the New South Wales contingent left for Melbourne Saturday he would not go because he wasn't 100 per cent fit.

Ranked as one of the two best marathon runners in the world last year, Farrington was looking forward to going to Munich. However, he went for a run Saturday morning and found his shins were sore.

Farrington, 30, the captain of the track and field team, had only just recovered from an injury to his foot six weeks ago when he took a bone.

"The bone injury put my training back and when I began running 22 miles a day again in training, it was just too much,

ACROBAT Felix Millan pulled off a backflip cartwheel and came out uninjured after being dumped Friday night by sliding Bobby Tolon of the Redlegs. Cincinnati won the game 6-5 in 10 innings. (UPI telephoto)

O'Leary has grid call

TWIN FALLS — Freshman football practice at Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School will begin Aug. 19 at 9 a.m. at the Lincoln School field.

Coach Glenn Sheen said physical examination forms may be obtained by prospective players from the school principal's office from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. any day.

There will be an extra period — not sudden death — if the score is tied at the end of regulation time. In that instance, the two captains again will be called to midfield for a coin toss with the option being offense or defense. There will be no kickoff in the extra period. After the coin-flip winner makes his choice, the other will select the choice of goals to defend and the entire overtime period is played toward that goal.

Whitworth leads in golf meet

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Tour veteran Kathy Whitworth scored a course record-tying 68, three under par, to take the lead in the second round of the Knoxville Ladies Golf Classic at Deane Hill Country Club.

Miss Whitworth had a 38 hole score of 139, four shots better than Carol Mann and Gloria Ehret, who finished at 143.

First round leader Diane Patterson skied to a 78 in the second-day's action and was well back at 147.

Four lady golfers were in at 144, four over par. They were Clifford Ann Creed, who had a 69 Saturday; Jo Ann Prentice, who shot her second straight 72; Shelley Hamlin, whose 70 was one of only three subpar rounds; and Sandra Haynie, who was three over 74 Saturday.

Allison qualifies

TAIADEGA, Ala. (UPI)—Donnie Allison of Hueytown, Ala., was clocked Saturday at a speed of 184.872 miles per hour to lead qualifying for the final 10 spots in the 50-car field for the Talladega 500 stock car race Sunday.

Allison was temporarily sidelined Friday when his 1972 Ford was withdrawn by owner Bud Moore for fear that the car would not be competitive in the $135,000 race on the 2.66 mile track at Alabama International Motor Speedway.

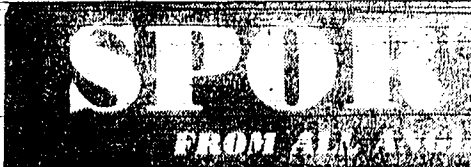

Allison made his qualifying run in a 1972 Plymouth owned by Jimmy Crawford, an airline pilot from Atlanta. His speed was the eighth best recorded since qualifying began Thursday.

Okker, Lutz gain finals

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UPI)—Unseeded pro Bob Lutz, the 24-year-old giant killer, became the first American in eight years to reach the finals of the U.S. Professional Tennis Championships Saturday with a decisive upset over sixth-seeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3.

Tom Okker, 28, the little Dutchman, saved four set points and won two tiebreak games in dramatic fashion to upend another American, Arthur Ashe, 7-6, 7-6, 6-3, in the second semifinal match at the Longwood Cricket Club.

First off we must correct ourselves from last week's item when we noted that the Southern Athletic Conference would use statistics to break all ties developing in football games this year. The correct method is outlined for us by Glen Maughan, Minico High School principal.

There will be an extra period — not sudden death — if the score is tied at the end of regulation time. In that instance, the two captains again will be called to midfield for a coin toss with the option being offense or defense. There will be no kickoff in the extra period. After the coin-flip winner makes his choice, the other will select the choice of goals to defend and the entire overtime period is played toward that goal.

The offensive team will receive possession of the ball at the opponent's 10-yard line and then will have four plays in which to try to score. If unsuccessful, the other team then will take possession at the same 10-yard line and receive four plays.

The ramifications of the playoff are these. If the offensive team fumbles or throws the ball and the defensive team either picks up the

Finley may not pay fine

CHICAGO (UPI)—Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley said Saturday "it hasn't been decided if he will pay a $500 fine issued against him in a reprimand by baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn."

Kuhn stated earlier Saturday he had "fined and reprimanded" Finley "personally" for statements the owner made concerning Kuhn's action during the signing of Vida Blue last May.

Finley said, "It hasn't been decided if he will pay the fine within the stipulated 10 day period. If it will be paid, it will be under protest."

The controversy began when Kuhn entered contract negotiations between Blue and Finley. The contract talks broke off during a disagreement over the wording of the $63,000 contract and Kuhn ordered Finley to keep the $63,000 figure on the table. Finley then issued a statement objecting to the order.

"I thought it was improper for the commissioner to order that any specific salary offer be made or kept open," Finley said Saturday. "Also I thought it was unfair to order a club to keep an offer open indefinitely without any obligation on the player to accept that offer."

"The commissioner has not ruled that I was wrong in my beliefs. He has taken disciplinary action against me simply because my statement was made public."

"I vehemently disagree with the action of the commissioner. I shall do everything possible to uphold my right to speak out and shall take all action available to me to overturn the commissioner's disciplinary action against me."

Chargers rip Atlanta

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Off-season acquisition Dave Williams caught two long touchdown passes and set up a third score as the San Diego Chargers downed the Atlanta Falcons, 30-7, Saturday night in their National Football League exhibition opener.

The former St. Louis wide receiver took his first pass over center from veteran John Hadl, at Atlanta's 43, slipped one tackle and outdistanced two rookie safeties into the end zone to cap the 59-yard scoring drive. This came with 8:15 left in the first quarter and gave the Chargers a 6-0 lead.

A 41-yard Hadl to Williams pass early in the second period set up a 13-yard field goal by rookie Bill McClard, who had missed the first extra point try.

Marty Domres then hit Williams on a 35-yard scoring pass play with 5:18 left in the half for a 16-0 lead. Williams outfought rookie cornerback Oscar Jenkins for the ball on the six and bulled over the goal line.

Big Sky coaches select Idaho, BSC in grid race

BOISE (UPI) — Big Sky Conference football coaches predicted Saturday the University of Idaho and Boise State College will be the teams to beat for the conference crown this fall.

During the final day of the annual football coaches meeting and clinic coaches from the University of Idaho, Idaho State, BSC, Northern Arizona, Weber State, University of Montana, and Montana State appeared for a news conference to discuss prospects for the coming season.

Idaho head coach Don Robbins said they face depth problems but seven offensive players are returning. Players Fred Repley graduated and Ricks Simmons signed a professional baseball contract to cut back talent, but Robbins said the Vandals should be in good shape, if injuries are kept to a minimum.

NCAA reported hesitant on Guthrie case

BOISE (UPI) — Boise State football coach Tony Knap said Saturday the NCAA "Does not seem too excited" to handle the case of Boise quarterback Eric Guthrie, who admitted signing a professional baseball contract before he entered Boise State.

Guthrie, who graduated from BSC this year, led the Broncos to victory throughout his four-year career. It was revealed recently that signed the contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Knap said during a Big Sky football coaches meeting, "We've done all we can do to make our statements to the NCAA."

He said association officials have placed the case on their docket, but it will be eight months before the case comes up for hearing.

"They don't seem too excited to handle it," Knap said.

Twins shutout Oakland 4-0

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Dick Woodson shut out the Oakland A's 4-0, on five hits Saturday as the Minnesota Twins took their second game of the four-game series from the Western division leaders.

Woodson was in trouble only in the eighth inning when the Athletics loaded the bases with one out, but he got Sal Bando to pop out and Mike Epstein to line out to end the inning.

Woodson evened his record at 9-9 as he outpitched Vida Blue who left the game after giving up four runs in four innings.

The Twins scored two runs in the first inning and added solo runs in the second and fourth. Minnesota took a 2-0 lead in the first on Steve Braun's two-out double off the right field fence which scored Harmon Killebrew and Bobby Darwin.

The entire secondary will be back to face a tough schedule, he said, which will include the University of Ohio and Northern Illinois University.

He predicted any team is capable of winning the Big Sky crown, but predicted Boise State will be one team to beat.

Bronco mentor Tony Knap said the loss of quarterback Eric Guthrie and the defense's Steve Vogel through graduation will hurt his club, but receivers Don Hutt and Al Marshall will pick up the slack.

"Idaho has got to be the choice," Knap said. "But if anybody picks NAU as the dogmat, they're wrong. The Lumberjacks are tough."

Weber coach Sark Arslanian said his Wildcats will return with eight offensive starters pit team which ranked third in the nation in rushing with 337.2 yards per game.

The wishbone offense had its initial year in 1971 and the Weber team had one of the best records with a 7-2-1.

Quarterback John Edwards who started six games and quarterback Charlie Grayson who started the last two contests are back for action also. Montana lost 13 starters. Coach Jack Swarthout told newsmen, the offensive line having but one returning starter

All-American candidate Barry Darrow.

Shwarthout said Rock Svensen is the choice for quarterback.

Lumberjacks' coach Ed Peasley said Vince Creviston, a 5-10 165-pound junior, will lead NAU, which he feels may get a few wins outside conference play.

Pensley said Idaho, Boise and Weber have power to win, but his own crew will be a dark horse.

MSU's Sonny Holland predicted competition will be fierce as they lost five starters and recruiting had caused problems. The Bobcats will be playing in Bozeman High's Van Winkle stadium until the new sports complex is finished next year.

Kom joins ISU staff

POCATELLO — One of Idaho State's all-time best football and track athletes will be on the grid coaching staff this fall. He's George Kom, the fullback on ISU's undefeated 1957 team and the former school record holder in the discus.

Kom, 36, has been coaching the past nine years at David Douglas — H.S., Portland, Oregon.

He is a native of Sand point, Idaho and played at the high school there with former Green Bay Packer all-pro Jerry Kramer. Following his graduation from high school Kom attended Boise Junior College. Playing for Lyle Smith in both the 1934 and 1935 seasons Kom was all-American in 1935, a year in which he rated second in the country in punting.

Idaho signs 3 track runners

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — Four track and field athletes, three from Spokane and one from Salem, Ore., have signed national letters of intent to attend the University of Idaho this fall.

Spokane athletes include Ron Wieber of Gonzaga prep, city 220 and long jump champ; Jim Williamson of Ferris, city and district quarter mile champ and Clark Brooks of Lewis and Clark, second in the Washington two-mile event.

Rookie saves U.S. Davis Cup hopes

BARCELONA, Spain (UPI) — Teen-ager Harold Solomon, facing a critical situation because Stan Smith had lost the opening singles match, kept U. S. Davis Cup hopes alive Saturday when he beat Spain's Juan Gisbert 6-7, 7-5, 6-0, 1-6, 6-4 in the second singles match of the interzone final.

Solomon, a 19-year-old, began Saturday's play with a one set lead over Gisbert gained before the match was called off Friday night because of darkness and hung on for the five-set win that tied the competition at 1-1.

to Spain's number one player, Manuel Orantes.

U. S. hopes began to fade Saturday as Gisbert took the fourth set with the same aggressive play that had won him the third the night before. Playing in 90 degrees, heat on the court of his own tennis club, Gisbert seemed all set to take the fifth set before the strongly partisan Catalan fans.

Solomon said later: "I was worried Friday night because a muscle spasm in my arm kept me from gripping my racket properly in the third set. It stood up O. K. today though."

In beating Gisbert the young mop-haired American avenged the defeat Friday of Smith, the Wimbledon champion who was outlasted by veteran Andres Gimeno in the opening singles match.

With the two countries now tied, the spotlight is on the doubles match which is now scheduled for Sunday.

In tying the score Solomon defeated the man who was originally selected to play in place of Andres Gimeno. Gimeno only faced Smith because of a last-minute injury

FAMILY CIRCUS

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, AUGUST 6, 1972

Horoscope

Carroll Righter

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until sundown this is a very difficult day to try to get others to do almost any type of work since there is a general atmosphere of weariness and lack of desire to work for whatever reason, but the evening is an unusually good time for an electric influence to be in effect that brings you the opportunity to forge ahead.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) The situation could be quite annoying during day, but a good partner makes everything easier in p.m. Concentrate on your longrange plans. Wait a few days before putting a new plan in operation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get busy and put routines behind you very quickly without annoying others and then you can get into new outlets in p.m. Schedule your time wisely. Let nothing and nobody irritate you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Put aside money worries early and get at those amusements that bring you added vigor and relief from tensions. Act in a circumspect way so that practical people do not think you are a giddy person. Think.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Day hours are fine for making personal as well as other improvements around you. Evening brings some happy surprise. Get rid of that feeling of self-pity early in the day and all works to your benefit.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have that hemmed-in feeling that you can't overcome by going out and shopping, etc., in a.m. Then plan right recreation for the p.m. Get advice from confidentials. Be happy.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are tempted to hide in a corner because of a disagreement with another, but be active instead and get a good deal done, have fun later. Become interested in some new and private matter. Grow.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) The latter part of the day is best if you want to confer with a bigwig for some reason and get the backing and facts you need. Make out those checks that are important. Study new outlets and interests also.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Good day to study well-accepted philosophy of life that you can adopt for the future to your benefit. Evening is excellent for making new acquaintances, but be sure they are of the finest types. Steer clear of that superficial person.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Shirk some person or promise because of a new interest is not wise during the day, but tonight is fine for new appeal. Your hunches are good in p.m., but not in a.m. Do not lose your temper with anyone.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Take care you do not lik a partner in any way and cause severance of connections. Evening can be most happy with your mate at whatever is of mutual interest. You can't reach the right solution until p.m. where that problem is concerned.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You want to work on some project, but need the cooperation of a fellow worker, so be sure to get that early and then full speed ahead. You get right backing in p.m. unexpectedly. Take time for a little fun, too.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have to keep promises you have made during the day before you can go out for the fun you want in the evening. You may encounter difficulties during day, but take them in your stride. Avoid one who bickers.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those individuals whose early life will be rather slow and plodding, but after maturity is reached, all will speed up and much success is possible in whatever is the finest attribute of this nature. However, home and family will always come first with your youngster. Education should be slanted toward whatever has to do with dealing with public commodities. Sports are excellent early in life, and some discipline is important.

Our in-the-woods, the male cougar pussy-toots along a regular circuit, returning over his own tracks every so often. Aware of this, the female cougar in search of masculine companionship romps around until she sniffs a set of male tracks. Thereupon, she scurries down beside the trail to wait, knowing sooner or later some handsome cat will snunter by. Remember this, young lady. You know what old Emerson said: "Adopt the pace of nature: Her secret is patience."

MONOLISIA is a Greek town wherein each January 8 all the lion put on dresses and all the women put on trousers. The men do the housework, the women horse around in the coffee houses. Occasionally over the generations, a few of the women, charmed by the experience, have been forced to leave town, because they've refused to go back to housework. Likewise, several of the men, who've declined to take off the dresses. Mostly, though, this felicitous 94-hour exchange is said to please the girls and enlighten their gentlemen friends considerably.

GIFT This bride and groom got a parrot's "I was a pair of theater tickets with a note written in lipstick. (Guess who sent them?)" "Boring. Didn't matter, they used said tickets that weekend, enjoyed the play immensely, and returned after midnight to find their apartment cleaned out completely. All the gifts gone. ACTRESS Again am asked to name the famous lady who said, "I don't care what you do, my dear, so long as you don't do it in the street and frighten the horses." That was Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the great actress. She was one of the few renowned entertainers. Incidentally, who always insisted she be billed on marquees with the Mrs. and her husband's name. Can you think of any others who did like-wise?

WHEN WALKING down the aisle, the bride almost invariably smiles, the groom almost invariably frowns. A matrimonial expert of 30 years experience says he has observed this. It's explainable. When nervous, most women grin, most men frown, that's known.

Goodman runs against his former boss

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — Ronald Goodman wants to be sheriff of Twin Falls County.

But in order to achieve his goal, he has to defeat his former boss, Sheriff Paul Corder.

He served under Corder as a deputy for over a year, from September, 1970, until earlier this year, when he quit to tend his farm in the county and consider his race for the sheriff's job.

"As far as I know," he said in an interview this week, "I left under good conditions."

RONALD GOODMAN seeks post

Cassia polling places

BURLEY — Polling places in Cassia County will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday for the primary election.

Precincts and polling places in the county are Albion, Albion grade school; Almo, Almo elementary school; Bridge, Marlin Booth residence; Burley No. 1, Presbyterian Church; Burley No. 2, Christian Church; Burley No. 3, courthouse; Burley No. 4, Dworshak School; Burley No. 5, Burley High School; Burley No. 6, LDS Church, 9th Street; Burley No. 7, VFW Hall, Hilland Ave.; Burley No. 8, Unity Light and Power Co., and Declo, recreation hall.

Elba, LDS Church; Heglar, Vale, Maurice King residence; Jackson, W.C. Paul residence; Malta, R.E.A. office; Oakley No. 1, American Legion Hall; Oakley No. 2, city office; Parsons, school house; Pella, LDS Church; Springdale, LDS Church; Stars Ferry, LDS Church; Sublett, Asiel Zollinger residence; Unity, Grange Hall, and View, LDS Church.

2 delegates return from meet

TWIN FALLS — Two League of Women Voters delegates from Idaho have returned after a voter conference in Washington, D.C., earlier this week.

Margorie Slotten, Twin Falls, voter rights chairman of the League of Women Voters of Idaho, and Ann McDougall, Pocatello, attended the conference designed to expand the electorate by removing administrative obstacles in voting procedure.

Mrs. Slotten said the delegates found Idaho's voting laws are well in line with national standards and in many cases are well ahead of other states' laws such as allowing citizens every opportunity to exercise voting rights.

She said women from all 50 states attended the conference, sponsored by the National Education Fund of the voters organization.

Goal of League, she said is to achieve an overall national average of 80 per cent registration of eligible voters and a similar percentage of voters at the polls in November.

Panelists during the conference included James Blumstein, professor of law at the U.S. Supreme Court landmark residence case of Dunn versus Blumstein, Ralph Nader of national consumer protection fame also addressed the conference. It was part of the League election systems project funded by the Ford Foundation.

But Goodman is certain that his experience in law enforcement, his stint in Twin Falls and six years on the Las Vegas Police Department, qualify him to recast the local law enforcement scene.

He quarrels strongly with what he says is the sheriff's refusal to accept federal money for staff training. "Federal money is going to save money for the taxpayer," Goodman said. "Some of his (Corder's) deputies have pointed out the advantages."

The money would go for drug control training, he said, for search and seizure training and for more traffic controls.

Some deputies, he charged, "go for weeks at a time and never write a citation, and they've got to see them."

He agrees emphatically with Corder's concern about federal control of local law enforcement agencies. But he disagrees with the sheriff that turning down federal training money will keep strong local control.

"Boise, Twin Falls City, Kimberly, and a lot of these areas take federal aid," Goodman said, "and if they're going to take over these departments, they'll get this (Corder's) in the shuffle."

Goodman also hit hard at the jail procedures in the county. "This is the only jail I've ever seen where they issued prisoners razor blades twice a week and didn't check them out."

He said there are "numerous prisoners," as many as one a month, who are "taken to the doctor to have their wrists sewn up."

The challenger also wants to have the booking of prisoners done away from the public eye to avoid embarrassing incidents. But that is only a part of the general administrative reorganization he envisions if he is elected.

The first action he would take as sheriff, he said, would be to change the work schedule from an "eight day week" to a "seven day week." At present, he said, sheriff's deputies work six days on and then get two days off.

"I'm going to try to reschedule the people who are there to get better coverage," Goodman said, estimating the change he sees would mean slightly less time on duty per man each month.

Goodman also hopes to combine some of the administrative duties now done separately by the county and Twin Falls City officers, such as the records division.

On the touchiest issue of what has become a heated campaign, Corder's alleged nepotism, Goodman said, "it's not an issue." He said he was uncertain in his own mind whether Corder hires his wife to cook prisoner meals or whether Mrs. Corder is hired by the county commissioners.

But he said flatly that if he were sheriff, the meals would be catered by a restaurant "at least as cheaply" as it is done now.

McClure hit for postage

CORRAL — Joe McCarter disclosed Friday it would have taken $5,700 in campaign funds to equal postage costs Cong. James McClure "ethically" charged taxpayers by abusing his franking privilege.

McCarter, Idaho Democratic chairman, was referring to the costs for mailing a campaign oriented report to every resident in the first congressional district only days before the primary election.

McCarter said his investigation into the matter revealed that at least 120,000 of the ill-timed newsletters were delivered by the postal service to all of the postal patrons in the district.

He said that other candidates running against McClure would have been charged 1.8 cents each for campaign newsletters equalling the $5,700.

McClure exhibited poor taste and indiscretion in thinking that the Idaho taxpayer would accept his explanation that the newsletters were official business related to his position as a congressman.

It is not surprising that the American people question the integrity of those who hold high political office," McCarter said, "since the congressman obviously had no objection to spending tax dollars to improve his own position."

The mailing of the newsletter is not only an unfair advantage, but it is also degrades the prestige of the high office he now holds.

Goodman also hopes to combine some of the administrative duties now done separately by the county and Twin Falls City officers, such as the records division.

On the touchiest issue of what has become a heated campaign, Corder's alleged nepotism, Goodman said, "it's not an issue." He said he was uncertain in his own mind whether Corder hires his wife to cook prisoner meals or whether Mrs. Corder is hired by the county commissioners.

But he said flatly that if he were sheriff, the meals would be catered by a restaurant "at least as cheaply" as it is done now.

Rides given to polls

BURLEY — Any Cassia County senior citizen who needs transportation to the polling place of their precinct on Tuesday is asked to call the Senior Citizen Center, 878-0181.

The center will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday and from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday to assist persons wishing to vote but without transportation.

7 contenders attend confab

JEROME — Seven of the nine candidates for nominations in the Jerome County sheriff's race indicated Thursday night in a candidate meeting they would not favor a consolidated law enforcement program.

The latest candidate, Jerome Police Chief Howard DuBols, proposed a plan for consolidating the city police and county sheriff's departments into a single law enforcement operation. He announced Thursday he will be a write-in candidate on the Republican ballot.

This brings to nine the number of candidates in the race for the nominations. Only one Democrat, Foley Asher, is running. He did not attend the meeting Thursday night. All others attended including Paul Whaley, an independent, and six Republicans: Boyd Rydick, Irving Altman, Eliza Hall, James R. Laswell, Jack Parrott and Dennis Hobbette.

The meeting sponsored by the Jerome County Fair Bureau in the American Legion Hall drew about 100 persons. Many participated in the question and answer period which followed a brief formal presentation by each candidate.

One of these asking questions was Republican Central Committee Chairman, Clair Ricketts who asked independent candidate Whaley if he would accept the Republican nomination if he received more Republican votes as write-ins than the regular candidates.

Whaley answered he is basically a Republican and would be willing to accept the nomination.

"Another race in the primary election in Jerome is that of the Republican nomination for first district county commissioner. Cleo Ambrose, incumbent and office holder the past nine years is opposed by Milford Jones."

Ambrose told the voters he is standing on his past record of accomplishments, including helping provide a good airport for Jerome. Jones said while he has no past record in office he has retired from farming and wishes to make a civic contribution in public service.

McClure hit for postage

CORRAL — Joe McCarter disclosed Friday it would have taken $5,700 in campaign funds to equal postage costs Cong. James McClure "ethically" charged taxpayers by abusing his franking privilege.

McCarter, Idaho Democratic chairman, was referring to the costs for mailing a campaign oriented report to every resident in the first congressional district only days before the primary election.

McCarter said his investigation into the matter revealed that at least 120,000 of the ill-timed newsletters were delivered by the postal service to all of the postal patrons in the district.

He said that other candidates running against McClure would have been charged 1.8 cents each for campaign newsletters equalling the $5,700.

McClure exhibited poor taste and indiscretion in thinking that the Idaho taxpayer would accept his explanation that the newsletters were official business related to his position as a congressman.

It is not surprising that the American people question the integrity of those who hold high political office," McCarter said, "since the congressman obviously had no objection to spending tax dollars to improve his own position."

The mailing of the newsletter is not only an unfair advantage, but it is also degrades the prestige of the high office he now holds.

Goodman also hopes to combine some of the administrative duties now done separately by the county and Twin Falls City officers, such as the records division.

Sheriff Corder unmoved by heat in campaign

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — Sheriff Paul Corder sits calmly in his chair in the Twin Falls sheriff's office.

If he feels the heat generated by the campaign he is running for re-election, he doesn't show it.

He has mounted a newspaper advertising campaign, culminating with a full page citizens' support advertisement in the newspaper two days before election. He doesn't think Ron Goodman, once his deputy on the force, can defeat him, and he is confident the charges flying about alleged nepotism and poor administration are untrue.

One by one, he sets out to counter each of the arguments, calmly, quietly. He's done his homework, pulling a little notepad from his pocket for the relevant statistics.

On the charge that the deputies on the force are undertrained because he has refused federal funding, Corder said, "I don't turn back anything, I've never up for it. It would save money, at to have it."

In fact, he said, if there were federal money coming in, he would probably have to hire another person to take care of the bookkeeping to account for it.

But he is strongly opposed to federal money, because he "fears it means federal control. We have to maintain local control of local government."

He also agreed in part with his challenger that the jails need improving in the county. But plans are being made, he said, money is budgeted that will mean "a jail that will house 50 people," with an addition of two large juvenile cells for persons of each sex.

Corder also denied any nepotism on his part in this wife preparing county prisoner meals.

"This has been done as far back as I can remember, the sheriff's wife prepared the meals for the prisoners. She buys the supplies, brings them in and is reimbursed by the county."

But Corder said he was unhappy with the situation. "I told the county commissioners that I didn't think the sheriff should be in any way connected with the feeding."

They discussed it in November, 1971, he said, and they agreed in their budget deliberations the sheriff would vacate his courthouse apartment by Nov. 1 and a food

Legislation to benefit TF airport now pending

TWIN FALLS — Passage of special legislation now before Congress will benefit the Twin Falls City-County Airport and all other designated jet ports of the nation.

William Chancey, chairman of the Twin Falls County commissioners, said Saturday information received from Sen. Frank Church said the bill (S. 3755) to amend the Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970 has been reported out of committee and should be acted on by the full Senate within a few days.

Among other things, the bill would provide financial backing up to 75 and 85 per cent in government funds, for improving airports such as Joslin Field. In addition, it would provide that federal funds would be provided in full for the cost of the acquisition of land or of any interest therein or of any easement, through or other interest in airspace for future airport developing.

The new bill would also provide 50 per cent of the funds for further development of terminal buildings. Previous legislation would not provide any funds for such projects.

The new legislation also provides that no "head charge" or boarding fee can be charged at any major field, such as Joslin Field, but that landing fees and service charges can be collected from airline planes and other planes using the facilities.

"All in all," Chancey said,

TREATMENT FOR INSECT BITES: Insect stings are a common warm weather hazard in the garden, around the home or at a campsite. According to Dr. Harry Arnold Jr., a dermatologist, you have a cheap and effective antidote for insect bites right in your own kitchen.

In a letter to the American Medical Journal, Dr. Arnold gave the following prescription for treatment of insect bites: a quarter teaspoon of meat tenderizer dissolved in a teaspoon or two of water and rubbed into the skin around the bite.

Meat tenderizer is rich in papain, a protein-dissolving enzyme, which breaks down the venom. Arnold says that a dose of meat tenderizer will stop the pain of most insect stings in seconds if applied immediately.

NOTE: If you can't get the tenderizer immediately and are stung by bees or wasps, mix up a batch of mud and swab the sting area. Beekeepers say also that the juice from a lawn weed — plantain (either the narrow or broadleaved type), rubbed into the skin will relieve the pain.

MAKING PICKLES: Last year many gardeners said their pickles were so salty they couldn't eat them. Here's a good recipe sent to me by a reader: "Do not soak my cucumbers, just scrub them well in cold water and drain. But if they are not fresh, soak them for a few hours. For brine, combine one quart vinegar, three quarts water, 1 1/2 level cup canning salt, and boil for five minutes. "Cool. Put layer of dill, one clove garlic, and a grape leaf on the bottom of each quart. Fill with cucumbers and add more dill on top. Fill with brine to 1/4 inch from top and seal. Pickles can be eaten with warm water and process just until pickles turn yellow. Do NOT boil. Remove."

FLOWER OF A DAY: This is the common name for Hibiscus rosa-sinensis, a close relative of the hardy rose of Sharon or Althea, and the herbaceous rose-mallows. Blooms are similar to those of hollyhock, single and double and in many colors.

The hibiscus family is a big one and contains many interesting species. They all like lots of light and will take considerable neglect.

SNAILS AND SLUGS: Right now everyone is having a problem with these night roving pests. Growing tomatoes on wire trellises is the best way to fool snails. When the vines are allowed to ramble on the ground or on a mulch, that's when you get snail trouble.

There's no easy control for snails or slugs. No satisfactory chemical control is available. Some people still feel that stale beer in flat dishes is the best control. Snails wallow in it and either suffocate or die.

You can do a lot to check snail damage by going out in the garden at night with a flashlight and salt shaker. Sprinkle a little salt on any snail you see and it kills them. Sounds like a lot of work, but really it only takes a few minutes.

Some gardeners place poisonous baits inside an orange or grapefruit skin and set these in the garden. Snails come along at night, eat the rinds and take in some of the poison. It finishes them off. Snails have a sweet tooth for citrus rinds anyway.

Does anyone have a sure cure for slugs or snails? Please send them along.

DID YOU KNOW THIS? See. of Agr. Earl Butz said recently that there is only two commodities that would be let to a local restaurant owner to handle the meals.

Corder said he would be out of the apartment "as soon as we've used the stock, and can complete our place in Kimberly."

Corder also strongly defended his decision to "have his wife accompany him on extrajudicial trips. "I know of no violation in taking my wife on an extrajudicial trip, especially when transporting a woman prisoner," he said, adding he could trust his wife on the jobs as much as anybody.

Until several months ago, he said, Mrs. Corder was paid only travel expenses for her trips.

Local and longings. But after charges were leveled, several months ago, Corder said, he agreed to assume the financial costs himself.

In response to charges that he spends too long on extrajudicial trips by driving rather than flying, the sheriff cited figures showing him away from the office only 17 days or extrajudicial trips in the past year — and he took four days vacation in that time.

"I've figured different times it's at least one fourth cheaper," Corder said of his extrajudicial trips by automobile.

A Volkswagen guarantee doesn't have to guarantee a Volkswagen.

Any used car that's tough enough to pass VW's 16-point inspection deserves a VW guarantee. No matter how big it is.

You see, a VW guarantee is a 50-50 deal, but our full 100% guarantee to repair or replace all major mechanical working parts for 90 days or 1000 miles. Whichever comes first.

So before we guarantee a big used car, we make sure it's as tough as our little cars.

Here are some big cars who are tough enough:

- *engine, transmission, rear axle, front axle assemblies, brake system, electrical system.

Sale saves elegant home from 'loss of dignity'

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Nobody wants to live in the largest of the elegant old Twin Falls homes. But the 64-year-old W. A. VanEngelen home will be spared the fate of many other old and too-large homes — deterioration to shabby disgrace.

Mr. and Mrs. VanEngelen who have lived in the home since May 30, 1937, are currently moving to a new home and the three story frame house which contains 18 rooms soon will be demolished.

In its place will be a new family-restaurant, the first McDonald's in Twin Falls.

The old house, located at the corner of Blue Lakes Boulevard North and Heyburn Avenue, was built by a pioneer dentist, Dr. L. H. Giffin, in 1907 or 1908. It was later purchased by C. E. Booth, early day merchant and owner of the old Booth Mercantile.

More than 20 years ago the last of the six VanEngelen children moved from home and since then the couple has lived alone in the 18 spacious rooms on three floors. Many visits from children and grandchildren have kept most of the building in use.

Like many old buildings, however, it now needs paint inside and out, new carpet, changes in wiring and plumbing. This is probably the reason no offers for residential use were received during two years it has been for sale. Only commercial interest was shown and the VanEngelens feel they selected a buyer most compatible to the surrounding area. Much of the present landscaping will remain. The new building will be located where the old house stands with parking in front and the garden area retained in the rear.

Mrs. VanEngelen said the last estimate they had on cost of outside painting alone ran between $1,500 and $2,000.

When they purchased the house, she recalls, it needed paint and a painter who preferred to work alone was hired.

"He worked the entire summer to complete the painting," Mrs. VanEngelen said.

When the VanEngelens purchased the home they had six children and their former residence, 203 8th Ave. N., now the Jerry Shane home, was bursting at the seams. The grounds covered about 14 acres including the area now

Elegant stairway

MAIN STAIRWAY between the first and second floors of the W. A. VanEngelen home forms part of the beauty of the 65-year-old home soon to be demolished. The building has been the home of a pioneer dentist, early day merchant and for the VanEngelen family for 35 years.

Growth

TREES HAVE grown with the house through the years. Above is the house, nearly as it appears today, except for a heavy coating of snow and smaller trees. This is the way it looked in 1937 when the VanEngelens purchased it. At right is the house in 1917 when C.E. Booth bought it. Only one tiny evergreen tree stands in the front yard and many of the improvements to the home had not been made. Below are Mrs. VanEngelen and son, Fred, standing under a burr oak tree which Fred and his brother, Bob, planted as small children. Today, the house is nearly obscured by the heavy growth of trees which graces the yard areas.

CHEERFUL BREAKFAST area just off the kitchen of the VanEngelen home is glass enclosed but a heavy growth of vines now screens out the bright sunlight. The floor includes the original linoleum, showing little wear since 1908.

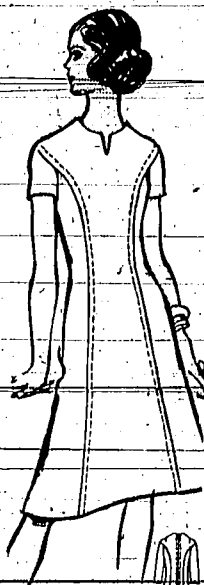

Warm spot

YOUNGEST GRANDCHILD of the VanEngelen family, Robbie Didriksen, Maryland, visits the house for a final time. Here he is dwarfed by the giant fireplace in the living room. It is made of cut lava rock blocks and has provided a center for many happy family occasions for the VanEngelens.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD KEITH LANCASTER

MV couple says wedding vows

TWIN FALLS — Karen Jolene Boyd and Donald Keith Lancaster were united in marriage July 14 in evening rites at the Carlton, Twin Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Boyd, Twin Falls, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Lancaster, Kimberly.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Elder Rex P. Hall before a setting of cathedral baskets of yellow gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ankle-length gown of satin, the gown made by Mrs. Dorothy Heather, a friend of the bride's family, featured an empire waistline and modified-bishop sleeves of flowered lace.

Her layered-veil of lace was held by a camelot headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow gladioli, white daisies, yellow roses and baby's breath.

Darla Boyd, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor with Jeanne Lancaster, sister of the bridegroom and Gayle Cheney as bridesmaids.

Kent Watson, California, was best man. Dennis Reinstein and Terry Boyd, brother of the bride, served as ushers. Candlelighters were Brian Boyd, brother of the bride, and Brian Lancaster, cousin of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Alice Ward was organist and Gary Stephenson was soloist.

Mrs. Kent Watson was in charge of the guest book. Debi Hance, Sherri Trappen and Tara Sue Trappen opened and displayed gifts.

The couple was honored at a reception after the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with white lace over yellow and centered with a wedding cake iced in white and decorated with yellow flowers. The cake was flanked by crystal candle holders with yellow candles.

Guests were seated at quarter tables decorated with snifters holding yellow roses.

Mrs. Jack-Bixler and Mrs. Jack Dunn, aunt of the bridegroom, served oaks and punch.

The parents of the bridegroom hosted a rehearsal supper.

occupied by the Dr. C. R. McWilliams home originally built by the late W. H. Burkholder. At the time of the sale the property included just under one acre.

In the VanEngelen home are six bedrooms, two baths, a formal dining room and living room; TV room, breakfast room, pantry, kitchen, oversized laundry room which included indoor clotheslines before the days of dryers, and on the seldom used third floor, a large ballroom with fireplace, additional room which could serve as a bedroom and numerous small areas such as the entranceway, two sun porches and balconies, not counting the basement.

The VanEngelens found the third floor area of little use during the 35 years they have enjoyed the home. There was no provision for heating the top floor except for one small fireplace when the home was built.

"It was hot in the summer and cold in the winter," Fred VanEngelen recalls and most of the parties the family held were either in the large garden and lawn areas or in the living and dining room of the first floor. While bedrooms and the one original bathroom were all of exceptional size, the kitchen is smaller than in most modern day homes.

"When we moved in the sink was in the center and the window extended to the floor. While we have loved the glass surrounded and vine covered breakfast area, the kitchen was the most inconvenient I have ever seen," Mrs. VanEngelen said.

Since remodeled, it is still small with a minimum of cupboard space. Many closets, cupboards and built storage areas are located throughout the house. Two "closets" on the third floor, which were never used, are so long they resemble tunnels.

For the VanEngelens the home is just too large for two people and too costly to maintain. They will be moving to a three bedroom home on Pierce Street but both admit they will miss the old 18-room house with the extra high ceilings and the spacious yards.

A 1968 special edition of the old Twin Falls Times shows a photo of the home as it looked when built. At that time the south wing of the home had not been added and there was no balcony across the front. The two curved glass windows on the first and second floors were a prominent feature of the home and remain today.

A 1917 photo of the building shows some slight remodeling and in 1937 a photo shows it as it is today with the exception of the oversized trees which now occlude the front area. Some of the trees are apparently more than 80 years old and some cannot be saved.

In the same 1908 issue 'is a story about the proposed new Lincoln grade school to be erected at a cost of $60,000. An architect's drawing shows the now oldest part of the school. Another photo shows the "new Baptist Church." It is the building on Second Street North now the building occupied by Our Savior Lutheran Church. On the back of the photo taken in 1917 is a news clipping showing C.E. Booth purchased the L. H. Griffin home. He owned it until Mr. and Mrs. VanEngelen became the owners after Booth's departure for California.

In removing some of the oak beams in the living room this week, carpenters found an inscription on the underside of one saying "Ostrander-Lumber Co., 1917, Bob Lewis." The present living room, complete with an oversized fireplace of cut lava rock blocks, was added in the 1917 remodeling by Booth.

The present TV and family room changed with the times. It began as a music room, became a library and is now a TV room. The house proved too large to be moved. Several professional movers first told the family they believed it could, but once they looked at the immense size they declined.

The last to be consulted told the family it was probably not impossible, but highly impractical.

Two of the VanEngelen daughters were married in the home and during war years returned home with the grandchildren while their husbands were in military service.

"We have always had lots of company, and have put the house to good use," Mrs. VanEngelen said.

Book Review

By KATHRYN GALLOWAY
Twin Falls Public Library

"Watchers at the Pond" by Franklin Russell, naturalist, tells the unexpectedly dramatic story of the cycle of a year within the teeming universe of a pond.

The cycle of life at the pond begins in the winter, amid snow and ice, with some creatures in hibernation, others sharply awake and watchful.

Survival of some necessarily means death for others. A hawk, who should have migrated far south, finds himself stranded, and through his eyes we see life at the pond through several seasons.

Even as a fierce arctic storm rages over the pond, some plants are pushing through the unmelting snow and birds are building nests. Even under the thick pond ice there is much life.

Spring arrives around the pond and in it. Life in countless numbers is evident. As the hawk circles high over his prey, other animals and plants are also causing death. Yet, spring is the time when the pond is most beautiful.

A fierce summer draught again tests survival. Then it is autumn. The birds begin their flight south, the frosts come, and the leaves fall from the trees.

Once again the creatures of the pond prepare for winter: some head into the water, some into the earth, into caves or under stones. Some creatures hibernate, some spend the winter in a state of drowsiness, eating only at intervals, while others continue to play the game of survival above ground. So as it began, a year's cycle of life at the pond ends with another winter.

Burley concert planned

BURLEY — The Snake River Flats are planning a two-night concert Sept. 29-30 at Burley High School auditorium.

The local chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America report changes for this year's annual show.

New uniforms have been ordered and will arrive for the September program.

The Golden States may be available as the headlines and selling of advertising for the program booklets has been completed, according to the board of directors.

In addition to the Institute of Logopedics, a charity supported by the International organization, the Snake River Flats have adopted the Mini-Cassia Child Development Center as its special project.

MR. AND MRS. MARK A. HOWARD

Murtaugh wedding rites performed

MURTAUGH — Cathy Jean Perkins and Mark A. Howard were married July 21 in rites at the Murtaugh LDS Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Rufus Turner, Murtaugh, and Daryin Perkins, Twin Falls. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Howard, Murtaugh.

Bishop Roger Tolman performed the double ring ceremony before arrangements of yellow gladioli and white chrysanthemums trimmed with baby's breath and greenery.

Duane Perkins, uncle of the bride, gave the opening prayer. The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather, wore a floor length gown of white organza. The gown featured a high neckline and a natural waistline circled by a satin belt. Venice lace accented the bishop sleeves and created a yoke and panel down the front.

Her elbow length veil was held by a jeweled headpiece.

She carried a bouquet of yellow baby roses and baby's breath trimmed with greenery and white satin streamers.

Julie Stastny, Twin Falls, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Lynda Perkins, Hawaii, sister-in-law of the bride; Linda Johnson, Castleford, and Debbie Howard, Murtaugh, sisters of the bridegroom; and Julie Turner, Murtaugh, sister of the bride. Shelley Sweet, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Mike Howard, Murtaugh, was best man. Roger Johnson, Castleford, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Don Perkins, Hawaii, and Blake Turner and Brad Perkins, all brothers of the bride, were groomsmen. Debbie Stastny was soloist. She was accompanied by Marty Wright who also played the wedding music.

The couple was honored at a reception following the ceremony in the church cultural hall.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over a pale yellow skirt, and centered with a four-tier square wedding cake with white columns separating the tiers.

The cake was iced with white and trimmed with yellow flowers on each layer. The bottom layer had miniature bridesmaids and groomsmen on a staircase and the top layer a miniature bride and bridegroom seated on a love-seat under an arch.

Guests were served at quartet tables covered with white lace over yellow skirts and centered with yellow tofari trees.

Gift bearers were Sidney and Denise Howard, Buhl, cousins of the bridegroom, and Brad Perkins, Murtaugh, brother of the bride. Carla Cammins, Mae Moyes, Patty DeGiorgio, Nell Husle and Carla Perkins cared for the gift tables.

Janet Moyes, Murtaugh, was in charge of the guest book.

Leota Morris, Twin Falls, aunt of the bride, served punch. Carolyn Howard, Kimberly, aunt of the bridegroom and Anna Perkins, Boise, aunt of the bride, cut and served the cake.

The bride was honored at a miscellaneous shower given by Janet Moyes, Patty DeGiorgio, Jannett Anderson and Susan Ferguson in Murtaugh. She also was honored at a miscellaneous and personal shower given by Leota Morris, Ruby Stastny, Lynda Perkins and Veeta Wilhite in Twin Falls.

The parents of the bridegroom hosted a rehearsal dinner at the Turf Club in Twin Falls.

Special guests attending the wedding included Mrs. Veeta Wilhite, Murtaugh, and Mrs. Mae Perkins, Twin Falls, grandmothers of the bride and Mrs. Cora Dye and Mrs. Amanda Baxter, both Buhl, grandmothers of the bridegroom, and Steve Perkins, Payette, grandfather of the bride.

Other guests attended from Washington, California, Hawaii, Idaho Falls, Oakley, Burley, Twin Falls, Buhl, Castleford, Mountain Home and Hansen.

The next meeting will be Oct. 5 at the Deyvern Fuller residence with Joanna Smith program chairman. Roll call will be "What I Do To Relax."

There will be no September meeting. The hostess served refreshments.

A thought for the day: U.S. Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman said, "War is cruel and you cannot refine it."

Current Cues

TWIN FALLS — A brand new appliance is on the market to help alleviate trash disposal problems in the home.

The trash compactor is the newest major home appliance since the introduction of the clothes dryer in 1937.

A convenient replacement for the kitchen's wastebasket, the compactor does not destroy trash, it reduces it to a small neat package. It is not considered a garbage can, but rather compacts the items you would normally put in the waste basket.

Tests show that it will hold a week's accumulation of trash for the average family of four, compacting three 20 gallon cans of trash into a rectangular bag 16 x 16 x 9 inches.

The unit automatically sprays a deodorant each time it is used. Its purpose is to retard the growth of bacteria which might cause disagreeable odor; however, it will not control items which cause excessive odor. The special brown paper bag container is lined with a thin inner lining of plastic. It is strong enough to hold its contents until picked up for disposal.

Many safety features have been built into the compactor. It is listed in Underwriter Laboratories which means it complies with all electrical standards and has passed all U.I. operator safety hazard work.

The unit cannot be operated unless a key is inserted and turned to "on" position. It will not operate unless the drawer is closed. The compactor cannot be opened while operating. The unit can be stopped any time.

The drawer is deliberately designed to be difficult for small children to open.

The compactor is designed as an effective solid waste management system that greatly reduces the amount of time and effort (and often the expense) required to cope with ordinary trash generated in the home... such as bottles, cans, plastic containers and paper. While it does not eliminate pollution, it can be effective in reducing volume and controlling litter, thus improving neighborhood environment and general sanitary conditions.

When reclaiming and recycling systems are Walker, Home Service developed to separate and reclaim different kinds of metal, paper, glass and plastic, Idaho 83301.

the contents of compacted trash will be reclaimed. In the meantime it presents no problem in the existing sanitary landfills for air is able to reach the bag's contents; thus letting nature take its course. Mail questions to Helen Co., P.O. Box 8, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
An Illinois reader complains about his partner's three-spade bid. It appears that he bid six, after trying Blackwood. He won the diamond lead, rushed his ace of hearts, drew three rounds of trumps, discarded his losing diamond on the king of hearts, and led dummy's queen of clubs.

East took the ace and led a second diamond. South ruffed with his last trump, played the king of clubs; East showed out and the hand collapsed since West's nine-of-clubs stopped the suit.

We don't see anything wrong with North's jump to three spades and very little wrong with South's play. He would have made his contract against a 3-2 club break and suits break 3-2 some 68 per cent of the time.

We do find a slight defect in South's play. He really should have made his contract. He wasted trumps riotously.

Two trump leads would have been enough. Then when he ruffed the second heart he would still have a trump. He would lead a club to dummy's jack, get back to his hand with that last trump and claim his slam.

Suppose East ruffed that second club. South would have been set but he would have had no way to make the slam. The play we suggest just gave him the slight extra chance of finding the man with the singleton club with just two trumps. A slight chance but an extra chance with no extra risk.

The bidding has been:

What do you do now?

A-Bid five clubs. This is a gamble, but the sort of gamble that is likely to pay off well.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding two clubs, your partner has doubled one heart. What do you do now?

AMERICAN GIRL

CONTEMPORARY CLASSIC

MS. AMERICA

Casual curls

THE OFFICIAL Hair Fashion Committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association has introduced its five American hair fashions for fall and winter. Juan Manchaca of Twin Falls served as style director for the state of Idaho during the association's meeting in Palm Springs, Calif. He styled a "Contemporary Classic" hair design during the convention and rated among the top. Manchaca said the new styles are all free swinging, carefree and bouncy. They require little, if any, backcombing. The hair styles are also keyed to contemporary clothing fashion, Manchaca said. The "American Girl" style has simplicity and freedom, plus the interest of comb-held curllettes pulled back from the temples. The "Contemporary Classic" is a well-remembered look that looks good today, especially when updated by super-styling and cutting. Hair coloring, enhancing the natural highlights of the hair puts the finishing touches on the classic. "Ms. America" is a simple, graceful style that is long, but all the shoulder. It takes the familiar pageboy line but is enhanced by curls and waves about the face. The "Swingin' Single" is free, natural and up-to-date. Dual length styling makes it one of the most versatile of the fall and winter collection. The "U.S. Sophisticate" is another style for the active American girl on the go. Brushed smooth and close to the head, the style is a carefree cap of a coil, right with the short-short hairstyles coming up big for fall.

1. What do you consider the national priorities for the next Congress? Why?

Tax reform to make the income tax more equitable for the middle class American who now supports the man at the top of the income scale as well as the man who doesn't make enough to pay tax. Money for the stabilization of the economy must come from the ending of the war and military waste on goods not productive for the needs of the people.

Restore openness and pride in government. End the war. Bring back all of our forces and the POWs. Phase from a military-industrial complex to a people's industrial complex. Protect our environment and insure wise utilization of our natural resources. Make equal educational opportunity for all a reality. End second-class citizenship for the young, the elderly, minorities, and women.

Reform of the Internal Revenue Code. Reassessment of the defense budget and other federal expenditures. Providing a higher level of income for our senior citizens. Establishing a farm policy to protect the family farm. Enacting a national health care plan. Strengthening environmental protection legislation. Providing more assistance for education.

2. What can Congress do about unemployment and inflation?

Government contracts should be given to create training and jobs instead of building obsolete missile sites, war ships, etc. Reorder our priorities away from military expenditures and use our resources to get this nation back on the track of humanistic capitalism.

Move to a goal of full employment through domestic and people-oriented programs. Restructure the tax program so that all pay their fair share. Revise the loopholes in our tax programs that favor vested interest groups.

Put people back to work by creating public service employment to fulfill needs in our society such as environmental protection, mass transportation, renewal of our urban areas, and new educational facilities. Provide for a limit on corporate profits, as well as more equitable guidelines for wage and price controls.

3. What should the role of Congress be in establishing U.S. Foreign Policy?

Our foreign policy should be in services to help other nations with their economic needs. I am not proposing "money give away" type programs but rather help by extending our technical expertise. I do not believe selling arms and munitions is good foreign policy.

Involve the elected representatives as participants in establishing foreign policy. This means a return to the balance of power between the legislative and executive branches of government.

Congress should be fully informed on all actions of the executive branch and should have a full opportunity to vote on all major actions. No troops should be committed to foreign soil without the concurrence of Congress, except in times of emergency, and then only for a 30 day period.

OCCUPATION: Attorney.
QUALIFICATIONS: City Attorney, Payette; Prosecuting Attorney, Payette County; State Senator, six years; United States Congress, six years. Congressional assignments: Interior Committee (Subcommittees on Environment, Parks and Recreation, Mines and Mining, Irrigation and Reclamation); Post Office and Civil Service Committee; Chairman of Energy Task Force; Coinage Commission; Assistant Regional Whip.

1. What do you consider the national priorities for the next Congress? Why?

Congress should place the emphasis on slowing down inflation, reducing unemployment, protecting the environment, providing low income housing, and stopping the drug traffic. Our problems at home urgently demand attention, and we cannot afford to any longer neglect the needs of the farmers, the poor, the elderly, and the minorities.

National priorities for the next Congress are: Re-evaluation of tax and spending policies to lower and equalize taxes, stop inflation, and provide full employment opportunities. Stronger efforts to clean up the nation - the water, the land, the air. New goals in foreign policies to deal effectively with international problems without foolish and costly involvements.

Economics, environment, and education - aside from Vietnam. Wages and prices must be stabilized. Prosperity must be as real for the small farmer as for the big businessman. Yet, economic growth must be balanced by environmental needs. Education programs should provide quality schooling for our children with emphasis on job training.

2. What can Congress do about unemployment and inflation?

Over-stimulation of the economy because of spending for the war in Vietnam must be ended if inflation is to be controlled. Wage and price controls should be applied more equitably, and profits should also be limited. I support a national job referral service and vocational retraining for the chronically unemployed.

The Congress can effectively fight unemployment and inflation by reducing excessive spending and encouraging private development and necessary public works. The whole structure of federal involvement in public health, education and welfare needs revamping if the people of the nation are to be properly and efficiently served.

To control inflation, we must cut Federal spending, control monetary expansion, and deal with wage increases that greatly exceed increases in productivity. Congress must avoid actions that inhibit capital investment (which creates jobs). We must stimulate programs that involve job training and job finding.

3. What should the role of Congress be in establishing U.S. Foreign Policy?

Under the Constitution the Senate shares with the President responsibility for foreign policy. I support measures that limit the President's power to commit the country militarily without congressional approval, and I believe the appropriations power can and should be used effectively to influence foreign policy.

The role of Congress in establishing U.S. foreign policy should be: (1) Resist the urge to meddle in the internal affairs of other nations which has cost us many friends and involved us unnecessarily in deep economic and military commitments. (2) Stand for principle and against aggression but never again to engage in a half-hearted, no-win, and costly military endeavor which leaves the country weakened.

We cannot be the policemen of the world, but we can provide material assistance for our friends who want to help themselves. In the future, the President should not be permitted to involve our troops for more than thirty days without a roll call vote of Congress.

GLEN WEGNER
... seeks post

GLEN WEGNER
Republican - Boise, Idaho - Age 33
EDUCATION: Kendrick Public Schools; B.S., College of Idaho; M.D., University of Washington School of Medicine; J.D., American University Washington College of Law.
OCCUPATION: Physician and Lawyer.
QUALIFICATIONS: Consultant, The Medical Clinic, Nampa; Consultant, Law Firm of Weeks & Yost, Nampa, Former Deputy Counselor, The White House; Former Deputy Assistant Secretary for Legislation, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Washington, D.C.; Former Special Assistant to the Surgeon General of the United States, Washington, D.C.

3. What should the role of Congress be in establishing U.S. Foreign Policy?

Foreign Policy should be established by a partnership of the Executive and Legislative branches. There must be full exchange of all information between the branches. Once policy is set, the Executive branch is responsible for its implementation, while Congress has the obligation of overseeing its operation and disclosing to the public the most information possible consistent with the needs of our national defense.

1. What do you consider the national priorities for the next Congress? Why?

Congress should concentrate on domestic, not foreign, affairs because our internal problems have been ignored too long. Eliminating tax loopholes and expanding revenue sharing, establishing a Fair Farm Policy to aid the small farmer, revising the welfare system to eliminate the undeserving and conserving Idaho's natural resources are some of my goals.

2. What can Congress do about unemployment and inflation?

To decrease unemployment, Congress should channel spending into "product" areas (such as housing and transportation) that provide actual goods we need, more job opportunities and greater dollar turnover, rather than further expanding "service" areas (such as cash-benefit payment programs). To help control inflation, Congress should wholeheartedly support the Administration's wage and price control policy.

ROBERT SMYLIE
... in race

ROBERT E. SMYLIE
Republican - Boise, Idaho - Age 57

EDUCATION: A.B., College of Idaho, 1938; J.D., George Washington University, 1942.
OCCUPATION: Lawyer.
QUALIFICATIONS: Governor of Idaho, 1955-1967; Attorney General, 1947-1955; Member, Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, 1959-1967; Chairman, Republican Governor's Ass'n., 1963-1967; Idaho Conservationist of the Year Award, 1966.

1. What do you consider the national priorities for the next Congress? Why?

Adequate environmental protection; tax reform with emphasis on property tax relief; increased job opportunities for young workers and veterans; an end to the involvement in Southeast Asia; a national transportation policy that serves people; improved education to senior citizens; improved educational opportunity for all citizens.

3. What should the role of Congress be in Foreign Policy?

Congress should fully occupy its constitutional role in the making of foreign policy. Commitment of military forces to combat abroad should require prior congressional approval. There should be a reduction in the use of Executive Agreements and a return to ratification of undertakings with foreign nations as the Constitution requires.

2. What can Congress do about unemployment and inflation?

Reduction in the federal deficit will restrain inflationary forces and this can be accomplished with the end of Southeast Asian involvement. We need much more adequate programs of vocational training and re-training to provide better job training for young workers and veterans.

The Federal Reserve Board can use its monetary powers to increase money supply which will improve general economic conditions and thus reduce unemployment.

CLEO C. AMBROSE
County Commissioner

Biographical Sketch
Born in Nyssa, Ore., 1905. Parents moved to Jerome in 1913 where I was raised and educated. Started farming in 1929 — purchased and developed a ranch north of Jerome, later owned and operated two farms east of Jerome. He and wife, Helen, presently live at 720 East Ave. A. Jerome. Past master of Jerome Masonic Lodge No. 61 — past worthy patron of the Order of Eastern Star No. 54 — past director of A.S.C. Presently secretary Jerome Cemetery Association.

MILFORD JONES Cites goals

MILFORD JONES
County Commissioner
Republican
Residence: Jerome, Jerome County

Biographical Sketch
Born Aug. 25, 1914, at Eden. Graduated from the Eden High School in 1933. I married Hazel Paul of Eden in 1935. We rented land for seven years and then developed a homestead farm southwest of Eden in 1941. Developed desert entry north-east of Jerome in 1953 and farmed there through 1971.

I have two daughters, Mrs. Billie Kay Hendrickson, Seattle, Wash. and Mrs. Linda Jones O'Connell, Lewiston, Idaho.

Served on two school boards and the Jerome County Fair and Rodeo Board. Also numerous committees. I was active in the Boy Scout program and managed the Knot Hole Girls' Champion Baseball team for three years.

Goals and Concerns
To help the commission budget for the various county offices in a fair and equitable way between the county workers and the taxpayers. Try to influence good and qualified service from the county workers for the citizens of Jerome County.

Jerome County is growing not only agriculturally but commercially. I would like to see this growth develop orderly and to the best interests of the county and to the environment.

Looking to the future I will support the regional airport and the expansion of educational facilities and activities. To also take care of the population growth within reason for every taxpayer and citizen.

The welfare program must be simplified and means worked out to give the recipients power to partially or wholly earn their own support.

If I am elected, I will work as commissioner in a dedicated manner. I have the time and would like to use it to help Jerome County the best way I know how.

I would appreciate the chance to serve our county in this way.

Goals and Concerns
My record tells the story having served nine years as Jerome County commissioner, three terms and an appointment by Governor Smiley. Jerome County was well operated before my terms as commissioner and I have endeavored, with cooperation of the other elected officials to keep it that way — Progressive, efficient and economically operated. I particularly stress harmony in government and good working relations with other governmental bodies.

If elected I will continue to serve the people of Jerome County to the best of my ability.

DENNIS ROBINETTE
Jerome County Sheriff
Republican
Residence: Hazelton, Jerome County

Biographical Sketch
I have been a resident of Jerome County most of my life. I worked for the Twin Falls Police Department from September 1965 to July 1970 and the Sun Valley police department from July 1970 to July 1971. I have attended numerous law enforcement schools. I am now a business owner in Hazelton.

Goals and Concerns
If elected to the office of Jerome County sheriff my goal will be to have a law enforcement agency that will give the taxpayers of the county their money's worth. My main ambitions for the county as sheriff are as follows:

An efficient 24-hour law enforcement agency with full time deputies; to have all personnel certified and trained in police work;

to have a deputy on duty at night to patrol the county and check businesses for theft and fire (also this would include homes of people who are away and wish their homes watched).

I have been born, raised, and pay taxes in Jerome County. I feel qualified to know what the people expect for their tax dollars that support the sheriff's office.

IRVING ALTMAN
Jerome County Sheriff
Republican
Residence: Jerome, Jerome County

Biographical Sketch
Active in Jerome Law 1966-72. Jerome constable; Jerome justice of the peace; Jerome city patrolman; resident and property owner of Jerome for 7 1/2 years.

Married to former Jeanne Bartholomew; daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bartholomew, Jerome. Have one daughter, Jacqueline, 4 years old.

Goals and Concerns
Opposed to the registration of hand guns. "Guns in Jerome County are a way of life - both for protection and recreation - and I would be active in any law enforcement association which opposes gun ownership restrictions."

We have adequate laws right now and the key rests with enforcement of those laws and not the introduction of new legislation.

For better communication between law enforcement and young adults.

Due to my recent experience in Jerome County law enforcement I am aware of the present problems — such as drugs, disrespect for law, etc. If elected sheriff, I am qualified to stop in and proceed accordingly.

JACK PARROTT
Jerome County Sheriff
Republican
Residence: Eden, Jerome County

Biographical Sketch
Age 35; high school education; married; two children; eight years in United States Marine Corps; three years schooling in military intelligence; one year deputy sheriff, Twin Falls; now special deputy, Twin Falls and Jerome.

Have worked with law enforcement on criminal and narcotic cases past 2 1/2 years; owns and operates BON Towing Service, Eden, and have small cow-calf farm at Eden.

Goals and Concerns
Staff and maintain a 24-hour department that can and will work with and for the people of the county. Answer each and every call that pertains to the sheriff's department, and take appropriate action. Organize city-county drug control unit. Full cooperation with local, state and federal agencies. See that all matters that pertain to the sheriff's department by law, are done by the "sheriff's department."

ELZA HALL
Jerome County Sheriff
Republican
Residence: Jerome, Jerome County

Biographical Sketch
Elza Hall is seeking the Republican nomination for the office of Jerome County sheriff. He is a veteran of World War II, serving in field artillery. Hall has lived in Magic Valley for the past 26 years and was born at West Plains, Mo.

He has served two years on the Ruhl Police Department and four years on the Jerome department where he was captain. Hall has attended police schools throughout Idaho all of which were sponsored by the FBI. He is now employed by Ida-Gem Dairymen, Inc., in 44 years old, married and has one daughter.

Goals and Concerns
I pledge myself to continue the fine quality of law enforcement our citizens have come to expect.

JAMES R. (JIM) LASWELL
Jerome County Sheriff
Republican
Residence: Jerome, Jerome County

Biographical Sketch
I was born and grew up in Montana. I attended schools in White Fish, Mont.; Jerome, Idaho, and Seattle, Wash. I served in the Marine Corps in the Pacific area during World War II. I had special training in crowd and riot control. I've been a businessman doing commercial refrigeration in Jerome since 1948.

Goals and Concerns
To make the sheriff's office available to the public on a 24-hour basis. To broaden patrols to give better coverage to the county.

BOYD RYDALCH
Jerome County Sheriff
Republican
Residence: Jerome, Jerome County

Biographical Sketch
I have for the last eight years been a Jerome County sheriff deputy and I still hold that office.

I am a veteran of World War II. I served aboard a destroyer in the Pacific area.

I have lived in and been a taxpayer in the Jerome County for the past 42 years.

Goals and Concerns
My particular goals and concerns are for the protection of Jerome County and the people who are here.

I will try to maintain a good department and give the public good service.

2 compete for Gooding post

JOHN R. LEMOYNE
Gooding County Commissioner
Republican

Residence: Hagorman, Gooding County

Biographical Sketch
Have lived in Hagorman Valley since 1928, and am now 49 years old. Owned irrigated farm for 21 years, have served on the Hagorman Highway Board for 20 years, four years on Hagorman School Board, two years on Gooding Hospital Board; one year chairman of County ASC Committee, four years on Gooding Country Club Board, several years on County Waterways Committee, now a licensed real estate broker and president of South Idaho Chamber of Commerce.

Goals and Concerns
I stand in favor of orderly, well planned growth for Gooding County. The county will grow anyway, and we must take steps to plan and direct that growth.

I feel that there have definitely been abuses in the welfare program, and that it requires continuous scrutiny. I would like to see how other counties are handling the problem and perhaps implement their more successful programs.

I am seriously concerned with the entire county. Although better acquainted with the Hagerman district, I realize that my responsibilities as county commissioner would be to all the people of Gooding County, and my real estate business has made me familiar with the whole county.

I strongly uphold the multiple use concept for our natural resources. I believe that with proper management, we can gain the economic advantages from our water and land, and still preserve the beauty and freedom of use that we have enjoyed in the past.

I realize that the county is a 3 1/2 million dollar a year business and I will be prepared to help run it in a business-like manner. Wages paid and work produced should be comparable to that expected in a business.

WILLIAM N. BRAILSFORD
Gooding County Commissioner
Republican

Residence: Hagerman, Gooding County

Biographical Sketch
Life-long resident of Hagerman. Graduated with honors in 1963 from California State Polytechnic College with degree in animal science. Have two children. Serving second term as president of Big Bend Canal Co.; second term as advisory board member of Sawtooth National Forest, member of Gooding Club Wool Grower's Association; Idaho Wool Grower's Association; Idaho Cattlemen's Association; American Society of Range Management, and Idaho Public Land Resource Council, Inc.

Goals and Concerns
I believe that a certain amount of welfare is warranted, but a long, hard look should be given to some welfare allocations.

I feel that the county is under a heavy tax burden at the present time and that spending should be kept to a minimum. I think law enforcement has been handicapped by recent court decisions, but the county must exert all possible moral, financial and political support to the law enforcement officials.

Since Gooding County is primarily an agricultural area, I feel that heavy industry, with its train of urban ills and blight, should be discouraged.

I feel we should "make haste slowly" in planning for the future so that the end result will benefit all residents.

I am firmly in accord with the "multiple use concept" and believe development guided by sensible, balanced controls will assure the economic, recreational and aesthetic legacy for the future.

This is an exciting and perplexing time and I believe all changes must be given the most careful study and wisest counsel to make certain the citizens of Gooding County receive the greatest benefits and highest priority.

ANDY GARDNER
... asks vote

Blaine write-in asked

HAILEY — Incumbent C. W. (Andy) Gardner will be seeking write-in votes for the Democratic nomination for district 2 Blaine County commissioner.

The Hailey resident was appointed in June to fill the seat vacated by the death of John Fox. During filling, Gardner was in Wyoming on business and was unable to return before the filing deadline.

The write-in candidate will be opposed for the Democratic nomination by Hailey rancher Gary Hibbard. Robert W. Hatto, an East Fork builder, and Russ L. Horn, a Hailey real estate agent, have filed for the Republican nomination for the two-year term.

Proviso out

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) — Kansas voters have removed a provision of the original state constitution for bidding duellists from holding office.

Twentieth century duellists weren't helped much by the vote, since Kansas law makes dueling a felony, and felons cannot hold office anyway.

Official instructions given Idaho voters

BOISE — Information concerning voting at the Idaho primary election has been issued by Secretary of State Pete T. Cerniunas. These election procedures and rules cover the following points:

Who may vote
Only registered electors may vote at any primary, general, special or any other election governed by provisions of Title 34, Idaho Code.

Where to vote
A polling place is designated for each election precinct by the board of county commissioners. Notices prior to election are published in Idaho newspapers stating the polling place for each election precinct, date of election and the hours during which the polls will be open. If, however, this information is not available, contact the county clerk.

Procedure for voting
At the polling place on day of election you must state your name and address to the judge or clerk in charge of the combination election record and poll book. The judge or clerk will check to see that your name and address are listed in the book as stated. You must sign the combination election record poll book before receiving your ballot from the ballot distributing clerk.

Upon receiving your ballot you will be given folding instructions. Then you enter a vacant voting booth to mark your ballot. Be sure to mark your ballot according to the instructions provided by law. If you spoil your ballot, return it folded to the distributing clerk and ask for a new ballot.

Before leaving the voting booth you must fold your ballot, leaving the official stamp visible and the face of the ballot completely enclosed. You must then deliver your ballot to the judge in charge of the additional copy of the election record poll book and state your name and address. The judge will deposit your ballot in the proper box and record that you have voted.

The voting procedure described above applies to hand marked ballots. If you live in a county using voting machines you will receive instructions as to the correct procedure for voting at the polling place.

Assistance to voter
If you are unable by reason of physical disability or other handicap to personally record your vote you may receive assistance from a person of your own choosing or from one of the election clerks.

New resident voting
If you meet all qualifications for voting in Idaho except that you will not satisfy residency requirements by the day before election, you may obtain a special certificate of registration from your county clerk. This certificate will entitle you to vote for president and vice president at the general election.

Absentee voting
Any registered elector may make written application to the county clerk for an official ballot or ballots to be voted absentee. In the event you wish to vote by absentee ballot your application must be filed with the county clerk not later than 5 p.m. on the day before the election nor earlier than 10 days before the election.

Voted ballots must be received by the issuing officer by 8 p.m. on the day of election.

In the event you are unable to vote in person at the designated polling place on the day of election because of an accident, sudden illness or other disability you may apply for an absent elector's ballot on election day. Please contact your county clerk.

If you move to another county within the state or to another state within 30 days prior to any election you are entitled to vote in the ensuing election by absentee ballot.

Absentee voting by persons in the United States service
A person in the United States Service may make application for an absent elector's ballot by use of a properly executed federal post card application.

If a person in the United States Service submits a properly executed federal post card application and the county clerk receiving it determines that such applicant is not registered, the county clerk shall cause the applicant to be registered and shall then deliver to the applicant the official absent elector's ballot.

Be sure to vote Tuesday

Nixon sets fast trip to meet

WASHINGTON (UPI)—While the Republican National Convention is renominating him in Miami Beach, President Nixon will be at his Key Biscayne, Fla., home.

The convention opens Monday, Aug. 21, and ends Wednesday, Aug. 23. An aide said Nixon probably would not fly to Florida until Tuesday, the day he will be renominated. He will make an acceptance speech Wednesday and then fly to California.

DIRECTIONS for VOTING

1. Move the Red Operating Lever to the Right.
2. Turn down the Pointer over the "Yes" or "No" on each
3. Turn down a Voting Pointer  over the name of each candidate you wish to vote for. LEAVE THE POINTERS DOWN.
4. To vote for PERSONS NOT NOMINATED, hit slot covers at top of machine above positions and WRITE IN NAMES.
5. Move the Red Operating Lever to the Left.

SAMPLE BALLOT

COUNTY OF TWIN FALLS, STATE OF IDAHO, PRIMARY ELECTION DATE AUGUST 8, 1972

Mark candidate's voting lever to the right of the name; a voting lever must be turned down over the name of all candidates for whom you wish to vote. Leave voting lever down.

The machine has arranged that you have down only the proper number of voting levers for each office.

No votes are registered until the curtain lever is moved to open the curtain, and no vote can be changed as you desire while the curtain lever is to the right side.

No one will know how you have voted because the movement of the curtain lever registers the voted voting lever in the sealed position before the curtain begins to open.

The Voter Must Hit the Red Operating Lever to the Right

Attention, Voters!

Familiarize yourself with this diagram and directions for operating the voting machine. It will assist you in voting and save time for election day.

GUÍA PARA EL VOTANTE

Mensaje de Parte del Secretario del Estado:

La participación en el proceso electoral no es a cada uno una voz importante en la dirección de nuestro gobierno. El voto es una precondición para el buen gobierno y como tal es una de las responsabilidades principales de la buena ciudadanía.

Históricamente, el pueblo de Idaho ha tomado el voto muy en serio. La fuerza y el futuro de nuestro sistema de gobierno nos exige que lo sigamos considerando nuestra suma obligación.

Como el encargado electoral del estado de Idaho, le recomiendo a cada elector de estudiar las causas políticas tanto como a los candidatos. Con un criterio bien formado podremos llegar a las urnas electorales por el bien de nuestro estado y de nuestra nación.

Espero que la información que proporciona este folleto les ayude a los ciudadanos de Idaho a matricularse y a votar.

—Pete T. Cenarrusa—

Federal payment sought

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In 1964, Confederate Maj. Gen. Jubal Early marched his rebel corps into Frederick, Md., and demanded the town fathers pay him $200,000.

Frederick paid up and the bearded Early, known as "Old Jubilee" to his troops, kept his part of the bargain by leaving intact $1 million worth of Union Army supplies stored in the town.

The town spent the next 87 years paying off the interest on the money it had borrowed from local banks. The tab came to $4.1 million.

For the past 10 years, Frederick officials have been trying to get the federal government to reimburse the town, and Wednesday Mayor Paul Magaha took the case to a Senate Judiciary subcommittee.

"This is not a ransom," Magaha said. "It's reimbursement for out-of-pocket costs."

1. What do you consider the national priorities for the next Congress? Why?

Welfare reform to increase work incentives and strengthen family units. Close tax loopholes and spread tax burden more fairly. Achieve cleaner air and water and balance natural resource use. Shift more power and responsibility to state and local government. Stimulate rural economy through job development and increased farm income.

2. What can Congress do about unemployment and inflation?

Strengthen vocational education and technical training. Limit federal spending to avoid full employment budget deficit. Phase out controls and return to free market economy as price stabilization is achieved to stimulate job creating private investment. Reduce trade barriers to expand exports, particularly agricultural products. Expand work opportunities for students and teenagers.

3. What should the role of Congress be in establishing U.S. Foreign Policy?

Congress should be fully informed and consulted in advance of major foreign policy decisions; be required to authorize commitments of troops or arms except in emergencies on a temporary basis; maintain continuing review and oversight of all overseas operations and executive agencies responsible for implementation of foreign policy.

Change system so government responds to people and Constitution. Real representation and participation. Congress independent of Executive. Economy of, by and for people not rich corporations. Peace with preparedness. Secure freedoms of Bill of Rights. Truth-telling. Combat racism, male chauvinism, anti-communism, consumptionist materialism, hypernationalism, militarism.

"Jobs, Now," housing, schools, public transit, hospitals, environmental protection, full parity for farmers, incentives for industrial conversion, guaranteed work or minimum income, effective regulatory agencies, tax reform, reduce property tax, end waste military especially Veterans' benefits, social security, anti-monopoly, anti-trust, public ownership of utilities, limits on bank profits.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I need your help. I've been married for six years to a man I'll call Danny. He's my daddy's age. I was 15 when we got married. Danny had a 4-year-old daughter by a woman who took off and left town. Nobody has seen her since. This child is hard to handle. She lies and steals and says to me, "I don't have to mind you. You aren't my REAL mommy." Her father agrees with her.

Danny and I have one child, 5 years old. Danny beats him with a leather strap for nothing. He has beat me too, but at least I can defend myself. When I went to a lawyer about the way Danny abused my son, the lawyer told me I needed two witnesses. Abby, no man is going to beat a child in front of witnesses.

Danny used to pay my daddy $2 for every date he let him have with me. They made a deal that if I married him he'd give Daddy $50 cash and a gas stove. My daddy got the stove but he never got the cash.

Every word of this letter is true, and many people know it, but I can't prove anything. Nobody wants to get involved. Danny says as long as he supports me (which he does) I have to live with him. I have had four miscarriages and I'm pregnant again. What should I do?

MISERABLE AT 22

DEAR MISERABLE: If there is a Family Service agency in your area, ask for their help. If there isn't, ask a clergyman to help you. You could ask your local Legal Aid Society what your rights are. (You've been misinformed.) Or ask for help from your County Attorney or Sheriff. And PLEASE, send me your name and address.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have no living relatives closer than nieces and nephews. We are both retired and have our home paid for. We are not rich, but we have a little cash and property to leave when we die.

There is one relative my husband has who is always asking if we have a "will." Also, if we have a box at the bank, and personal questions of that nature.

This young woman is an inheritance vulture if I ever saw one. I have known other cases where she starts to shower oldsters with kindness and attention when she thinks they are going to die soon. She makes me so nervous, calling and wanting to do things for us. I wonder if she thinks my husband and I are going to die soon?

We can still manage our own affairs as I am only 66 and he is 68. How do you suggest we let her know that we expect to be around for a while longer? MRS. A.

DEAR MRS. A.: The best way to let her know is to TELL her.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to bring up an issue which I am sure has occurred to many. The waste of restaurant food.

In only a few days of waiting on tables, I have discovered to my horror the enormous amount of food that is thrown out because the customer has no interest in eating it.

The total amount of lettuce, tomato, pickles and raw onion alone may seem substantial from day to day, but how about in one year's time? And how about the customer who orders a dinner for the youngster who will eat maybe one fourth of it? Where does the rest go? You know.

In the interest of conserving food, it doesn't seem too much to have the waitress ask, "Tomato? Pickle? Onion?" A quick letter, "T," "P," and "O" would indicate choice.

CONSERVATIVE IN FLAGSTAFF

DEAR CON: Leftovers on a child's plate for an adult's for that matter go into the garbage. Which is where it should go, according to the law. A better place by far would be into a doggie bag and home with the customer. But the option of tomato, pickle and onion isn't a bad idea.

FOR SYBIL LEEK, psychic

You predicted J. Edgar Hoover's death in a newspaper article last January, and the assassination attempt on George Wallace in a book published shortly before the Governor was shot. How do you feel when predictions like these come true?—L. T., Salinas, Calif.

● I feel revolted and appalled. When I heard about the Wallace assassination attempt, I immediately had an attack of asthma, an attack that lasted for two days. It really gets me deep inside—in the solar plexus, so to speak. However, I have a great refuge in sleep. When the Bobby Kennedy assassination took place (which I had predicted), I took to my bed. I think I really try to tell myself it didn't happen; I know I try to push it to the back of my mind.

FOR THE REVEREND BILLY GRAHAM

On a Johnny Cash TV show, you said the guitar was mentioned in the Bible: I found the cornet, cymbals and eight other instruments, but no guitar. Where is it mentioned?—Mrs. C. Lee Parks, Murrayville, Ga.

● The Bible refers repeatedly to stringed instruments, and as an example, notice Psalm 150:4, "...praise him with stringed instruments and organs." Especially note Psalm 33:2, where the reference is made to an instrument of ten strings, probably very much like a guitar.

FOR LISA TODD of "Hoo Hoo"

Do people ever confuse you with Liza Todd, daughter of Elizabeth Taylor and the late Mike Todd?—M. S., Ashbury Park, N. J.

● All the time! People just want to believe that I am. Even stories in the press insist that I am Liza Todd. I keep explaining that I'm not, and pointing out that she's only about 13 years old. I started using "Lisa Todd" as my stage name about five years ago when I was dating a boy named Todd. I wasn't happy with my real name, which is—Lisa Taylor!

FOR HUGH O'BRIAN, star of NBC's "Probe"

You have a record of taking chances. What was the biggest one you ever took?—J. W., Bluefield, W. Va.

● Jumping out of a plane. I did a film in which the character I played was supposed to be a big hero, has to make a jump but gets scared and can't make it. He has to come down in the plane. A big disgrace and letdown to him. I wanted to see how I would react under the same circumstances, if I had the guts to make it. I did, then went back to do a second jump—just to see if I could repeat it.

FOR CARROLL O'CONNOR

I have heard the rumor that you may discontinue your role as Archie Bunker. True?—Billy Bornholdt, Le Sueur, Minn.

● The rumor you heard is just that—a rumor. I have never said I would quit the show. I love the show and everyone connected with it, and as long as the audiences like the show, I will be Archie Bunker.

FOR BOB HOPE

Does your wife ever go with you on your trips to Vietnam?—Mrs. Art Hutzler, Merrillville, Ind.

● Back in 1968, my wife Dolores, my daughter Nora and my son Kelley all joined me for part of the Christmas trip. And in 1969, Dolores again made part of the trip, but went home early to be with our grandchildren. It's wonderful for me, but seeing Dolores seems to make the servicemen more homesick, so I don't take her along every year. She says she wants to go next year if I go.

FOR GAIL KUHN, author of "Sexual Powers Through Witchcraft"

Can men over 40 really be sexually regenerated, as you claim?—R. N., Bloomington, Ind.

● I believe men from 18 to 75 can be sexually regenerated by witchcraft. This can be done through metaphysical experiences, incantations, applications of love oil, massages and occult experiences.

FOR AL KALINE, Detroit Tiger baseball star

What is the toughest pitch for you to hit against? How about the toughest pitcher?—Byrdie Williamson, Milton, N. C.

● The hardest pitch for me to hit is a sidearm delivery. So I've got to say that the toughest pitcher for me to hit against is Ted Abernathy, the Kansas City rightie, who is a side-armed.

FOR REX REED, movie critic

Your face and personality are very appealing. Would you consider a movie career?—Lorene Moranville, Bayard, Neb.

● I have turned down a number of movie roles since appearing in "Myra Breckinridge" because the films were not very good. But if the right part came along, I'd consider it again. Acting is fun, and movie critics should try it. Meanwhile, my syndicated column and movie reviews keep me busier than most of the unemployed actors I know.

FOR DORIS DAY

I know how dog-pounds have killed animals in those de-compression chambers and I think it's utterly inhuman! Why doesn't the SPCA do something about it?—Shari McClinton, Placentia, Calif.

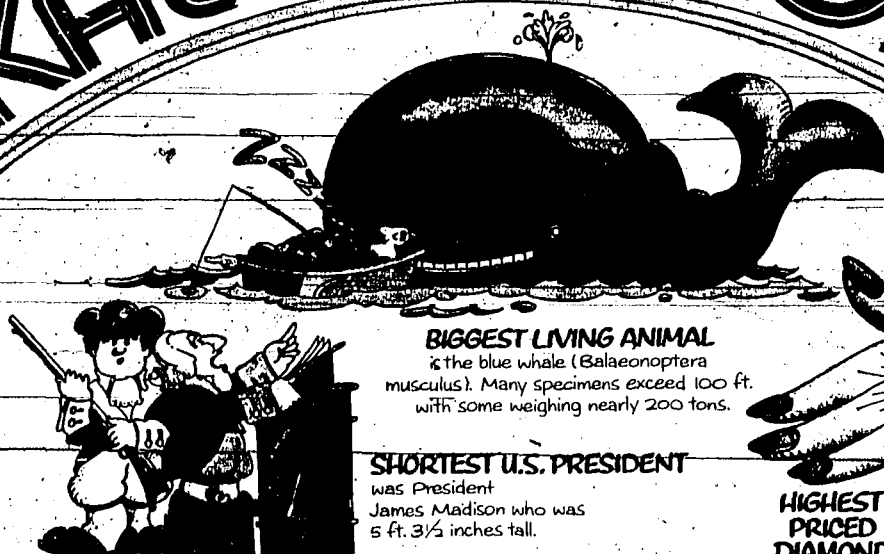

● Many groups and individuals are trying to combat this evil practice. It's a matter of influencing public opinion or persuading civic officials of the cruelty involved. Sometimes this turns out to be a difficult task. You can help through your local humane association. A merciful way of destroying these unfortunate creatures is the quick, painless hypodermic injection.

Smart Cooking

This week, Food Editor Marilyn Hansen prepares an eye-pleasing punch bowl because: "For years I've noticed at parties that it isn't just the way food tastes that draws compliments; it's the way it's presented. So when some neighbors had a lawn party, and assigned me to make the punch, I took the extra time to make a colorful ice float. Judging from the oohs and ahs it got, it sure was worth it!"

Let's Make a Pretty "Ice Float" Punch

The Summer Fruit Sip stands in a bowl, foreground, waiting to be prettified by one of the ice floats in molds, background.

SUMMER FRUIT SIP

- 1 can (8 ozs.) frozen fruit juicy red Hawaiian punch concentrate, thawed
- 7 punch cans cold water
- 1 can (8 ozs.) frozen limeade concentrate, thawed
- 2 cups orange juice, chilled
- 1 bottle (4 1/2 qt.) cold duck, chilled
- 1 bottle (12 ozs.) tonic water, chilled
- Decorative ice float or ice cubes (recipe below)
- Citrus slices for garnish: lime or orange
- 1. In 4-5 qt. punch bowl, combine all liquid ingredients. Place ice float in punch or add ice cubes. Ladle into tall glasses. Garnish.

CHERRY-LIME FLIP

- 1 can (46 ozs.) cherry royal Hawaiian punch, chilled
- 1 can (8 ozs.) frozen limeade concentrate, thawed
- 1 1/2 cups cold water
- 2 bottles (12 ozs.) club soda or bitter lemon soda, chilled
- Decorative ice float or ice cubes (recipe below)
- Lime slices for garnish, optional
- 1. In punch bowl, combine punch, limeade concentrate and water. Slowly stir in club soda.
- 2. Place ice float in punch or add ice cubes. Ladle into glasses. Garnish with lime slices if desired.

ICE FLOAT

Mold
Water
Fruit

- 1. Fill the mold of your choice (ac-tel mold that will float within circumference of punch bowl) about three-quarters full of water or of the punch you are serving. Freeze.
- 2. Arrange desired fruits, such as lemon slices, lime slices, orange slices, strawberries, maraschino cherries or small grape clusters, in a - pretty pattern on top of the frozen water.

- 3. Fill the pan with additional water and freeze.
- 4. Unmold by holding mold briefly in hot water. Place the ice float on punch in punch bowl with the pattern side up.
- 5. Or if desired, place small individual fruit in sections of ice cube tray. Add water, freeze. Unmold in punch bowl.

The Better Business Bureau Warns:

These Swindles Are Used Most to Take Your Money

By H. Bruce Palmer, president, Council of Better Business Bureaus, Inc.

Can the consumer ever be fully protected from misrepresentation and fraud in the marketplace? Among the most experienced professionals in this field are Better Business Bureau managers—yet even they have stories to tell about how they were taken in by smooth-talking con men.

One BBB manager in Indianapolis tells this story on himself: "I was at home alone one Saturday morning when the doorbell rang. The man at the door, with his receipt pad ready, said he was from the local furrier and had come to pick up my wife's fur coat for storage. I turned over the coat, he wrote out a receipt and went his way. I thought no more about it until my wife came home... and sure enough, she had made no arrangements to store her coat. The receipt was a phony, and needless to say, we never saw the coat again."

A novice bureau staffer in another city accepted a package for a neighbor who was not at home, signed a receipt and paid a $5 postage-due charge, only to find that his neighbor wasn't expecting anything and that the package he had accepted contained, fittingly enough, a brick!

"Frauds of this type are commonplace," says David Ruff, manager of the Newark bureau, "and there is little we can do to protect the victims. A good rule of thumb is: Never turn anything of value over to a stranger without double-checking his references, taking his license-plate number when possible, and/or calling his office to verify his identity."

There are several areas of perennial complaint that have been noted by bureaus across the country. Here are the most notorious ones, those that are most often used to take your money and time and to give you the least possible return.

Better Business Bureaus are constantly doing battle with practitioners of the old bait-and-switch routine. It works like this: An ad appears in the paper for sewing machines at the rock-bottom price of $40. When the hopeful customer appears, the salesman either tells her that the fast machine was just sold at that price or else tries to convince her that the machine isn't really very good and to tout her on to another product costing twice as much. "It's surprising how quickly and smoothly such sales gimmicks work," one bureau representative says.

General Advice: Learn to recognize the tactics of bait and switch when you see them and evaluate your purchase accordingly. Those who pursue "bargains" too avidly often end up paying more.

HOME-IMPROVEMENT SWINDLES

A lady in Gary, Ind., let in a "furnace inspector" who wanted to check the safety of her furnace. She left him in the basement while she finished putting a pie in the oven. When she returned, he had dismantled the furnace and had parts spread out all over the floor. "I came just in time," he told her. "This furnace was ready to blow up. I can repair it and put it back together again for $75." His victim had little choice but to have him reassemble the furnace—and she had no way of knowing whether it truly had been a safety hazard.

General Advice: Call your local county clerk's office or Better Business Bureau to find out if such inspections are legal. Check the credentials of the inspector and call his office to verify them.

H. Bruce Palmer, who wrote this article especially for FAMILY WEEKLY, is president of the Council of Better Business Bureaus, Inc. A 1931 graduate of the University of Michigan, he was for 31 years associated with the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., and was its president from 1953 to 1962. Mr. Palmer is the holder of many awards and four honorary degrees, and has been active in public service for many years.

Illustrations by Blake Thompson

BBB's on the East Coast have fat "don't deal" files on a "research company" that sends out letters that say: "This is not another sales gimmick. On the contrary, we want to buy something from you—your honest, objective opinion of new products and publications." What could sound more sincere, despite the $10 registration fee that is required? But complaints pour in to BBB offices about the products that are then mailed out—products of trivial value like dustcloths, razor blades, eyeliner pencils. Payment for evaluating these products, it turns out, is not made in cash, but in scrip, to be applied toward goods of equally insignificant value sold at higher than store prices.

General Advice: Before sending money to such "organizations" (especially if the address is a box number), ask for further information. A legitimate concern never hesitates to give details of its operations.

SELF-IMPROVEMENT SCHEMES

A middle-aged man in New York went to a hair-replacement center that advertised hairpieces guaranteed to stay permanently in place. Mr. X signed what he was told was a routine release, stating that the results of the surgical procedure were not guaranteed. He then paid $1,200 and underwent the "painless" process of having the piece wired to his scalp. After a few days, the wires began to bother him, and the pain became so great that he went to a hospital to have the hairpiece removed. He wanted his money back, but the release he had signed protected the center and they refused to make any kind of settlement. After pressure from the BBB, the center finally offered Mr. X a specially woven $500 wig as a replacement. Not satisfied, Mr. X has decided to take his case to court, where action is now pending.

General Advice: Always read the fine print before signing contracts. Remember that once a contract is signed, the company is liable for nothing that is not in writing.

FRANCHISE SCHEMES

Vending-machine franchises that offer a sure way to make easy money should be regarded with suspicion. Until he called the BBB, Mr. G of Shreveport, La., was tempted to invest $2,400 in chewing-gum machines on his own route by a fast-talking salesman who promised him an easy life raking in money in his spare time. What Mr. G hadn't realized was that the costs of routine repair and vandalism could eat away all his profits, and that servicing the machines would turn into a full-time job—with calls coming in day and night.

General Advice: Before investing money in such enterprises, always check the company's reputation.

PHONY CHARITIES

A flurry of inquiries came in to a BBB office in the Midwest when a "boiler room" operation was set up in the West. It worked like this: Your telephone rings and a pleasant voice says, "This is the Ray of Light Misnion. Chances are you haven't heard of us." The voice talks on, fast and convincingly: "The mission is raising funds for its annual Christmas dinner for the homeless. The $5 or $10 you give will bring many times that amount of joy to the poor unfortunate who need help. If you agree to contribute, a representative will be at your home or place of business within an hour to pick up the money."

Although the BBB issues repeated warnings when these operators hit town, many people are duped into contributing just the same.

General Advice: When you're asked for money by phone, tell the caller to "put it in writing" and then obtain a BBB report. When solicited in person, say you must get a BBB report first. When solicited by mail, check that out too.

VICTIMIZING THE AGED

Mrs. P, an elderly Dallas widow, received a letter from one Edward Warden. The letter said, in part, "I am writing to you in an effort to bring your attention to your husband's account which is long past due." The letter said that the deceased man "still owes $46.20 for services and the account had been turned over to me for collection." Alarmed, Mrs. P called the BBB, which told her that such a demand for money might be a hoax and that she should advise Warden that she was turning the matter over to her lawyer. Several other persons filed complaints against Warden, and soon the evidence of extortion brought about his arrest and conviction on four counts of mail fraud. He was sentenced to three years in prison.

General Advice: Regard any demands for money from strangers with immediate suspicion. In this instance, the mention of Mrs. P's lawyer was enough to frighten Warden away.

SERVICE REPAIRS

A neighbor of Betty Clemens, the consumer advocate of the Better Business Bureau, bought a deluxe new gas range—the last word in kitchen appliances, almost guaranteed to turn out gourmet meals. A few days after it was installed, something in the switch mechanism began to slip and ignite a burner—often in the middle of the night. Calls to the dealer were of no avail. An indifferent repairman made one appearance but failed to fix the range. The neighbor asked Betty to intercede, and she responded: "Look, manufacturers don't want you to be unhappy with their products because they know you'll tell everyone who will listen never to buy their appliances. Let's write them and explain the difficulties with the stove and the indifference of the dealer." Within a few days a repairman was back at the house and fixed the stove.

General Advice: When a dealer refuses to cooperate, let the manufacturer know about it.

HIGH-PRESSURE SALES TACTICS

An alert BBB manager in Newark played detective when businessmen in the New York area were being plagued by solicitations for ads in "Black American Magazine." The salesmen implied that anyone who didn't take an ad was a racist and would be reported to the Civil Rights Commission. Many people yielded to the pressure. David Ruff, manager of the Newark BBB and black himself, investigated the authenticity of the "magazine." He found that it was a poorly printed pamphlet, presided over by two white con men. Ruff turned the case over to the police and the two men were convicted of fraud.

General Advice: If you have been victimized by a swindler, let your local BBB know about it, so that they have a record of schemes operating in your area and can caution others.

MISLEADING ADVERTISING

A lady in Wilmington, Del., was going on a two-week holiday cruise. Her problem was to find a good kennel in which to board her dog. She answered an ad in the paper for a dog-and-cat boarding and grooming service. After talking to the kennel by phone, she had some reservations and decided to call the BBB, which she found had already checked out the "service." The people who placed the ad listed only a phone number and hedged inquiries about their address, saying that they picked up and delivered pets. A BBB investigator obtained the address through the newspaper ad department and found that it was a dirty, boarded-up building in the warehouse section of town. The lady sought out another kennel.

General Advice: Be wary of tight-unseen facilities. If you cannot personally check out advertised claims, call your local BBB for information.

Is It Tough for You to Get a Kick Out of Life?

Most of us would like to get more enjoyment out of life. And we believe you'll enjoy this True or False quiz, which takes a look at the findings of the experts on the subject of making living a more zealous experience.

1. It would be easy to enjoy life if we could have everything we wanted.
2. Handicapped people are less happy and get less enjoyment out of life than normal persons.
3. The capacity for enjoying life varies with each individual.
4. People who enjoy life—who have a zest for living—seldom are ill.
5. Being dishonest robs a person of the ability to enjoy life.
6. If you're not getting as much enjoyment out of life as you feel you should, that's just the way the cookie crumbles and there isn't much you can do about it.

1. Eals. As psychologist H. J. Wahler observes in summing up the findings of a study on this subject, "Enjoying life is complex. Having all our needs and desires immediately satisfied will not produce an enjoyable life. Such a condition would in most instances produce satiation and boredom in humans." An enjoyable life, he finds, requires contrasts: It involves experiencing a wide gamut of both pain and satisfaction.

- but this did not make them less happy or affect their zeal for living.

have such a capacity for enjoying life that the most adverse conditions cannot extinguish it. Others lack this capacity to such an extent that they get little pleasure or enjoyment out of living even under the most favorable conditions. Psychological studies show that one way to increase your capacity for enjoying life is to cultivate a better sense of humor. Investigations show that people with a well-developed sense of humor are able to view things in a truer perspective, have the ability to roll with the punches life occasionally hands out, plus the ability to laugh at their own foibles, without taking themselves—or anything else—too seriously.

4. True. A consensus of leading medical studies, both in the U.S. and Britain, shows that a person's attitude and general outlook on life not only affect his morale and emotional well-being, but also affect his physical well-being. People who enjoy life, who have a zestful, upbeat approach to living, are far less subject to all types of disease and infection - ranging from the common colds, headaches and backaches to the more serious afflictions.

5. True. Psychological studies have demonstrated that being dishonest robs an individual of two things: his self-esteem and his capacity to enjoy life. The man who is unhappy with himself is unhappy with the world around him. And studies show that the man who has a poor opinion of himself has a similarly low opinion of others. This negative and paranoid attitude is the thing that effectively robs him of the ability to enjoy life.

8. False. There's a simple and easy way to increase your enjoyment of life. Take time out for a moment of careful reflection: Dig down deep and come up with an honest answer to this question: "What are the things I've done recently that brought me the greatest enjoyment?" Take pencil and paper and make a list, then incorporate these activities into your schedule more frequently. Give them just as high a priority on your calendar as your other responsibilities permit. Remember, earning to enjoy life to your fullest potential is a do-it-yourself proposition. Nobody can do it for you.

The V Seam Makes for a Very Different Detail

By Rosalyn Abrevaya

Quick, cast an eye at the clothes in your closet. We're willing to bet none of the styles in your wardrobe is as uniquely detailed as this one is.

But the touch that really makes this dress is not intricate at all. It's achieved simply by top-stitching on either side of the V-shaped seams, then accenting with button trim. The dress can be sewn in a short-sleeve or sleeveless version. Suggested fabrics: cotton, linen or a blend.

Size 12 takes 2 1/4 yards of 44-inch fabric. Standard body measurements for size 12 are: Bust 34, Waist 25 1/2, Hips 36.

This plan says so much and the $1 offer is so good, you probably have some questions or even some doubts. We've put all the answers (including the minor limitations) right here in black and white for Family Weekly readers so you won't miss the Enrollment Deadline for the Extra Cash/Plus Plan. Ordinary hospitalization insurance alone just is not enough now, when your family is hit with a hospital stay. Especially with the bigger bills at home. You need to supplement it with a hospital income plan that pays enough extra cash — cash that's in addition to any other money and insurance or Medicare payments you may have. Otherwise you could end draining your savings, children's college fund, etc. Low-cost Extra Cash/Plus helps answer today's alarming jump in hospital charges. Pays more because it covers more. Helps out for both sickness and accident, the burdensome costs of Intensive Care and convalescent facilities. Yes, even preparens for further inflation.

Now — for only $1 — and regardless of your age, or size of your family, you get your first month's protection for all eligible family members.

Your policy will be issued to you on your application with No age limit for adults, and without the usual insurance investigations... without any red tape whatsoever.

All of your unmarried dependent children residing in your home may be included under this plan between the ages of 1 month and 19 years. Both you and your wife — if neither has been hospitalized for sickness for more than a total of seven days in the past two years — are eligible for coverage. There are no other qualifications. The few customary exclusions which help keep your premiums low are described in question and answer (Number 22) at right.

22 Questions and Answers Tell Why

National-Ben Franklin Hospital Extra Cash/Plus Policy is your best protection for the lowest cost

1. What are the chances of me going to the hospital?
1 out of 7 people do each year. Could be your wife, children, even you. You could count on up to $15,000 with Extra Cash/Plus!
2. $15,000! How Come Extra Cash/Plus Pays So High?
Pays longer than most. $600 a month ($20 a day) under age 65; up to 25 months for each hospital benefit period. No waiting: pays from the 1st day whether for sickness or accident. N-BF Life planned Extra Cash/Plus to plug gaps others miss.
3. What'll They Pay for My Wife?
Same big benefits as yours, $600 a month ($20 a day) (under age 65); up to 25 months, to $15,000 each hospital benefit period.
4. Are Maternity Benefits Included?
YES! Unlike many policies, Pays $600 a month ($20 a day) up to 25 months, for your wife's hospital confinement for any pregnancy, or its complications, beginning while both of you are insured. No extra charge!
5. Does "Intensive Care" DOUBLE Our Benefits?
Yes, for adults under 65. Pays $20 a day up to 30 days. Up to $600 are added to your hospital income dollars. (Other generous benefits for other age groups.) Of course, regular recovery room service for less than 24 hours is not covered.
6. Does Extra Cash/Plus Cover Nursing Home Care?
Sure does and not many do. Regardless of age, it pays up to $300 — $10 a day for 30 days (each hospital benefit period) for confinement in a nursing home or hospital convalescent unit, starting within 7 days of a 3-day covered hospital stay.
7. Just What is the 25% Cost-of-Living Raise?
A hedge against even higher hospital costs! Each person's original benefits will increase 5% for benefit periods which start after the end of the 1st year; similar increases for 4 more years. Totals 25% more cash for you. No added cost!
8. What If I Have Other Insurance?
Extra Cash/Plus pays in addition to group coverage, Workmen's Comp, Medicare, or any other company's policy.
9. WHO Gets the Cash?
You do. No payments to the doctor, hospital or nursing home unless you say so. It's all yours.
10. All Mine? No Taxes?
No taxes.
11. Will Extra Cash/Plus Take Care of Our Children?
YES! Pays up to $7500... $300 a month ($10 a day) up to 25 months for any of your children's hospital benefit periods. Each new baby is covered automatically after 1 month of age.
12. All at One Price? What a Bargain!
One very LOW premium covers all your children. NO MATTER HOW MANY, over 1 month through 18 years old.
13. Do They Get the "Plus" Benefits, Too?
YES! Up to $300 ($10 a day) additional for Intensive Care; up to $300 ($10 a day) Nursing Home Care. Cost-of-Living Raises will increase children's $300 benefits to $375 after 5 years.
14. Just Who Can Get In On Cash/Plus?
Any adult who has not been hospitalized for sickness for more than a week in the last 2 years — AND NO AGE LIMIT — for adults to apply.
15. What are We Paid at Age 65 or Over?
Extra Cash/Plus pays you up to $14,400... for up to 25 months (over 2 years) for each hospital benefit period. $300 a month ($10 a day) first 2 months; $600 a month ($20 a day) for 23 months more. This helps lower your rates and the $600 benefit means more money when you need it most — when Medicare stops.
16. Do We Get the "Intensive Care" Feature?
YES! At age 65 or over, $10 a day for 30 days, up to $300, is added to your hospital income payment.
17. What is our total Cost-of-Living raise?
In 5 years, your original benefits will also go up to a total increase of $375 for each of the first 2 months and $750 a month thereafter.
18. What am I Paid for Less Than a Month?
You're paid 1/30 of your monthly benefits for each day of confinement from the 1st day.
19. Can Premiums Be Changed or My Policy Cancelled?
Your policy can never be singled out for change or cancellation because of claims or poor health. Rate schedule changes or cancellation could only occur for all policies like yours in your class and State upon proper notice; nothing of the sort is foreseen. You're Safe with Extra Cash/Plus!
20. When Do New Benefit Periods Start?
Each eligible hospital stay for a new sickness or injury starts a new 25-month benefit period. Same or related causes are covered for 25 months; if you're not confined for that illness for 12 months, a new benefit period begins.
21. What About "Pre-Existing" Conditions?
Even these are covered when hospitalization begins 2 years or more after protection starts.
22. What Few Exclusions Are There?
Only a few — to help keep your rates low. They are: conditions resulting from declared or undeclared war or act of war, mental illness or nervous disorder; confinement in a federal hospital or federal convalescent facility. Even maternity is covered when both husband and wife are insured.

By June Lockhart
Especially for Family Weekly

For a while now, young people seem to have accepted me wholeheartedly as a person. I suppose the reason is that I have been cast so long as the perfect "mother" image. After all, for six years I played the heart of the American dream of patient, understanding motherhood in the "Lassie" TV series. And after that I was the equally perfect and loving space-age mother in "Lost in Space." In that series, I did get my apron off, but my character was still the same: Mother. And a bit square at that. Even my role as lady doctor on "Petticoat Junction" was in line with this image. So I can understand the kids' reactions.

But of course, I am not that plastic model-woman at all. I wasn't when I did the series, and I am not now. I accepted those roles because they were challenging and assured steady employment—which any actor enjoys. They also provided me with the opportunity to get to know today's young people.

It all began, really, when I went to see "Hair" in Los Angeles. I was amazed. That show opened up the theater. It brought the actors off the stage and into contact with the audience. Most important, it prepared the way for a better understanding of today's young people and what they stand for. The story itself is essentially about a boy who couldn't burn his draft card, was sent to Vietnam, and was killed for his efforts. I was taken with the political message of "Hair," with the young people who were telling it, and its joyful celebration of hope. So I went back several more times to see it and to visit with the cast backstage.

My interest in politics, and especially political journalism, has been part of my life since I first started attending current-events class in school when I was 12 years old. And later, during the 1950's, I was the only woman on a current-events news quiz show on NBC called "Who Said That?"

So when I learned there was to be a war moratorium in downtown L.A., and that the members of the show were going, I wanted to go, too. I figured that if I went with a group of young Equity actors, I'd be quite safe. I asked to tag along.

As it turned out, the L.A. "Hair" company was going to Washington, D.C., for the moratorium, and joining them were cast members from the San Francisco, Chicago and New York companies. My "Petticoat Junction" producers permitted me to travel with the group, and even agreed to postpone shooting my scenes so I could go.

When everyone assembled in the capital, I was amazed to see the sea of faces stretching out before me as I got up on the platform. (They had unexpectedly asked me to say a few words.) The welcoming applause was thunderous. They'd accepted me completely because they seemed to feel that I was a parent joining with them, condoning what they were doing. It was then that I understood how much I represented the mother image. And when I stood there and looked out at those hundreds and hundreds of young people, all singing the same song, all loving America fiercely, all caring—I was overwhelmed!

I don't really know how it happened, but after that I found myself constantly speaking on behalf of these young people and the cast of "Hair." I'd go into towns that didn't want the play, and I'd talk to the people, explain what the story was about, what the young people wanted to say through it. I dispelled a lot of wrong impressions that potential audiences had about the play and its cast. And after they saw "Hair," they admitted they, too, better understood today's young people.

I am no textbook parent. I try not to be a critic of our youth; I try to have an open mind. When the thunder hit big, I bought their records and I sat down and listened to them. Studied them. And I bought their posters, too. I wanted to know what it was my girls, Anne, who is 18 now and an actress, and June, who is now 16, saw in them. Then at the first opportunity, I went to a rock concert with the kids. And I've kept right on going. We have a marvelous time!

I advise other parents to do the same thing. Go to the next rock concert that comes around. Find out what it is all about. But buy some records first and bone-up. To break in gently, try Donovan, on one of his earlier recordings. Later, you'll get to hard rock and it will blast you initially. In all honesty, I don't see why it must all be played so loud. Sometimes here in the apartment, I sit by the fireplace and I can hear a different record blaring out of every room and it's really too much! Still, parents should go see and go listen. I learned to love it, and so, I'm sure, will many other parents.

Things are changing so rapidly for everyone. My childhood was nothing like my daughters' childhoods. But mine was very happy, too. I had a lot of fun as a teenager. My grandfather was a singer, and both my parents were in the theater and movies. I was always so grateful that my father lived to see me successful in his chosen profession. He and I were friends and colleagues. But like most kids then, I did things to please my parents. My mother was—still is—very Victorian. I obeyed as a child, but as I got older, I began to realize that I had to do things because I felt they were right! Not because somebody told me they were. I had to find out and know for myself. So I even grew away from church and developed my own philosophy.

When I was divorced, my daughters' father insisted that they attend a parochial school. But the girls did not accept the dogma of organized religion.

I am not sorry. That may sound like a strange thing to say, but I think because they refused to let their thoughts be regimented, they developed their own codes to live by, and these codes seem to me stronger and more honest. Nor do they hurt anyone. My daughters do have strong spiritual beliefs—and faith in a Supreme Being. I feel they must make up their own minds.

June attends boarding school in Arizona, and she says the chapel is hardly ever full, yet at Christmastime the student body went up on the mountains behind the school, stayed up all night, and as the sun rose, broke bread together. It touched her deeply. It was real. The sharing, the loving were honest. To me, that is religion. A living religion.

Since I have spoken out on behalf of young people, I've received calls, letters, even visits from people who ask me what to do about their "weird" children, and from children who want to know what can be done about their "stuffy, stoical" parents. I've observed both the "now" generation kids and those of an entirely different background—the girls competing for the Miss Universe and Miss U.S.A. titles. For six years, I've been an emcee for these contests. These girls sign a business contract before they enter either contest, agreeing what they can and can't do. But, even among them, speaking out is beginning to be encouraged. They are allowed to be more vocal, to express themselves and their ideas more freely than in the past. I feel this is not only right, but necessary!

It is my observation and belief that parents' own fears are the basis of much of the generation gap. Parents find it hard to communicate. The children love their parents but they sometimes resent their parents as rigid and unable to accept new ideas. Many adults I know seem to fear this expressive generation—and give their love with strings attached. Someone once said, "God help the country that hates its young." So I advise my fellow parents to relax, and allow their love to be big enough to be given unconditionally.

Sports Mini-Profile

LOU BROCK:

He Lets Them Know
When He's Goin' to Steal

Lou Brock of the St. Louis Cardinals is the most successful thief in sports. He has stolen more than 50 bases a year for the past seven years and will equal an all-time record set by the immortal Ty Cobb if he does it again this year. He also led the major leagues in runs scored last year and posted the second-highest batting average of his big-league career. ... During the last game of the 1967 World Series, he overheard two reporters saying that if he stole two more bases in that game, he would establish a new Series record. He promptly got a hit, stole second and third and clinched his record. At 33, Brock still has a fun-loving exuberance that seems to be identified with all good base stealers. He laughs as he runs down the base paths ahead of the catcher's throw and frequently sings to himself when he's playing the outfield. He gets a $100,000-a-year salary, but cheerfully admits he loves playing ball so much he would do it for nothing. He can't understand players who regard baseball as a business. ... "I once depended on the element of surprise in my base running," he says, "but then I found I could do better if I let the other team know I was going to steal. It was a psychological gimmick—designed to get them so nervous they'd mess up the play." ... Brock was born into a poor family of nine children in El Dorado, Ark. He was given an athletic scholarship to Southern University, but instead of taking "snap" courses, he majored in math and did well at it. He was signed by the Chicago Cub organization, assigned to the St. Cloud minor-league team and hit a home run on the first pitch thrown to him as a professional player. He moved up to the major-league club before the season ended and went to St. Louis in a trade in 1964. ... Married and the father of two, Brock concentrates his off-season activities on the Lou Brock Boys Club, an organization that helps over 1,500 underprivileged children. "I've been awfully lucky in my life, so I figure that I owe it to these kids to try to do something to help them out," he says.

"I wish I could give men and women the courage to be more honest with each other in their relationships," says film star Gina Lollobrigida. "For some reason the man is usually the one who finds it most difficult to tell a woman that he doesn't love her any more and is unhappy. Women have more courage in this respect and find it easier to speak the truth. Men are more afraid. But I insist that it is far better to be completely honest and say that the love was beautiful, but now it is finished. I don't mean that you should be honest to the point of needlessly saying things that will be painful. You don't say to a woman, 'You are ugly.' Or if you have been unfaithful, you don't tell the other person to needlessly be hurtful. But there are crucial times when truth is less painful than dishonesty. I also advocate candor in one's professional life. There have been movie directors I haven't liked, and directors who haven't liked me, and when we have said it right out in the open to each other, this has been better than talking behind the back."

HARTFORD MAYOR GEORGE ATHANSON
He dares to be different

Is it madness that makes the 44-year-old mayor of Hartford, Conn., slip into armor and onto a horse, don a grass skirt and dance the hula, bounce on a waterbed in nightshirt and cap, pose as the Red Baron in goggles and scarf, or ride a huge tricycle through the park, as he's done in the last few months? No, says George Athanson, it's just his method of gaining people's attention, which he then focuses on problems and needs. (He appeared in armor as St. George for the Cancer Crusade.) It gets him some abuse, too, but the Greece-born Athanson just bounces along, happily fingering worry beads during council meetings and carrying trinkets to ward off the evil eye. When people are startled into recognizing problems, they're impelled to do something about them, he tells us. "I don't care what people think," he smiles. "I'm going to be myself." And he's off to donate blood while on television or, rising to his full five feet, five inches, to referee a professional basketball game. And his constituents seem happy to let George get them to do it.

Russia wins a big first—it now leads the U.S. in water pollution. According to Dr. Marshall Goldman of Wellesley College, 60 to 75 percent of all industrial effluent in the USSR is not treated at all. This has resulted in every conceivable kind of havoc. Rivers have turned into sewers, oil spills have affected harbors and streams, and drinking water supplies have been tainted. As the Russians reach out in search of ever-newer, cleaner water supplies, ecologists are horrified at the environmental upheavals. (Quite a record for a country in which the majority of citizens still don't have sewage facilities or running water in their homes!)

KIRK AND LESLEY ANN
Mrs. Douglas says it's OK

Men: Is this the kind of girl you'd bring home to meet your wife? "Kirk

Douglas said he wanted his wife to meet me—and see what she thought of me—before he'd give me a part in his new film," grinned shapely actress Lesley Ann Down, 19. "So after seeing him in his office, I went to their home and met her. We sat and talked about all sorts of things." PS: Lesley got an OK from Mrs. D. and is now off to Yugoslavia to make the film with Kirk.

ARMOUR'S ARMOURY

ON THE DOUBLE

By Richard Armour

Double-knit clothes are the thing today.
No wrinkling, no sagging at all.
Double-knit clothes are a boon indeed
For the large as well as the small.
If ever I break a leg or an arm
And go in a cast all gaunt,
It won't be enough if the bone should knit—
It's a double-knit bone I'll want.

A group of Boy Scouts visiting an FBI office stopped to view the pictures of "the ten most wanted men." One boy pointed to a picture and asked if it really was the photograph of the wanted person. The FBI man assured him that it was.

"Then why," asked the lad, "didn't you keep him when you took his picture?"
—Herm Albright

THROUGH A CHILD'S EYES

Kids see life differently. Send contributions to "Child," Family Weekly, 841 Lexington Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10022. $10 if used—none returned.

We were discussing the imminent arrival of our second child. I said, "When he comes, we may have to move to a bigger house." Our first child listened gravely, then shook his head. "That wouldn't work," he said. "He'd just follow us!"
—Stephie Gitti
Sonoma, Calif.

The Army chaplain wasn't the kind to complain. One day one of the cooks gave his assistant a sad look and remarked, "I'm afraid the chaplain doesn't like the hash today."

"The assistant looked. 'Why do you say that?'" he asked. "The chaplain hasn't even started to eat. He's still saying grace."

"The cook sighed. 'Oh, he started to eat, all right. This is his second prayer.'"
—Dean Morgan

IT'S STREW

My spouse, when he steps in the door,
Will drop his briefcase on the floor.
A little further on he'll plop
Into a chair and then he'll drop
His shoes, socks, wallet, car keys, comb.

The floor's his closet when he's home.
If I should pick up and deposit
Stuff in drawer and in closet, He'll yell (I know, because I've tried it),
"Come on, honey, where'd you hide
it?"

Reynolds Wrap is strong all over. Count on it.

Have a delicious picnic. And count on the special strength of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap to work for you. Count on it for its special tear-resistance. Count on it to cook in, with no messy pots and pans to clean. Count on it to make picnics easier and more fun.

- 1. First things first.
Always line your grill with Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap, and build your fire right on the foil. It reflects the heat evenly over the entire surface of the grill. And no messy clean up. Just bundle up the dead coals in the foil, and place in trash can.
- 2. Baked Trout.
Scale and clean fish, removing head. A one lb. fish can be cooked whole, and serve one person. Cut larger fish into individual portions. Place a slice of bacon on a square of extra-strong Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Place fish on bacon. Add sliced onion, a slice of lemon, salt, pepper, paprika and a pat of butter. Bring foil up over fish. Seal tight over top with double fold. Seal ends. Place packets on grill 4" over hot grey coals. Cook about 20 minutes, turning once.
- 3. Grilled Corn-on-the-Cob.
Strip off outer layers of husks, remove silk. Dip corn in cold water. Wrap tightly with double fold in Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Cook on grill about 20 minutes, turning occasionally.
- 4. Honey-Glazed Ham Steak.
Mix ¼ cup prepared mustard with 1 tablespoon honey. Spread mixture on both sides of a 2 lb. ham steak, about 1" thick. Place ham on large sheet of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. (The foil that cooks beautifully over the high heat.) Top with 3 slices canned pineapple and mandarin oranges. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon sliced orange rind. Seal foil tightly. Cook on grill 4" over hot grey coals about 40 minutes, turning every 10 minutes. Serves 4.
- 5. The Cooler Cooler.
Cover the ice in your picnic cooler with a sheet of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Ice will last much longer.
- 6. Salad Crisper.
Cover bowls of salad with Reynolds Wrap. The foil reflects the heat so salads stay fresher, crisp and cool.

Wherever you go, whatever you do, we hope you'll count on Reynolds Wrap to help you have a happy summer.

Bud Davis Speaks Out!

The Farm Program

RUPERT — Democratic senatorial candidate William E. (Bud) Davis Thursday called for a national bi-partisan effort to revive agriculture from a situation that is "reminiscent of 1933—the depths of the nation's worst economic crisis."

Davis said farm prices hover at 70 percent parity, nearly the same as 38 years ago.

"The principle difference between the great depression days and now," Davis told a Rupert gathering, "is that in 1933 there was a national administration initiating new programs to raise farm prices."

He said the Nixon administration claims parity is no longer a valid gauge of farm income. But, said Davis, most farmers and ranchers feel that parity index is "an excellent yardstick of their well-being. Whenever a ratio of prices to costs fails to reflect on the income of farmers, we will be living in a new kind of economic system."

BUD DAVIS SAYS: "A bomb from a B52 costs $25,000. This is the cost of a small home for an Idaho family. We're dropping them by the thousands in Vietnam. Think what we could do if the war and bombing was stopped."

Against Abortion

ST. MARIES — Democratic senatorial candidate William E. (Bud) Davis said Saturday he was opposed to abortion on demand.

Touring Benewah and Kootenai counties amid a caravan of supporters, Davis labeled the attitudes and legislation regarding the legalization of abortion on demand as "basic to one's philosophy on life itself."

Davis said he believed that more than one life was involved in such a decision and that he was opposed to abortion available as a form of birth control.

He said the basic question involved was the right of the unborn child.

BUD DAVIS SAYS: "Amnesty for deserters and draft dodgers is a problem to be settled after peace comes in Vietnam. I oppose blanket amnesty for those who refused to serve their country."

His Farm Advisers

A 12-man agricultural advisory committee has been appointed by Democratic senatorial candidate William E. (Bud) Davis of Pocatello.

Named to the group were Carol Youngstrom, Boise, former director of the University of Idaho Extension Service; State Rep. Marvin Whitman, Coldspring, cattleman; chairman Earl Hoopes, Rexburg, wheat rancher; Joe Nettleton, Nampa, cattleman; Wilber Wilson, Hammett, wool grower; and Charles Hendricks, Burley, seed man.

Also named were George L. Yost, Emmett, fruit grower; Tom Strosheim, Sterling, sheep grower and a member of the Idaho Sheep Commission; Lewis Hargis, Ashton, wheat rancher; Ralph Cutler, Payette, cattleman; Del Ray Holm, Roberts, potato grower; and Clarence A. Parr, Burley, potato grower.

BUD DAVIS SAYS: "I oppose the legalization of marijuana because it leads to the use of hard drugs. The drug problem can best be solved by a program of education starting in the elementary schools to let the young people know the danger and heartache of addiction."

The People Program

POCATELLO — Democratic senatorial candidate William E. (Bud) Davis told an opening-night crowd at his southeastern Idaho campaign headquarters in Pocatello Monday night that more than half the members of Congress and 60 per cent of the state legislatures consisted of lawyers.

"Perhaps it is time," said Davis, "that we broaden the scope and background of experience in our legislative halls to include more men and women who are oriented toward programs that serve people, programs that can change lives for the better through improving our farm and educational programs, our benefits to veterans, our care for the elderly and work for the unemployed."

Davis, a life-long educator and currently on leave as president of Idaho State University in Pocatello, said that such needs "cry out for leadership and that one should never substitute law for leadership."

Noting that all of his Democratic primary opponents were from Boise, Davis said he was accused by one of them last week in an eastern Idaho television interview as being a "provincial" candidate.

"So I asked a Fremont County farmer what a provincial candidate was," said Davis. "And he told me that meant the candidate was not a Boise lawyer."

On Vocational Education

The "snob appeal" of the academic degree often has overshadowed the dignity of technical training, claimed Dr. William E. (Bud) Davis, president of Idaho State University, currently on leave to run for United States Senate in Idaho's Democratic primary.

Davis says that "for too long vocational education has been the step-child of higher education."

"The educated man has respect for the dignity of an honest endeavor whether it be philosophy or plumbing," said Davis, his own Pocatello institution has been nationally recognized as a leader in equal-status treatment of academic and vocational areas on the same campus.

Davis said the "snob appeal" attitude could be explained by writer John Steinbeck's analysis that "only second-raters are stuffy, and only the uncertain are snobs."

On Protest

IDAHO FALLS — Democratic senatorial candidate William E. (Bud) Davis, participating in Independence Day celebrations in four eastern Idaho communities, said Tuesday that although dissent was right and proper it was "foolish to think the more dissent the better."

Speaking to crowds at Idaho Falls, Blackfoot, Pocatello and Lava Hot Springs, Davis said "just because a cause is righteous it does not justify unrighteous methods."

"Only ends justify means, but they do not justify any means," said Davis.

He said Americans must find confidence and trust in one another. "Sometimes we have to extend this trust knowing that an element of risk is involved. But that is what built this country—risk and trust—hand in hand."

"The youth want to be loyal; they want to be patriotic; they want to respect the flag," he said. "But most of all they want to be proud of all American representatives and to serve it in meaningful ways."

"It is up to us to find the ways to apply old values to new priorities in our national life," he said adding that America's cause should be a crusade of confidence in one another rather than a crusade of suspicion.

On Spiraling Taxes

LEWISTON — Democratic senatorial candidate William E. (Bud) Davis said Wednesday in Lewiston a revolt is near.

"The impending taxpayer revolt is coming not only from ever-spiraling taxes but also from what the average wage-earner regards as inefficient management and use of his money," said Davis, campaigning in Nez Perce County.

He said it was time government officials on city, county state and federal levels feel what loggers refer to as the "bite of the line. When the line snaps tight between the horse and the log, the logger's calculations had better be right."

"One of my strongest qualifications for office is my background and record of efficiency in managing state and federal funds as president of Idaho State University," he said. "I believe the ability to stretch the dollar as far as possible is essential in either personnel management or construction and I have practiced this philosophy as the head of a $15 million a year enterprise."

Davis said accountability on all levels of management and worker productivity are essential in all government agencies if we are to eliminate needless waste and motion in service.

"More money is never the answer to more efficient management if what we now spend is not forthcoming," he said.

On Military Spending

BOISE — Democratic senatorial candidate William E. (Bud) Davis Wednesday called for an end to the war in Vietnam and a shift from a military industrial complex to a "people-industrial complex."

Speaking to an Ada County Central Committee picnic, Davis also said he was "very surprised" at attacks made on presidential candidate Sen. George McGovern's proposals to cut back defense spending.

"I recall a speech President Eisenhower made 20 years ago in which he commented that every gun made and every warship constructed is a theft from the hungry who are not fed and from the naked who are not clothed," said Davis. "I think it is time that we began to think of peace and shift our priorities to a new day of domestic progress."

Davis said for every jet fighter built today five new high schools could be constructed and the cost of 10 of the fighter aircraft could equal the yearly budget of the state of Idaho.

"It is not unrealistic to believe that we can cut back in some areas of defense spending and still have a very strong military defense force," Davis said.

The Idaho State University president proposed shifting the tax system for financing education to take the burden off the property tax which he termed "inequitable to the average taxpayer."

"Education is in dire straits," said Davis, "as an educator I have seen in the past few years students graduating and not getting jobs and the cost of education spiral to the point where people are unwilling to support it any further."

Davis called for a system which would divide funding of education equally among state, local and federal government.

"I don't think this would be any sort of program that would allow the federal government to control the schools, it would just provide for fairer funding of schools and better education for everyone."

He said every child, whomever he is and wherever he lives should have an equal opportunity for a quality education, thus eliminating a need for unpopular attempts at remedies such as busing.

On the Teton Dam

REXBURG — Senatorial candidate William E. (Bud) Davis said in Rexburg today that he alone of the four Democrats running for the nomination supports completion of the Teton Dam project.

He said he was tired of former government officials being "lambasted for decisions and projects approved in the past. They were no less honorable or responsible than are aspirants for office today."

Davis said that in most cases their decisions and philosophy reflected accurately the prevailing opinions of their time. But recently, he said, it has become good sport to flay all past decisions on dam construction as being detrimental to the people of the state.

"But those farmers who experienced first-hand the ravages of flood and privations of drought, those who sought to turn a desert into an extended oasis, saw the value of controlling a river at its headwaters and regulating the flow of streams. Water rights and usage often meant the difference between feast and famine, survival or starvation. And in the early days of this region, emotions ran so high that more men were killed over stealing water than stealing horses. Some say even wives."

Davis said that when the Teton project was first proposed in the 1950's, people in the Upper Snake region saw it as a logical step toward economical improvement of an area almost totally dependent upon its agricultural resources.

But, he said, as the planning for this dam reached its final stages, there has been in our state and nation a new public mood emerging and asserting itself. "This is the awareness and concern for maintaining the quality of our environment as near as possible to its natural state."

"Study of unnecessary construction of multiple dams on such rivers as the Colorado, the long range evaluation of their impact on wildlife, the aesthetic and recreation value weighed against short-term financial gain have now become part of new decisions on now dams. And most candidates seeking office reflect this mood."

Davis said he was strongly opposed to seeing the Snake River turned into a series of stepping stones of stagnant ponds.

"Upon completion of projects presently underway, I am opposed to further construction of dams. I also support proposed national rivers legislation or similar control through the state to protect the slopes and areas adjacent to our scenic rivers from exploitation and degradation."

Davis emphasized, though, that any legislation of this type must clearly and specifically protect the rights of upstream water users.

On GI Benefits

POCATELLO — Democratic senatorial candidate William E. (Bud) Davis Monday criticized the present veteran benefits program, charging that benefits given to Vietnam veterans "aren't even as good as those received by World War II veterans."

Davis called for a readjustment of benefits allowed under the GI Bill. He said present benefits are not enough to pay for today's cost of an education or job training.

"Today's veterans are expected to pay for tuition, books and all other educational fees out of a small monthly allowance," he said. "This makes it almost impossible for a veteran, especially one with a family, to get through school and receive the kind of a job he wants."

Davis said one of the nation's top priorities should be to see that veterans returning from Southeast Asia are afforded sufficient benefits to educate themselves and find a meaningful place in society.

Bud Davis . . . a new face in Idaho Politics!

Now in his seventh year as President of Idaho State University, William E. "Bud" Davis has demonstrated those qualities of leadership that qualify him for high office. He has proved that he can draw people together for common goals; that he can administer a complex organization through delegation of responsibility and accountability; and that he can capably oversee the fiscal management of a multi-million dollar enterprise. He has met crises with firmness and fairness. He has been accessible and responsive to students, parents, faculty, lawmakers, and the people of Idaho. Respect for his credibility and honesty is wide-spread and so is his reputation for getting a job done.

A Westerner by choice, Davis was born in Kansas, but obtained most of his education in Colorado. A graduate of Loveland, Colorado, High School, he holds Bachelor of Science and Doctor of Education degrees from the University of Colorado and a Master of Arts degree from Northern Colorado University.

A VARSITY football player and student body president at Colorado, he became a high school English teacher and athletic coach in 1954 after three years in Japan, Korea, and the United States as a Marine Corps lieutenant. He coached his track team at Loveland High School and his football team at Greeley High School to state championships.

Moving into higher education in 1960, he served the University of Colorado first as Alumni Director, then for a season as interim head football coach, and later as Dean of Men. Before his appointment as ISU President in 1965, he was a professor and assistant to the president for student affairs at the University of Wyoming.

His wife is the former Polly Peterson, a Loveland native and a graduate of the University of Colorado. They have five children—Bonnie and Brooke, two-year old identical twins; Doug, a fifth grader; Becky, who attends Poly High, and Debbie, a student at the University of Idaho.

Enrollment has doubled at ISU during Davis's seven years as President, with 90 percent of the 8,000-plus students coming from Idaho.

BELIEVING in efficient management and getting the most from the tax dollar, ISU's 16-million dollars in new construction has among the lowest cost per square footage in the country. Erection of the Internationally famous Minidome (at no cost to the taxpayer), is another example of a functional and economic use of construction.

Academic programs have been broadened and expanded, including the establishment of a graduate school and doctoral program.

The Vocational-Technical School has developed into one of the finest in the United States. Davis continually stresses the concept that there should be no second-class citizens, that there should be mutual respect for worthy individuals between all men and for all work.

Davis's career demonstrates that he carries the responsibility and dignity of office with distinction, yet retains that personal interest in the individual and his programs. He shares John Steinbeck's belief that only the second-rates are stuffy and only the uncertain are snobs. His ability to laugh at himself is apparent in his speeches and writing. His is a common sense, grassroots, people-oriented approach to problems and decision making.

HIS VARIED experience in leadership roles have many parallels in political life, and while Davis believes that being a college president doesn't necessarily qualify a person for public office—neither should it disqualify someone if that be the choice of the people.

The people's choice—a well-oiled political phrase—still best expresses the will of the responsible citizen who cares enough to see that we get the right man in all branches of government. Davis wants to be the people's choice.
